U. S. Denies Japan's Charge on Note

Today

Deep Snow, Eggs 15 Cents.
The Old Age of Women.
Who Made the Revolution?
Whence Shall Money Come?

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

HODGE, Cal., Feb. 18.

LIKE THE REST of the world, this coast has really "unusual" weather. California's flying Governor, Rolph, who never walks or drives when he can fly, was forced down at Bakersfield on his way from San Francisco to Los Angeles, and finished the journey, following behind a snow plow, over the high Cajon Pass that leads down to the orange groves.

THIS WRITER, coming eastward through that pass Tuesday night, appreciated the 150-horsepower of a 12-cylinder Lincoln car turning out through drifts four feet high, giving way to weaker cars, and climbing through a snow-clogged gully for several miles, over improvised bridges, to avoid a "slide" on the main road.

Andrew Macrery, son of the late Magistrate Macrery, of New York, who had just finished a four-day run across the continent, drove the 12-cylinder car, and with his bumper pushed one of the smaller cars up the worst hill on the detour.

INNOCENT EASTERNERS were amazed to learn that they could not buy a pair of rubbers in San Bernardino, a city of 40,000. Only one pair of non-skid chains was left in the city. Such things are curiosities here.

Curious, also, are the exhortations and warnings that decorate the cars of automobilists in these regions. One touring car, with no top, hopelessly stalled in the snow, bore the disconcerting legend:

"Where will you spend eternity?"

Many bungalow owners erect billboards with Bible quotations intended to make you reform. You see also:

"Large fresh eggs, 15 a dozen, four broilers for $1."

That sign would interest eastern housekeepers.

A YOUNG AUTHORESS says "women live too long" and writes a book to prove it. Some women, unhappily, do live too long, when they outlive the gratitude of children, forgetful of a debt that never can be paid. But the later years OUGHT to be the best in a woman's life, the happiest and, apart from creating the race, the most useful.

LIFE INSURANCE experts tell you that a woman's life probabilities are better than a man's after the child-bearing period. Providence would not have given more of old age to woman than to man, if these later years had not been intended for useful happiness.

Women past middle age find happiness in guiding and encouraging those that are younger, in setting a good example, and in studying the strange vanity of man, whose conceit outlives his years.

What man will deny that there are one hundred conceited old men for one conceited old woman?

CUTTING DOWN immigration even more severely is urged in Congress. Mrs. F. U. Hobart, head of the Daughters of the American Revolution, says:

"Our children are rubbing shoulders with children of those who are bringing a bad influence into this country."

A terrible thought, but whence came the FATHERS of the American Revolution? Were they red Indians, or were they the immigrants from Europe?

SECRETARY MILLS, Mr. Mellon's able successor, is overwhelmed with tax suggestions from Congressmen and others. The problem is this:

From whose pocket shall Uncle Sam take money that he must have?

Each suggestion annoys someone, threatens some interest, business or industry. To tax automobiles means damage to an industry that employs millions.

A gasoline tax means more trouble for those that have enough. A tax on moving pictures would be kicking an industry when it is down.

THE BEST TAX, wisest and fairest perhaps, would be a tax on all sales, so small as not to be felt by anyone, but highly productive.

This would come AFTER the usual taxes on big individual and corporation incomes. Those incomes cannot be saddled with the whole load, without danger of making the depression infinitely worse.

RETAIL TRADE and business generally oppose the sales tax, which is natural, but what would they substitute? Prof. Seligman, learned economist, says a tax on light beer would yield more than a billion dollars a year and harm nobody. But prohibitionists will not allow that, for the present.

A MOTHER CAT is proud when her kitten catches a mouse. The late William J. Bryan was proud, if he looked down recently and heard his son, William Jennings Bryan, Jr., arguing for silver at sixteen to one in Denver.

Mr. Bryan told his sympathetic audience, which included silver miners, that all the monetary gold on earth amounts to eleven billions, while there are seven hundred and fifty billions of existing obligations payable in gold, and the annual business of the world amounts to five hundred billions. Mr. Bryan thinks we need silver, to help out.

But, the total amount of silver produced in the last three hundred years amounts to only ten billions at present values, so that gold and silver combined might not be enough.

WIDER RATE STUDY ASKED BY PHILLIPS

Head of Philadelphia Co. Proposes Municipalities, Companies Get Together

Frank R. Phillips, president of the Philadelphia Company, today suggested that a committee representing municipalities and civic organizations seeking public utility rate reductions be formed for "round table" conferences with representatives of the Pittsburgh district utility firms.

His suggestion was incorporated in a prepared statement, which he read to City Council this afternoon in a semi-public conference between that group and utility representatives.

Phillips' attitude was regarded by Council as indicating that the utilities were willing to consider voluntary rate reductions, which have been advocated by the city, its adjacent municipalities and civic organizations.

WARNS COUNCIL

Phillips warned Council that the filing of a rate case before the Public Service Commission would mean termination of the proposed conference plan. Speaking of the committee conference idea, he said:

"It is more likely that a mutually beneficial result may be obtained in this way. We are ready to take part in such a conference, if and when such a committee is formed."

This afternoon's Council session was attended by representatives of the Duquesne Light Company, the Equitable Gas Company, the Pittsburgh Railways Company and the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company.

ATTITUDE SOUGHT

All were to be qutstioned as to their attitude on voluntary rate reductions, a move which Council has indicated will eliminate the need for costly litigation be-

Rain and warmer is forecast for tomorrow.

CHARLES A. LEVINE (LEFT) .... ARRESTED IN A HOSPITAL

Flier Levine, Chamberlin's ocean-flying companion four years ago and a Pittsburgher, arrested in New York following an anonymous telephone tip to police. It was for an old stock theft case.

SLEUTHS FIND LEVINE HURT

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—(AP.)—Charles A. Levine, whose checkered career has cast him in swiftly changing roles since his spectacular flight to Europe with Clarence Chamberlin four years ago, bobbed out of mysterious silence yesterday, with a broken leg, an alias and arrest for grand larceny.

He was discovered after an anonymous telephone call to the District Attorney's office tipped officials they would be "interested" to learn the real identity of a man registered at the Harbor Sanitarium as Charles Jaffee.

Detectives hurried to the hospital, recognized Levine and arrested him in connection with the theft of $22,000 worth of American Telephone and Telegraph stock believed to have been in his possession.

He has been missing since December, 1930, when he failed to answered a subpena to be questioned in the stock theft case.

SIFT TAX PAPERS OF SUICIDE

A safe containing accounts of L. R. Mechling, Wilkinsburg politician and deputy County Delinquent Tax Collector, who ended his life Tuesday night, will be opened next Monday, John Brown, Jr., Delinquent Tax Collector, said today.

Mechling had the 1929 delinquent tax books for Wilkinsburg, Brown said, and had not completed his report as to collections. Monday night a representative of Main & Compaany engaged in an audit of the county offices went to Mechling's home and asked for the books. They were locked in a safe in Mechling's office, according to Brown.

HANGS HIMSELF

Brown asserted:

"We will open the safe Monday in the presence of representatives of the bonding company. Mr. Mechling was bonded for $60,000, which is in

Texan's Shots Put Clark In Panic

Public Safety Director James M. Clark, leaped from his chair, he said today, when "Texas Jack" Sullivan, crack pistol shot and jiu jitsu expert unexpectedly discharged two blank cartridges in a demonstration in Clark's office.

Other police officials around the table jumped up, thinking a bomb had exploded, Clark said. After it was all over Sullivan was given permission to visit police stations and give the men instructions in self defense.

Schwab, at 70, 'Retires' —Except From Big Jobs

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—(AP.)—Charles M. Schwab, dean of the steel industry, reached his three score years and ten today, hale, hearty and happy.

Receiving reporters in the board room of Bethlehem Steel Corporation, of which he is chairman, Mr. Schwab announced he had retired from all his financial directorates with the exception of Chase National Bank, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company and Bethlehem. He chuckled:

"I'll never retire from Bethlehem unless they kick me out."

Mr. Schwab, who is noted in business and financial circles as a confirmed optimist, ventured no prediction as to when the back of the depression might be broken. He did say, however, that he could see no reason why this country is to go backward, adding:

"I know that normal consumption in the future will be well above what it is today. These times may teach us lessons which will be to the ultimate good of us all."

At luncheon today, he entertained the survivors of the 52 men who were Andrew Carnegie's partners in the steel business. There was only a handful of them.

Mr. Schwab had expected his 91-year-old mother would come from her home in Loretto, Pa., for the birthday, but she did not make the trip because of the long automobile ride.

COURTHOUSE GUARDED FOR 'RED' TRIALS

Detectives Patrol Corridors, Spectators Barred From 1 Room; 3 Face Juries

While nearly a score of county detectives patroled the Courthouse to prevent a possible demonstration by sympathizers, three alleged Communists were placed on trial in adjoining Criminal Court rooms today, charged with inciting to riot.

Visiting Judge W. A. McConnell, of Beaver county, began hearing the case against Fred Bell, New Kensington Communist, after Presiding Judge Elder W. Marshall barred everyone from the courtroom except witnesses and newspapermen, and ordered detectives to guard doors and keep the corridor crowd movin-

Unheralded, the trial of Fred Carino, 38, also known as Kearns, of Stevenson street, and George Brown, 26, Negro, of Wylie avenue, was called before Visiting Judge Robert S. Lewis, of Monroe County, former secretary of the commonwealth. Brown pleaded guilty to riot and felonious assault and battery. Kearns went on trial on a charge of riot growing out of an alleged Communist demonstration in Wylie avenue last June in which Deputy Sheriff John P. McVey suffered a fractured jaw.

WARNED OF OUTBURST

District Attorney A. T. Park said he had learned Communists would attempt a demonstration and had notified Judge Marshall.

Bell acted as his own attorney in the selection of the jury of four women and eight men. He asked each prospective juror:

"Have you any prejudice against members of the Communist party?"

One replied that he had and was excused.

ARRESTED AT WORKHOUSE

Bell was arrested November 25, the commonwealth alleges, when a group of New Kensington Communists en route to a gathering in West Park, North Side, halted at the county workhouse for a demonstration, because Thomas Myerscough, Communist, was serving a two-year sentence in the institution as result of the fatal Wildwood mine riot last summer. He was making a speech against the orders of the county detectives, it was charged.

Judge McConnell adjourned court for the noon recess a few minutes before 12 o'clock. Judge Lewis ordered recess in his court at 12:30. These steps were taken to enable county detectives to escort both juries from the courthouse.

As the jurors left Judge McConnell's courtroom he issued strict orders that if they were molested in any way to report to him immediately.

On Probation

PAULINE URRICH, 15

JUDGE SOFFEL FREES GIRL RED

Fifteen-year-old Pauline Urrich arrested for inciting to riot at an unemployment demonstration in McKeesport February 4, today heard Judge Sara M. Soffel uphold her right to free speech and compliment her for her intelligence. Following a hearing in Juvenile Court, Judge Soffel told the girl she was sending her home on probation.

The girl asked:

"Does that mean that I cannot speak anymore?"

The court assured her:

"You can speak whenever you assume to, just so long as it is in accordance with community laws and ordinances."

Before placing the girl on probation, Judge Soffel said:

"I cannot see that this unemployment meeting, on the surface, was different from that unemployment meeting held recently by Father Cox. I think that these people were entitled to hold their meeting, but they should have gone about it legally and secured a permit."

Barthelmess, Screen Star, Describes Chinese War

Editor's Note—Richard Barthelmess, American movie star, got an eye-full of Shanghai today on a tour conducted by American Marines. He has written the following exclusive story for International News Service.

By RICHARD BARTHELMESS

SHANGHAI, Feb. 18.—(INS.)—As the S. S. Empress of Japan approached the Woosung forts this morning I was just a little bit frightened as to how I might feel in the Shanghai war area.

Now that I have been past the shell-scarred forts, stopped behind sandbags with United States Marines, and peeped through blockhouse loopholes with the light-horse troops of Shanghai volunteers, I find it hard to realize it was real and not part of a motion picture.

Those dead Chinese soldiers who have been stretched out in front of the volunteers' lines for 12 days looked exactly like the dummies we use back on our Hollywood sets.

Having seen it all, instead of having been frightened, I find myself astounded that in one day I could have been so close to actual war and then sail down the river by those same forts on a comfortable boat.

It is as though I had done a day's work on a picture, rather than been in the midst of a real war where bullets and shells were mowing men down within sight.

Then I returned to ponder over the map with my friend Floyd Gibbons, in his room, which looked just the way I imagined a war correspondent's room should be.

Heavy red and blue slashes over many maps on the walls, indicating the Chinese and Japanese trenches, three typewriters all in use at the same time making a noise worse than the machine-gun rattle I heard a short while earlier on the lines, two telephones ringing in discord, and Gibbons himself in breeches, riding boots and khaki shirt open at the throat—this is what I saw.

GIBBONS WAITS 'PUSH' AS PEACE EFFORTS COLLAPSE

WARNING BY AMERICA

Will Hold Japs, Chinese Responsible for Loss To U. S. Citizens

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—(AP.)—The State Department made an emphatic denial today of the statement made by the Tokio foreign office that the United States had a hand in framing the note to Japan which was delivered yesterday by the Council of the League of Nations.

It was said the United States had no knowledge whatever of the framing of the note and did not know that the note was to be delivered.

TOKIO'S CHARGE

A Tokio spokesman had said that the first draft of the note had emanated from American sources.

Meanwhile, it became known that both China and Japan have been advised by the State Department that both combatants at Shanghai would probably be held responsible for any damages caused by fighting there.

About two weeks ago American officials at Shanghai communicated both with the Japanese and Chinese officials there, and made it clear that the United States would hold both the fighting powers responsible in case American interests and American lives suffer.

Since that time there have been numerous informal conversations on the subject and many of the European powers have also joined in the discussions in Washington as well as in Shanghai.

Britain to Demand Damages in Killings

LONDON, Feb. 18.—(INS.)—Sir Miles Lampson, British minister to China, has handed a note to the Chinese government, announcing Great Britain will hold both sides responsible for the loss of life and property in the Shanghai hostilities, the foreign office announced today.

The note was delivered after the death of two British sailors at Shanghai, who were wounded presumably by Chinese shells.

Vatican Employes Quizzed on Bombs

ROME, Feb. 18.—(AP.)—Police were investigating today to determine whether the bomb discovered Saturday in St. Peter's Cathedral could have been placed there by anyone employed at the Vatican.

Twenty suspected Communists, among them several Vatican employes, were arrested a week ago near Rome, and six bombs, similar to the one found in St. Peter's, were discovered in their possession.

ULTIMATUM TO CHINA

Headline Hunter's Story Of How Defenders Meet Threat

By FLOYD GIBBONS

Famous War Correspondent and Headline Hunter of the Radio.

International News Service.

(Copyright, 1932, by International News Service.)

SHANGHAI, Feb. 18.—Hello, everybody!

Peace overtures have failed.

Japan has delivered her ultimatum.

Shanghai's war will resume at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon unless:

First, Chinese armed forces withdraw a distance of 20 kilometers north, east and west of the International Settlement and the French concession.

Second, the Chinese agree to permanent razing of the Woosung forts near Shanghai and the Lion fort at Nanking.

These are the developments and conditions officially reported tonight to Admiral Montgomery M. Taylor, commander of United States forces in Shanghai.

Shanghai's Chinese mayor, Wu Te-Chen, who received the ultimatum from the hands of the chief of staff of the Japanese Ninth division, threw his hands in the air upon receipt of it and exclaimed:

"Never, never. These demands are more infamous than Japan's attempted robbery at Versailles.

"The Chinese army will resist to the last man. We will fight her on our soil among the sacred graves of our ancestors."

It was at 9:45 p. m. that Mayor Wu received the ultimatum. I was in his presence a moment later and saw the look of anguish that crossed his face as he announced the demands were unacceptable and that hostilities must continue.

DEMANDS SCORED

Mayor Wu exclaimed:

"Japan orders China to remove its army from our greatest commercial city and destroy the defenses of the capital of our nation. It is the same as handing a man a pistol and politely asking him to commit suicide.

"Imagine a foreign invader commanding withdrawal of the American Army and Navy from New York harbor.

"Imagine an enemy in your midst commanding you to reduce the defenses of your national capital at Washington.

"Would America accept such terms and obey such outrageous commands?

"Of course not. Neither will China."

JAPANESE VERSION

The Japanese version of the ultimatum differed in some respects from the Chinese. The Japanese version stated that in the event of Chinese withdrawal, Nipponese troops would not advance, bombard or pursue the retreating forces.

In addition, the Japanese version called upon the Chinese to cease all anti-Japanese activety and provided for creation of an investigation commission to ascertain whether the Chinese have lived up to the letter of the ultimatum.

HOOVER REORGANIZATION PLAN SCORED AS EXTRAVAGANCE

BYRNS ASSERTS HOUSE HAS PROGRAM

Declares Democrats Under Garner Will Effect 'Real Economy' in Government

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—A violent attack upon President Hoover's reorganization and economy program was started on the floor of the House today by Representative Joseph Byrns (Dem.), of Tennessee, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, thus shattering the political truce between the Chief Executive and the Democratic-controlled House.

Byrns said the administration was responsible for the enormous Treasury deficit. He questioned the motives of the President's special message to Congress yesterday on reorganization of government bureaus and charged Mr. Hoover with being "the most extravagant chief executive the United States has had in peace time."

RIDICULE CLAIMS

His speech followed interviews in which Speaker John N. Garner and Democratic Leader Rainey ridiculed Mr. Hoover's message and declared that instead of urging enonomy the President suggested creation of new offices. Garner said:

"The President wants a lot of new offices and what we want to do is to get rid of some of them. We have been working to this end, and instead of offering helpful suggestions, the President asks for more offices."

Rainey asserted:

"I don't think Congress will pay any attention to the message. It offers no hope of constructive reorganization and abolition of useless bureaus."

'HASTILY PREPARED'

Byrns told the House:

"The President's message evidently was hastily prepared. I wonder if it were not in response to a rumor that under the wise leadership of the Speaker this House was proceeding to effect real economy by abolishing useless bureaus of the government. I am led to this conclusion."

Byrns noted that Mr. Hoover had been in office for three years "and had just realized that there is such a thing as an overburdened taxpayer."

SCORES 'FEAR' OF BANKERS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Joining in the attack upon American bankers held by "fear," Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, today urged the Senate to pass the emergency credit expansion bill and denied that it was a "Hoover Bill." Robinson said:

"Democrats in both houses of Congress have cooperated with the President and his party associates in the preparation and passage of so-called emergency measures.

"The Glass-Steagall bill is not an Administration measure in the true sense. It was not suggested by the Administration, and its principles were actually opposed by the governor of the Federal Reserve Board and the Secretary of the Treasury until quite recently."

Bribery Charged In Vote Device Job

O'Brien is accused by Richard J. Beamish, secretary of the commonwealth, of offering him $20,000, if he would give the Shoup Voting Machine Company of Philadelphia a contract for 800 machines to be used in that city.

excess of any sum he may have been charged with collecting."

District Attorney Andrew T. Park today announced an information charging embezzlement would be made against Michael Friel, deputy delinquent tax collector of Harrison Township, as a result of auditors uncovering an alleged shortage of $8,612.34.

CONFERS WITH AUDITOR

The announcement followed a conference of Assistant Prosecutor H. R. Phillips and M. C. Conick, auditor for Main & Co. Friel was an employe of former Tax Collector Walter J. Christy. This action follows closely the indictment of Harry B. Bunting, former chief clerk in the delinquent tax office on charges of embezzling $18,000.

Friel was bonded for $21,000, Collector Brown stated. Accounts of 67 deputy delinquent tax collectors will be examined by auditors.

Brown Sees Ohio Going for Hoover

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 18.—(INS.)—Postmaster General Walter F. Brown, peering into the political future today, read signs of another Ohio victory for President Hoover next November. The manager of the Hoover pre-primary campaign would not predict, however, that the President will carry the state by such a landslide as was rolled up in 1928. He declared that any such speculation would be "premature."

BUILDER LAUDS HOME LOAN BILL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—(AP.)—A "permanent" aid to real estate and home owners through savings on mortgages and the building of "millions" of homes was seen today by E. A. MacDougall, New York builder, in the administration's home loan bank bill.

He told a Senate committee it would provide a steady flow of mortgage money, standardize and help the building industry out of the "most serious situation" ever to confront it. Some $800,000,000 has been lost in the last 10 years through the sale of mortgage securities, he said, and in his view short term mortgages are a "detriment to home owners."

He suggested mortgages to run at least 10 years, preferably 15.

Confluence Mill Swept by Flames

CONFLUENCE, Pa., Feb. 18.—After a three-hour battle, firemen checked flames that swept the plant of the Confluence Planing Mill Company, causing loss estimated at $25,000. The Beggs print shop and Williams' Garage were slightly damaged. Six Baltimore & Ohio Railroad cars on the mill siding were destroyed.

WAGE CUT QUIZ ASKED IN HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—(AP.)—Charging that wages had been cut far below the reduced living costs, Chairman Connery today asked the House Rules Committee for authority for the Labor Committee to investigate wage cuts effected by big industries.

The Massachusetts Democrat supported the resolution presented by Representative Condon (Dem.), of Rhode Island, asking authority for the Labor Committee to make the investigation, particularly those industries assisted directly and indirectly by the tariff and other federal legislation.

Connery charged that wages had been cut 40 per cent since 1929 and that the Labor Department reported a reduction of only 25 per cent in living costs since 1925.

DE VALERA LEADS IN IRISH VOTE

DUBLIN, Feb. 18.—(INS.)—Eamon De Valera, running on a platform calling for complete severance of the Irish Free State from England, this afternoon was leading President William T. Cosgrave in their closely contested race in the general election.

De Valera's party, the Fianna Fail, had won 23 seats in the Dail Ereann. The government party won 13 and the independents, who are expected to vote with President Cosgrave, six. Laborites had won two seats and the Farmers' party two.

that the lives and property of Japanese residents would be safeguarded and all activities by plainclothesmen curbed.

American civilians residing in the danger zone of the International Settlement adjacent to Chapei and in the country along the route by which the Japanese threaten to force the Chinese back will be warned to evacuate their homes and offices and move to safer places, if there are any within the Settlement.

There were occasional bursts of artillery fire tonight and some fires were burning in the Chapei district and near Woosung.

8 Japanese Shells Drop In Marine Sector

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—(INS.)—Eight high explosive shells from Japanese 75s located on the Hongkew rifle range fell in the American sector in Shanghai on the night of February 15, narrowly missing a number of United States Marines, Consul General Cunningham reported to the State Department today.

Upon communicating with Japanese headquarters, Cunningham said, he was told that the Japanese would correct their range.

Cunningham's report stated:

"Marines reported that eight 75 mm high explosive shells with time fuses from the Hongkew rifle range struck in the First Battalion area near Post No. 5. Two others exploded nearby and others struck in Suchow creek. One missed a Marine patrol by about 15 or 20 feet. Another missed a sentry squad by about 15 feet and all struck within 100 yards of two officers and 31 men. When Japanese headquarters were communicated with they said they would correct their range."

NEW MANCHURIA STATE FORMED

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Feb. 18.—(AP.)—The newly-formed executive committee of Northeastern Manchuria at noon today proclaimed the establishment of an independent Manchurian-Mongolian state.

Chinese leaders, with Japanese advisers, have been conferring here for several days, outlining the ground plan of the new state.

An elaborate dinner was given at the Yamato Hotel last night at which Gen. Shigeru Honjo, Japanese Manchurian commander, attended together with Gen. Mah Chan-Shan, his one-time foe at Tsitsihar last November.

Gen. Mah came to the dinner in spite of the fact that he was ill. He left for Tsitsihar by train early this morning, declining another airplane journey into the frigid Manchurian north. He came here for the conferences by airplane. At Tsitsihar he planned to assume the governorship of Heilungiang province.

EVANSTON, Ill., Feb. 18.—(AP.)—United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson suggested to Middle West police chiefs today that they establish inner systems of espionage to clean out the corrupt members of their departments.

LEAGUE STUDIES JAP CLAIMS

GENEVA, Feb. 18.—(INS.)—The juridicial committee, appointed by the League of Nations Council of 12 to study Japan's objections to the recent appeal for cessation of Shanghai hostilities, held a lengthy session today.

While the committee did not make public its findings, it was believed the Japanese objections were rejected.

Robert Olds, former United States Under-Secretary of State, and legal advisor to the Chinese delegation, had requested the committee to hear him in the event it decided the Japanese objections were valid. He was not called upon.

Striker, Wife Flee Incendiary Blaze

HARLAN, Ky., Feb. 18.—(AP.)—Pleas Thomas, 35, striking coal miner, and his wife awoke early today, barely in time to escape from their burning home, which had been the target of some 300 bullets Sunday midnight. Incendiaries were blamed for the fire.

Japanese Troops Appear in Armor

SHANGHAI, Feb. 18.—(AP.)—Like shades of King Arthur, a squad of Japanese soldiers appeared in Shanghai streets today clad in suits of light armor.

The armor was painted and completely covered their bodies from the waist up. It was topped by modern trench helmets, however, instead of the ancient toppieces of the days of Charles V.

Inquiry at Japanese headquarters brought the information that the armor was only for the use of soldiers at exposed sentry posts and that it would not come into general use.

The Main & Company representatives also recommended that the County Commissioners ask the County Solicitor to give an opinion on the legality of a settlement made of the accounts of Morris Klein, a delinquent tax collector in McKeesport. The company's report said that $2,936, paid on January 1, 1927, in settlement of 1921 collections by Klein, was not made, "as might bei nferred from records," but with erroneous or twice paid tax funds which had accrued in his hands.

Officials of the West Penn Power Company, Bell Telephone Company, South Pittsburgh Water Company and the Peoples Gas Company will be asked to attend a series of conferences at a later date, President John S. Herron of Council announced today.

By unanimous assent, all members of Council feel that the utilities organizations should reduce their excessive rates at once to fit in with general reduced living costs throughout the greater Pittsburgh district. Chairman W. Y. English, of the Councilmanic Finance Committee, suggested the conferences with the groups.

Rodgers, president of the Voters' League of Brentwood, will preside. The program is being arranged by the Forty-fifth Senatorial District committee of the association.

A second mass meeting next week is being arranged for Thursday night in Falcon Hall, Glenn avenue, Glendale, under auspices of the Scott Township Civic Association. Paul Franks, executive chairman of the Civic group, is arranging the program in cooperation with the state body.

BAN ON ARMS SOUGHT BY BERLIN

Geneva Envoy Demands All Equal Germany's Slash; Abolish Conscription

GENEVA, Feb. 18.—(AP.)—A set of drastic proposals, calling for disarmament by other nations on the same scale as Germany has had to disarm under the Versailles treaty, was proposed to the world disarmament conference today by Count Rudolf Nadolny, German spokesman.

Nadolny said:

"Germany is already disarmed, and German disarmament must be considered indicative of the direction the disarmament of all other members of the league must follow."

WOULD BAN CONSCRIPTION

The plan he presented provides:

1. Abolishment of general conscription and, where that is not possible, adequate allowance for trained reserves. Fixing the percentage of army officers at the lowest possible level and prohibition of the utilization of police forces, gendarmes or similar organizations for military purposes.

2. Prohibition of the use of heavy artillery outside of fortresses and limitation of the caliber of big guns in fortresses; prohibition of tanks and a ban on the erection of fortresses where, owing to their proximity to a frontier, they would constitute a direct menace to a neighboring country.

3. Limitation of fighting ships to a maximum size of 10,000 tons with a maximum gun caliber of 280 millimeters; prohibition of aircraft carriers and submarines, limitation of non-floating material; recruiting of naval personnel only by voluntary enlistment with a definite percentage fixed for the number of officers and warrant officers; maintenance of coast defense fortifications but prohibition of all fortifications controlling natural waterways.

AIR BRANCHES OPPOSED

4. Prohibition of all air armaments with the destruction of all air force material in commission or in reserve; cessation of participation by members of military forces in civil aviation; cessation of construction of armored aircraft or aircraft supplied with devices for warlike purposes, and prohibition of all relations between military administrations and civil aviation.

5. Prohibition of poison gases and bacteriological warfare, as well as preparation of these arms; prohibition of export and import of warlike armaments, ammunition and other war materials, with exceptions for countries having no armament industry; state regulation of private manufacture of war materials.

6. Budgetary reduction of armaments to be rejected and its place taken by frank and open interchange of information on armament expenditures.

7. Insurance of the execution of disarmament clauses by a system of supervision applicable equally to all countries.

PAINLEVE TAKES CABINET TASK

PARIS, Feb. 18.—(AP.)—Former Premier Paul Painleve, son of a baker, noted mathematician and one of France's most popular statesmen, today accepted an invitation from President Paul Doumer to form a cabinet to succeed that of Premier Pierre Laval, which resigned Tuesday.

One of M. Painleve's slogans is "no disarmament without security against invasion," so it was expected today that if he succeeded in the difficult mandate of forming a ministry there will be no change in the French disarmament program at Geneva.

He immediately began conversations with parliamentarians and planned to give his definite reply to President Doumer tonight.

M. Painleve indicated he would like to see Andre Tardieu, war minister in Premier Laval's cabinet, become foreign minister in the new ministry so he could continue his activities at the disarmament conference with authority.

It was understood that M. Tardieu was insisting his old pupil, M. Laval, also be included in the new cabinet.

White Princess to Adopt Moslem Faith in Air

LONDON, Feb. 18.—(Universal)—Aboard an airplane in midair between London and Paris, Princess Dayong Mudah, of Sarawak, British wife of the only white Christian ruler in India, today was to adopt the faith of Mohammed.

The princess, daughter of Sir Walter Palmer, millionaire biscuit manufacturer, explained:

"I have chosen the air for my conversion because I wished the ceremony to be performed on no earthly territory."

After the ceremony the princess, or maharanee, will become custodian of the 1,300-year-old tunic worn by Mohammed, said to be worth $2,500,000. Tradition dictates that the owner be of Moslem faith.

Born in Wales 46 years ago, the princess at the age of 18 married Capt. Bertrom Brooke, second son of the Maharajah of Sarawak. Both father and son were white and Christian. His mother was an author of considerable repute in England. The princess declared:

"After months of study, I have found the truth at last. The Moslem religion is pure and devoid of hypocrisy. I have counted the cost, knowing that by my act I shall alienate my family and bring down upon myself bitter criticism.

"I am the first member of this ruling white house to embrace Mohammedanism."

60 Pct. of Royal Canadian Fliers Offer Aid to China

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 17.—(INS.)—Sixty per cent of the total strength of the Royal Canadian Air Force today tendered their services to the Chinese consul-general in Canada for service against Japan.

In the 80 flying officers and 250 mechanics who offered their services were 22 men with from 16 to 20 German planes to their credit in the Great War and another 30 with records only relatively lower.

China has delayed acceptance or rejection of the offer for 24 hours, because it came "out of a blue sky" to the consul general.

The offer followed tabling of estimates in the Canadian House of Commons, which cut the air force in half.

It was authoritatively declared today that "the foreign enlistments act," an antiquated British statute, which has not been relegated to the discard by the advancement of dominion autonomy, will be invoked to preclude the Canadian aviators, now being discarded by their own country, throwing in their lot with China.

Despite the government threat, however, the fliers declared that an exodus to China through an American port was quite feasible.

DEATH BOAT DELAYED, HOAX VICTIM'S FIANCE COLLAPSES

KIN OF HEIRESS SCORE YOUTH FOR TALKING

Conflicting Suspicions Irk Relatives of Boston Girl In Drug Mystery Case

By CHARLES J. M'GUIRK
International News Service.

BOSTON, Feb. 18.—While the Chinese Prince, the steamer carrying the "hoax" cable that sent Elizabeth Barrett Cook, Brookline heiress, to her death, ploughed toward Boston almost two days behind schedule, the girl's fiance, St. George Tucker Arnold, today remained secluded in his home here in a state of collapse.

Failure of the vessel to dock as scheduled caused Arnold to lock himself behind doors, refuse to see any visitors and even call for police protection to keep inquiring reporters at a distance.

RELATIVES RAP ARNOLD

Arnold yesterday was the object of intense criticism from Miss Cook's Boston relatives, who accused him of making "contradictory statements" in regard to the strange case and of being able to shed light on the mystery should he so desire.

Miss Cook, 20, died aboard the SS. Chinese Prince February 7 at sea off Gibraltar while she was en route to Boston to marry Arnold, the son of a Lynchburg (Va.) college professor. When the ship sailed from Naples she received a cablegram signed "Helen James" stating Arnold had died in Boston and advising her not to return.

She is thought to have taken her life by drugs as a result of the false information.

"TALKING TOO MUCH"

Relatives of the dead girl yesterday lost patience with Arnold, declaring he has been talking too much and has often contradicted himself.

Arnold first said he had strong suspicions who sent the hoax message, but he did not reveal the sender. Several days later he said he suspected no one and thought his fiance might have met with foul play.

It is only recently that Arnold has revealed the fact that Miss Cook a year ago nearly died from an overdose of "sleeping powders."

Relatives would not readily agree to a suicide verdict, but said that if her death proved to be such they would accept the verdict. They preferred to believe Miss Cook had misjudged a dose of sleeping powders.

SLAYS WOMAN, KILLS SELF

The murder of Mrs. Hazel Curry, 38, and the suicide of Fred Butler, 28, in their first-floor apartment at 7335 Finance street, Homewood, last night, climaxed her objection to Butler's plans of returning to his wife, Homicide Detectives said today.

The body of Mrs. Curry, a widow, with bullet wounds in the head, neck and right side, was found slumped over a bed by J. W. Horsmon, owner of the house, after he heard the shots. Nearby, lay Butler, a bullet in his brain. A 32 caliber revolver was lying a few inches from Butler's right hand.

Detectives William R. Harris and Harry Scott expressed belief that Mrs. Curry with whom Butler was said to have lived since last November, objected to his returning to his wife. Horsmon told the detectives he first became aware that the couple were not married when Butler's wife, Catherine, called Sunday and asked her husband to return to her and their 3-year-old son. Butler, according to Horsmon's story to detectives, accompanied his wife and remained with her Monday and Tuesday.

Efforts were being made to locate Mrs. Butler. Mrs. Curry was the mother of two grown children, detectives said.

Martin, said to have escaped from the Morganza Industrial School two weeks ago, and wanted in connection with numerous automobile thefts, was captured by McKinley Kabler, of 2132 Holyoke street, after the boy had jumped into the aquarium on the estate of J. M. Byers in Ridge avenue.

ROCKEFELLER'S GOLF BRINGS FATIGUE

Oil King, 92, Apparently Loses Strength in Year; Hears Hymn on Course

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service.

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., 18.—John D. Rockefeller, at 92 years of age, still is a remarkably well-preserved man, but he does not look as physically strong as he did a year ago.

He seemed a little fatigued when he finished four holes of golf on the Ormond Beach course today. But when the International News Service reporter asked him how he felt, he said:

"My health is fine—never better."

Mr. Rockfeller is by nature optimistic and cheerful and there is plenty of grit in his makeup. He may feel mighty well, but somehow he looked definitely older than when I saw him here a year ago. Maybe the fact he has just recovered from a cold which kept him indoors for a spell had something to do with his altered appearance.

GOLF CUT DOWN

Two years ago at Ormond he was playing eight holes of golf daily. A year ago he had cut down to six holes. Now he plays no more than four holes a day, and sometimes his constitution cannot stand that much. He never overtaxes himself.

A camp chair was waiting for Mr. Rockefeller as he left the green. He sat down and, turning to the Rev. Dr. Arthur H. Brooks, of Boston, one of his companions, he said:

"Dr. Brooks, won't you sing something? Won't you sing us a hymn?"

Dr. Brooks stood on a hill, at the edge of the green, and in a clear, resonant voice that could be heard two fairways away, sang "God Will Take Care of You."

When he finished, Mr. Rockefeller said:

"Bless you, Dr. Brooks. We thank you."

GIVES CRYPTIC WARNING

Rising from his chair, Mr. Rockefeller raised his right hand rather dramatically and, addressing the knot of people standing in respectful silence, said:

"We must all keep our powder dry."

This cryptic statement puzzled his listeners, and as the International News Service reporter shook hands with Mr. Rockefeller later he asked him what he meant by the admonition. He answered:

"Go back and read your history, young man."

As the Rockefeller limousine departed, N. B. Perkins, of Williamsburg, Ky., one of Mr. Rockefeller's golfing companions, said:

"His health is all right. He had a thorough physical examination less than 10 days ago and was found to be in fine condition for a man of his age."

Singer's Talk Averts Broadway Panic; 7 Hurt, Burned

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—(INS.)—Sophie Tucker, last of the "red hot mamma" singers, was the idol of Broadway today because her coolness helped avert a panic when flames swept the stage of the Palace Theater during last night's performance.

Seven persons were burned or injured in the crush as the 1,900 persons crowding the world-famous vaudeville house made their exit in hasty, frightened, but more or less orderly fashion.

A stage lamp was overturned as Miss Tucker finished her dance routine. Sparks from a short circuit ignited a flimsy curtain back of Miss Tucker.

Though the curtain blazed up, Miss Tucker kept talking to the crowd, fast becoming panic-stricken, while the asbestos drop was lowered. Just before it reached the stage the blaze roaring behind it crept over the footlights and scorched the orchestra pit.

The calming work of Miss Tucker was taken up by firemen and other level-headed persons in the audience. Only in parts of the house was there a pell-mell rush toward the doors. In these mad scrambles several persons were crushed and hurt.

College Ranks Divided Over Snoring

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—(AP.)—The question as to when a snorer gets in his best snores has divided University of Chicago authorities into two schools of thought—the extrovertists and the introvertists.

The extrovertists are contending that the snorts, puffs, gurgles, grunts, hisses and whistles come when the air is being exhaled. The introvertists hold that these noises are produced on inhaling.

Both sides agreed, however, that snoring follows relaxation, particularly of the soft palate, which produces the raucous vibrations.

As to a cure, Dr. Anton Julius Carlson said:

"There is little of a scientific nature on the subject. Sleeping on the side or stomach is generally advised, but does not suffice in the most stubborn cases."

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 18.—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt has decided to remove Sheriff Thomas M. Farley, powerful Tammany district leader, on the charges preferred by Samuel Seabury, counsel to the Hofstadter committee, it was announced today by officials close to the executive.

In ousting Farley, the Governor, it was said, will base his decision only on two of the 12 specific charges made by Seabury—the one dealing with the "wonderful tin box" and alleged unexplained huge bank deposits, and the other with Farley's admission that he retained interest on funds in his custody.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—(INS.)—Sheriff Thomas M. Farley, just returned from a two-day hearing before Gov. Roosevelt in Albany on removal charges, today was seriously ill in a hospital, suffering from kidney trouble and infected burns suffered when he fell against a radiator during an attack of nausea.

MOUNTIES KILL MAD TRAPPER IN ARCTIC

Fugitive, Beaten in Race To Alaskan Border, Fells Sergeant Before Death

International News Service.

AKLAUIK, N. W. T., Feb. 18.—To its stirring history of heroism and adventure, the frigid Northland today added another epic—the bloody end of Albert Johnson's mad career.

The lone wolf of the Arctic lay dead—trapped at last, and killed by his pursuers who for eight weeks followed his grim trail through the silent white wastes.

But Albert Johnson, the "mad trapper," embraced his reputation of iron defiance to the very end. Before his murderous rifle was finally stilled he managed to exact a last tribute from the law which he had so bodly challenged.

In his last battle with the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, waged late yesterday in the desolate Eagle River Valley, the crazed trapper brought Staff Sergt. E. F. Hersey down with a burst from his gun.

RUSHED BY PLANE

The sergeant, who was the first to overtake the elusive Johnson, was rushed to Aklavik by plane after his fellow possemen had surrounded and slain the defiant trapper. In Aklavik the wounded Hersey was treated by a doctor. He will be rushed by plane to Edmonton as soon as he is able to withstand the 1,500-mile flight.

Sergt. Hersey was the third "mountie" to fall before the fire of Johnson's rifle. In one skirmish his deadly fire brought death to Constable Ed Millen and in another battle he seriously wounded Constable A. E. King.

While the mad trapper made his last frenzied stand in a bitter cold of 20 degrees below zero, a Canadian Airway airplane, piloted by Capt. (Wop) May flew overhead. The plane was equipped with bombs ready to blast Johnson into submission.

LANDS ON ICE

After Johnson fell to the snow dead, Capt. May brought his plane to a landing on a frozen river flat, Sergt. Hersey was carried aboard and the plane roared off to Aklavik.

The eccentric trapper was apparently trying to reach the Alaska border. Sergt. Hersey and Noel Verville, a trapper, were following the hunted man's snow tracks just a little ahead of the rest of the posse when they came upon their quarry.

The outlaw leaped across a creek. There was an exchange of wild shots, but Johnson was the first to find his mark. Sergt. Hersey was wounded in the knee and below the heart as he crouched to take careful aim.

Johnson jumped for the shelter of a clay cutbank as the remainder of the posse was drawing up to the scene and began surrounding him. Bullets spurted through the thin air. The mad trapper's knees buckled, his mouth gaped. Grimly, the possemen sent another volley into the outlaw's crumbling form. The lone wolf had come to the end of his spectacular trail.

'Curfew' Author Living, Supported by Daughter

By WILLIAM PARKER
International News Service.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 18.—Modest circumstances have come in the sunset of life to Rose Hartwick Thorpe, author of "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight," a poem-song that still is a household favorite of sentimental people the world over.

Mrs. Thorpe told International News Service today:

"My daughter is employed and takes care of me. My sole source of income, however, is the copying of the Curfew poem in longhand occasionally.

"Sometimes I can copy the poem in one day, other times it takes longer. I get $5 for this from people who write in from this country and foreign places.

"I had sufficient money to live in comfort the rest of my days, but investments which I believed safe were in the hands of persons who violated my confidence in them."

Thousands of persons everywhere will be surprised to learn that the author of "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight" is alive. It is generally believed in the United States and England, and information is given in numerous libraries, that "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight" is a traditional poem of England and was written several hundred years ago.

Irony is no novelty in the life of Mrs. Thorpe. A publisher once obtained a copyright of her poem, she related, and for many years Mrs. Thorpe had to buy copies of her own poem from the publisher. She said:

"I wrote the poem on a school slate when 16 years of age. That was in 1865 when I was Rose Hartwick and living in Litchfield, Mich. It was first printed in Detroit (Mich.) Commercial Advertiser, and I was paid one year's subscription, the equivalent of $1.50."

TWO AT RITES FOR MRS. FISKE

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—(INS)— Without an audience, as she had willed it, Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske, one of America's greatest troupers, today left Broadway forever.

While Broadway bowed its head at a distance, the stage idol of two generations was given an unpretentious funeral service. Only her husband-manager, Harrison Fiske, and her secretary, Mae Cox, were present. The body was to be taken secretly to Long Island for cremation.

But there was particularly one who did not have a chance to mourn. Davey Danville, 11-year-old orphan adopted secretly by Mrs. Fiske 10 years ago, was away at school and was not told of the death.

Ambridge Whisky Battle Continues

BEAVER, Pa., Feb. 18.—Although Burgess Paul Caul of Ambridge reported in answer to a petition for writ of mandamus sought by District Attorney A. B. De Castrique that some 200 gallons of moonshine liquor and a still had been destroyed, De Castrique continued the battle by filing a demurrer.

It is contended in the demurrer that Caul and Andrew H. Byes, former Ambridge policeman, had no authority to destroy the liquor and the court is petitioned to issue the writ. It is said the liquor and still, confiscated in a raid, were stored by police in an Ambridge warehouse.

COMPENSATION LAW VIOLATION PRISONS TWO

Employers Sentenced for Failing to Protect Girl Injured in Restaurant

Pleading guilty in the first criminal action brought by the State Compensation Board for failure to carry employes' insurance, George Krelis and Carl Chronis, former proprietors of the Metropolitan Restaurant, 6289 Frankstown avenue, today were sentenced to two to four months in the workhouse.

The sentence was imposed by Judge Elder W. Marshall after the pair admitted failing to carry insurance and to pay compensation to Miss Ruth Singleton, of 306 Shady avenue, who suffered a broken ankle while employed July 8. The board's referee had ordered payment of $12 weekly to Miss Singleton. Krelis and Chronis failed to make payments.

FIREMAN, BRIDE ELUDE POLICE

The romance of a 40-year-old city firemen and the pretty 15-year-old dancer he says is his bride was due to wind up in a police court today—if police could locate them.

Felix Czlapinski told South Side police last night that August Erhardt, the firemen, had stolen the hand of his daughter, Florence.

After an absence of two days Erhardt and the girl returned yesterday to his home at 2109 Sidney street. They departed from there five minutes before police arrived to arrest him on the father's complaint. During their short stay there Erhardt told a sister of his supposed bride they had been married.

Florence was vacationing at home 2105 Sarah street. She has traveled on vaudeville circuits as a professional dancer. Erhardt is a driver for a battalion chief at No. 12 Engine Company.

SANDE TO WED PAL'S WIDOW

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—(INS.)— Two months after denying they intended to marry or were anything more to each other than sympathetic friends, Earle Sande, premier American jockey, and Mrs. Clarence Kummer, widow of an almost equally famed turf hero, yesterday obtained a marriage license in Queens.

Sande's first wife, Marion Hildreth Casey, a niece of the late Sam Hildreth, noted Rancocas Stable trainer, under whose colors and training Sande first rode to international fame, died in 1927, while Sande himself was suffering from the effects of a reducing regime.

The first Mrs. Sande was even a more intimate friend of his intended second wife than Sande was of Kummer, who died September 18, 1930.

They said they have not yet made definite arrangements nor set the date for their marriage.

Large Tax Share Borne by Auto Levies Shown

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—(INS.)— One dollar out of every $1.76 paid to the states in taxes for all purposes comes from vehicle assessments, Alfred P. Sloan, president of the General Motors Corporation, told a group of industrialists yesterday.

Levies against motor transportation amount to one dollar out of every 10 collected by federal, state and local authorities, he said, and are equal to one-fourth of the total federal budget.

Motor truck owners pay 27 per cent of the total assessments, his report showed.

Closed Bank's Vault Now Town Jail

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 18.—(INS.)— The vault in the defunct First National Bank at Vanderbilt, near here, today is being put to good use as the town lockup.

When the bank failed the building was taken over by the Tri-town Community Firemen's Association as its clubhouse.

Takes Grandmother On Cycle; Arrested

PASADENA, Cal., Feb. 18.—(AP)— The next time Joseph Miles, of Long Beach, Cal., takes his 68-year-old grandmother, Mrs. A. M. Crook, riding, it won't be on his motorcycle. Miles tried that yesterday. A policeman arrested him for riding double. He was ordered to appear in court February 24.

EXPERT SCORES 'FEE OFFICES'

Discontinuance of "fee offices" in connection with tax collections was advocated by Dr. Marion K. McKay, University of Pittsburgh economics professor, in an address today before the Pitt business men's luncheon in the Chamber of Commerce Building. He said:

"I hope that the day is not far removed when no one who has anything to do with tax matters, state or local, will be rewarded on a fee basis.

"This applies with special force to collections. I cannot justify paying delinquent collectors on such a basis. As a matter of fact, I see no valid reason why the regular receiver of taxes should not also collect all taxes that become delinquent."

GIBBONS BECOMES ACE OF RADIO

Quits Air at Peak of Fame to Cover Far East War

Following is the final chapter of "The Story of Floyd Gibbons," the world's greatest reporter, who is covering the Sino-Japanese fighting for International News Service.

By HENRY WALES
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Floyd Gibbons soared to a record altitude when he went on the air. His "Headline Hunter" scored an overnight hit. His talks were broadcast nationally.

With the globe as a background possessing first hand knowledge of nearly every country and people on earth, with his war experience and his long list of exploits since the Armistice, Gibbons had everything the public wanted.

Added to that he had a personality which climbed right into the microphone, zipped out of the sending stations and permeated into the listening-in sets of millions of radio fans. His voice was ideal: clear, ringing, peppy.

His delivery was the fastest that has ever been heard on the air. He has been clocked at the rate of 247 words a minute without losing clarity or expression.

FAST-TALKING FLOYD GIBBONS . . . 247 WORDS PER MINUTE!

Speedy Talker

His average speed is about 200 words a minute. This is 50 faster than the speediest of his competitors attempt to go. He broadcast the arrival of the German Zeppelin at Lakehurst in her first trip with passengers with a portable "mike," giving sparkling descriptions of the scenes.

Gibbons' fan mail immediately began to swamp him. He hired a corps of secretaries and stenographers to handle it. Offers came in from big national advertisers, seeking his services on the air.

Then he went into the movies. He did a series of films of big personages, Gen. Pershing, Newton D. Baker, Gen. Harbord. He had a dozen others lined up for the screen. About that time trouble started in Manchuria.

The veteran war-horse (although he is just past 40) smelled gun-powder. He was rarin' to go.

International News Service contracted for Gibbons' services in the Far East and he dropped the radio, the pictures, magazine articles, and books he had under way, to dash for the scene of action.

He sprinted across the continent and caught the first boat at Seattle. Will Rogers was aboard, on a trip around the world.

Flies From Tokio

They crossed the Pacific and, after a stop of only a few hours in Tokio, to meet Japanese government officials, Gibbons continued by airplane to Manchuria.

The first experienced war correspondent on the scene, he began at once to score scoops and beats over his rivals. Through the facilities placed at his disposition by Gen. Honjo and the Japanese general staff, he visited all parts of the province where action was taking place.

For a time he left the Japanese and established himself with the Chinese, both the regulars and the irregulars. He encountered the leading "White Russians," exiles from the Soviet Union, but waiting an opportunity to join any movement which might eventually shake the hold of the Bolsheviks on their country.

With the Manchurian situation stabilized, after the Japanese had overrun practically all the territory, Gibbons had a hunch to go to Shanghai. His intuition proved correct. The Japanese fleet only beat him to the Bund by a few hours. He was present when the first Japanese airplanes started their bombing operations against Chapei.

Vivid Pictures

His despatches from Shanghai have electrified the country. In crisp, snappy, descriptive bursts, like machine-gun fire, Gibbons has pictured the situation there, the apprehension of the International Settlement, where the foreign colonies are congregated, congested with Chinese refugees seeking a haven from the rain of explosives from the heavens.

Heavy fighting by infantry and artillery against the Chinese positions, and the defenders, desperate defense to hold back the Japanese, have been described. He has told of the horrors to the civilian population, and the cruelties and suffering which the ruthless exigencies of warefare entail.

And he has sought after American interests and told how they were protected, damaged or jeopardized in the military operations.

Journalistically speaking, Shanghai has been a one-man job. And the man who has done it is Floyd Gibbons; for the International News Service.

SIFT LEGALITY OF FURLOUGHS

Director of Public Safety James M. Clark, City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt and members of the Civil Service Commission are scheduled to confer tomorrow on the legality of the "furloughing" of police and firemen to meet the reduced city budget's demands.

Since February 1, 162 patrolmen and 98 firemen, who were originally laid off to meet the economy demands, have been returned to work under a system which gives every man on the two forces 11 months' work a year.

Clark said today that he was afraid the procedure was not legal and was calling tomorrow's conference to forestall the possibility of the men's pay checks being tied up by a legal controversy.

Barney Barnes Can Now Eat Anything He Chooses

"I got so I couldn't eat anything without having trouble afterwards," says Mr. Barney Barnes, popular ceiling builder, of 221½ West Grand Avenue, Oklahoma City, Okla. "I would have heartburn, and indigestion pains after meals.

"Nothing seemed to help me. I tried everything I could hear of but my indigestion hung on four years.

"Then a friend got me to take some Pape's Diapepsin. I had almost immediate relief with the first two tablets. Now that I have been taking them for some time, I find I can eat meats or most anything and have no trouble. I want to tell others about Diapepsin because it sure helped me."

Thousands like Mr. Barnes are finding quick, certain relief for sour stomach, or acidity, by using Pape's Diapepsin. Chew a tablet and that feeling of weight and discomfort after eating just disappears.

A Nervous Breakdown

Harrisburg, Pa.—"A few years ago we had much sickness, my husband was very sick, my mother was old and feeble and about that time my son was taken down. All these troubles caused me to have a nervous breakdown," said Mrs. Martha Althouse of 1463 Regina St. "A relative, a druggist, advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I was nervous, weak and rundown, my appetite failed and I couldn't sleep at night. I took three bottles of the Discovery and then I felt like doing my work again, slept better and my nervousness disappeared." All druggists sell

Beaver Falls Chief Tried on Charges

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Feb. 18.—Hundreds jammed City Hall today to hear the trial of misconduct, disobedience and failure to enforce the law filed against Police Chief William Davidson by Mayor C. W. Calvin.

Testimony in support of the Mayor's charges came from Alderman George Johnston, who told of the chief instructing him to reduce a charge of driving while intoxicated against John Michaels, Beaver Falls contractor, to reckless driving.

HINT BLAGDEN NOT KIDNAPED

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Saratoga police today informed the state troopers that Harry H. Blagden, who disappeared at Lake Placid last Thursday and turned up in Cleveland Monday night saying he had been kidnaped, was believed to have been in Saratoga on Saturday night.

Norman Ross, a garageman, and Paul McGirr, a Saratoga clothier, reported that a man answering the wealthy sportsman's description drove into the Ross garage Saturday evening about 7 o'clock to have minor repairs made to an automobile.

They talked with the man for some time and on Monday when a paper with Blagden's photograph reached Saratoga both immediately said the man they saw Saturday night was Blagden.

With the driver was another man who Ross and McGirr said they could not describe, as he did not leave the car.

MYSTERY MAN IN DOPE TRIAL

A mysterious person designated as "Nick the Greek," entered into the trial record of Mrs. Mary Verrasi, 42, her son, Salvatore Verrasi, 27, and her son-in-law, Joseph Agesta, 28, all of Connellsville, alleged members of a drug ring operating in Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia, on trial before Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, on indictments charging violations of the federal narcotic laws.

The name was brought into the testimony by Salvatore Verrasi, who said "Nick" gave him a package to keep for him, and he in turn handed it over to Mrs. Joseph Rice, of Connellsville, for safe keeping, and was unaware it contained morphine. Under cross-examination by Assistant United States Attorney Zeno Fritz he was unable to tell the whereabouts of "Nick."

COUNCIL TO GET 'TOWING' PLANS

Director of Public Safety James M. Clark announced today he will submit his plans for a municipal "automobile pound"—to which cars seized by police for illegal parking and other traffic violations may be towed—to City Council Tuesday.

He said he would present two ordinances to authorize the designation of a garage as the "pound," fixing the cost of towing and storage and carrying the option to purchase the designated garage if the system proves successful.

CITIZENS HIRE COUNSEL FOR KLINE TRIAL

Butler Law Firm Engaged By Committee to Aid in Prosecution of Charges

The Citizens Committee of Pittsburgh has engaged the law firm of Troutman and Jackson, of Butler, to represent it in the prosecution of Mayor Charles H. Kline and his deposed Director of Supplies, Bertram L. Succop, who will be tried in Butler on misdemeanor charges, March 14.

It was the Citizens' Committee which, in conjunction with Controller James P. Kerr, conducted the dual audit of the Department of Supplies, uncovering alleged gross irregularities and leading to the indictment of the Mayor and Succop.

12 LAWYERS IN CASE

Troutman and Jackson will give the commonwealth's counsel, District Attorney Andrew T. Park, his first assistant, George F. P. Langfitt, special prosecutor, Earl F. Reed and District Attorney Edgar H. Negley of Butler County, whatever assistance is necessary.

Mr. Reed has acted as counsel for the Citizens' Committee. This brings nearly a dozen lawyers into the case, counting the Mayor's counsel, Charles B. Prichard and Edward G. Coll, of Pittsburgh; E. L. Kearns, of counsel for Succop, and Judge J. M. Galbreath and Zeno Henninger, of Butler, also for the defense.

District Attorney Park said today things are moving along in fine shape in Butler County, where District Attorney Negley is ably handling the situation.

TRIAL ARRANGEMENTS

Park has assigned Detective David Drexler to handle the witnesses for the commonwealth. These will be transported to and from Butler by the commonwealth. A bus will be used. Witnesses required to stay over night will be guests at Nixon Hotel, where the District Attorney has engaged the entire top floor.

On account of the size of the courtroom at Butler, it is surmised there will be little room for the general public.

LaFollette Speaks Here Tomorrow

Mr. LaFollette

United States Senator Robert LaFollette will arrive in Pittsburgh tomorrow to speak at the testimonial dinner Syria Shriners are giving the new illustrious potentate, Karl Rex Hammers, in the William Penn Hotel. He will be greeted by Joseph N. Mackrell, toastmaster, and Arthur Wilharm, chairman of the speakers' committee.

Mills Will Discard 'Spokesman' in Talks

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—(INS.)—Ogden L. Mills, the new Secretary of the Treasury, today moved into the office overlooking the White House which, for 11 years, had been occupied by Andrew W. Mellon, now ambassador to Great Britain.

With Mellon's retirement another Washington spokesman is gone. Mills has let it be known that when he speaks for publication he may be quoted directly. When quoted, Mellon normally appeared in the public print as a "high Treasury official."

PITTSBURGH AND LAKE ERIE R. R.

Yes, her figure was marvelous

By Julia Foster★

Hers was the kind of figure Paris dressmakers must dream about. No gown ever draped a handsomer form. Imagine my disappointment when I saw a blemished skin! Didn't she know this simplest secret of complexion care?

* * *

You can have that advice. The few simple instructions that have saved thousands of women from developing a "tragic" skin. More than 20,000 beauty experts have agreed on this easy home care for the complexion. Here it is. Follow it.

With your hands, work well into the pores of your face and throat a generous lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water. Then a thorough rinse with warm water to wash it away, followed by a cold rinse. Hot water should never touch your face. After this, in the morning, your make-up. At night, if your skin is dry, follow with oil or tissue cream.

There is a very definite reason why more than 20,000 beauty experts prefer Palmolive for this foundation cleansing. It is fully explained in the panel to the right, headed: "Beauty In a Test Tube." Please read it.

Beauty . . . relaxation in your bath!

Weary nerves need soothing? Experts have told about me this treatment: Shave up a whole cake of Palmolive. Melt it by boiling in 4 cups of water and pour the solution into your tub. Step in, relax. Then massage every inch of your body, every pore, with rich lather from another cake of Palmolive. When you get out, you'll find fatigue, nervousness, gone. Your skin, soft and smooth, thanks to this olive and palm oil care. Some evening soon, when you're so tired you feel tempted to cancel an engagement, try this instead!

And by all means, start at once giving yourself the twice-a-day facial treatment with Palmolive Soap. Try it for ten days, at least. What other treatment gives your skin such youthful softness?

BEAUTY IN A TEST TUBE

But can you get enough olive oil in soap? How much, actually, goes into Palmolive? Here is the exact amount of olive oil that goes into every ten-cent cake of Palmolive — in this test tube at the right. To this generous olive oil content can be directly traced Palmolive's great complexion benefits. It is the only large-selling soap made of vegetable oils exclusively. The only one using olive oil as a base. Other ingredients are simply oils from palm trees necessary to produce a richer, creamier, more workable lather. The color is the natural green of olive and palm oils — no artificial coloring.

More than 20,000 of the world's beauty experts have for years urged Palmolive Soap in preference to all others. Heed their advice!

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Accepting Jewelry

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

First, I want to tell you how much I enjoy your column. I am a very attentive reader of it. I am a young woman of 27 and have been married 10 years. When I was 21 my mother was so mentally ill that we had to send her to an asylum. I took my sister, then 13, and my brother, then 6, to raise. Now my sister is 19 and has a young man friend. I was always led to believe that it was not right for a young lady to accept gifts of jewelry, wearing apparel or any personal gifts from young men.

Will you please explain in your column such gifts that are acceptable for a well-bred girl to accept from a young man friend?

ANXIOUS SISTER.

What a fine and sacrificing sister you have been . . . your young sister should thank her fortunate stars that she has such a sister, and should try to do everything that you wish her to do.

And you are so right in your social judgment about this question of giving of jewelry. A girl should never accept jewelry from a man unless she is engaged to him.

The gallant may give a girl flowers, candy, books, letter paper, a music portfolio for her desk or some other desk accessory, a pencil or pen for her purse or desk, handkerchiefs, plain or monogrammed, and gifts of this kind.

A Choice of Words

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My elder sister was married last summer and she and her husband moved into a small apartment. When speaking to her friend she refers to the apartment as "her apartment" and when speaking of the home where she lived before her marriage as "her home." I have disagreed with her many times about this matter. I believe that she should refer to the apartment as "home" and to our home as "mother's home."

Will you kindly inform me as to whether she is right or wrong? HELEN.

I'm sure that when your sister has become more accustomed to her new life she will probably use the words as you suggest she use them. However, if I were you, I shouldn't make any point of this change, for it's pleasant to have her use the words as she wishes to and until she wishes to change them.

New Polish Consul Takes Office Here

J. L. Byszewski, new consul for the Republic of Poland in Pittsburgh, arrived today to take over his office, following merger of consulates of Pittsburgh, Detroit and Buffalo as an economic move. He succeeds Arthur Ocetkiewicz, who has been recalled to the foreign office in Warsaw. He said:

Business College Files as Bankrupt

Charles P. McGeary, individually, and trading as the Erie Business College, of Erie, Pa., today filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in United States Court. He listed liabilities of $24,289 and assets $24,022.

BANDITS BEGIN PEN TERMS

Joseph Magnone, 23, of 648 Chianti street, today began serving 10 to 20 years in Western Penitentiary, and his companion, Philip Scarpino, 22, of 260 Shady avenue, began a five to 10-year term, following their guilty pleas before Judge Elder W. Marshall to a series of eight robberies and holdups and the shooting of James O'Connor, nephew of Police Magistrate James J. O'Connor, December 4, during a robbery. O'Connor is still in a hospital.

Included in the robberies was the holdup of H. W. Riester, merchant, at 912 Homewood avenue, and theft of the automobile of Joseph Capresto, a Clairton merchant.

U. S. TO LAUNCH DREDGE HERE

The Dravo Contracting Company, of Pittsburgh, will launch the first of two super dredges, the channel suction dredge United States Potter, from its Neville Island shipyards at noon Friday, February 26. The sponsor will be Mrs. Lytle Brown, wife of Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of engineers, United States Army.

A military aspect will mark the ceremony, which will be attended by a large staff of Army officers from Washington, including representatives from the various districts at Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Cleveland, Memphis, Louisville, Huntington, Cincinnati and Vicksburg. The dredge is an all-steel twin-screw, self-propelled craft of the dustpan suction-head type, constructed at a cost of about $450,000.

Two adjoining drinking places were raided yesterday by federal prohibition agents in the Strip district. In a building at 1325 Penn avenue, the raiders said they arrested Tony Masso and William Floore and confiscated wine and moonshine whisky. At 1327 Penn avenue the agents said they confiscated a quantity of intoxicants and arrested Matthew Sportage.

Whisky, gin and beer were seized when the agents raided a club on the second floor of 414 Federal street, they said.

The String Symphonic Ensemble again played for a good audience in Carnegie Lecture Hall last night and won sufficient applause to compel the players to repeat some of their numbers. Oscar Del Bianco conducted and an improvement was very noticeable especially in the slower music, in Foerster's suite, for example.

Mr. Lissfelt

This suite was the novelty of the program, and like so much of this Pittsburgher's compositions savored strongly of certain classics, in this case like music of John Sebastian Bach's sons.

Alta Schultz, contralto, was soloist and sang the time-worn air from "Don Carlos" as well as two English songs and several encores. Miss Schultz, although her voice has never realized all its possibilities like most of our Pittsburgh singers, is a good musician and her singing is always backed by good thought and sincere preparation. Earl Truxell played good accompaniments on a very trying piano. J. FRED LISSFELT.

'Globe-Trotter' Fans Increase

Pittsburgh is becoming a city of globe-trotters.

That is the opinion reached by officials of WCAE as a result of the hundreds of telegrams, letters and telephone calls received daily congratulating the station on the news broadcasts of Louis L. Kaufman, Globe-Trotter for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News. This service, presented daily, except Sunday, at 9:05 a. m., 12:15 p. m., 2:30 p. m. and 6:30 p. m., in a few short weeks has become one of the most popular features on the air.

In part of tonight's Globe-Trotter period, Walter E. Okeson will be interviewed on the new football rules promulgated this week for the safety of players. Mr. Okeson is commissioner of the Eastern Intercollegiate Board for the Selection of Football Officials.

"Reflections of Madelon's Mirror," of interest to all women, is presented from 10:30 to 10:45 a. m. today, while for the children, Uncle Bob and Betty read the Sun-Telegraph comic pages at 6 p. m.

With Riggs and Moke as masters of ceremonies, the Sun-Telegraph Nite Club program at 11 tonight features Ann Zimit, blues singer, and Sonny Joy, in comic songs along with the augmented orchestra under direction of Jules Herbuveaux, guest-conductor.

COP CURBS COUGH
Gets quick relief thru Triple Action

J. V. Ahlquist

"During a recent blizzard I caught a beauty. What a cough! I was miserable. The druggist on my beat gave me a bottle of Smith Brothers' Cough Syrup. In less than no time—in fact after the first swallow—I began to get better. The soreness in my head, nose and throat disappeared—and very soon I stopped coughing altogether. Smith Brothers' is great stuff for coughs and colds all right!" J. V. Ahlquist, Rockford, Ill.

Triple Action
SMITH BROTHERS COUGH SYRUP
ENDS COUGHS THE MEDICAL WAY

IF YOU SUFFER FROM GOUT commonly called Arthritis, Lumbago, Sciatica,
NEURITIS, RHEUMATISM

A liberal threefold guarantee is published today, so that every sufferer from diseases known as rheumatism and neuritis, rheumatic fever, gout, lumbago and sciatica, will positively give Eade's English Pills a trial.

THREE FOLD GUARANTEE
2 It is guaranteed that Eade's brings quick relief from muscular aches and pains of gout—commonly mistaken for rheumatism, arthritis, neuritis, sciatica, lumbago.
3 Unless you are satisfied with the results in your own case, return the partly-used package and have every penny of your deposit refunded.
George Eade, Ltd. LONDON, ENGLAND

Quick Relief—or Don't Pay

So varied are the forms of rheumatism, no one remedy can aid them all. But in thousands of cases where other preparations failed, Eade's Pills have been eminently successful. Quick, safe relief from pain is now assured by this famous English formula—or no cost.

Specialists Prescribe Eade's English Pills

In England, where gout and rheumatism are extremely common, and probably more painful due to the damp climate, Eade's Pills are famous. In fact all over the civilized world are specialists who prescribe Eade's. These doctors are enthusiastic in their praise of this pure prescription.

The famous London chemists, George Eade, Ltd., must have amazing confidence in their pills if they make the above generous guarantee of positive relief. Certainly you can hardly refuse their honest offer. By all means, tear out this clipping and hand it to any druggist in town for a full sized package of Eade's English Pills. If you find them as good as we say, use them steadily.

MUSCULAR—RHEUMATIC PAINS

DRAW them out with a "counter-irritant." Muscular lumbago, soreness and stiffness—generally respond to good old Musterole. Doctors call it a "counter-irritant" because its warming action penetrates and stimulates blood circulation and helps to draw out infection and pain. It gets action and is not just a salve. But do not stop with one application. Apply this soothing, cooling, healing ointment generously to the affected area once every hour for five hours. Used by millions for over 20 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. All druggists.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

E. J. MEINHARDI
OF CHICAGO
IS COMING HERE AGAIN

He will personally demonstrate his method without charge at the Wm. Penn Hotel, Pittsburgh, Pa., on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 19th and 20th, from 10:00 A. M. to 7:00 P. M. daily. Only men are invited.

Caution—Do not wear trusses, pads, plasters, or devices that often weaken the muscles, and do not submit to avoidable operations which often fail repeatedly.

Rupture often causes Stomach Trouble, Backache, Constipation, Nervousness, general weakness and other ailments. Hundreds of deaths from rupture can be avoided.

Notice—This is the only city he will visit in this section. Please note the above date carefully and come to investigate.

ONE SOAP
TWO

SAFE FOR FINE THINGS

QUICK FOR DIRTY THINGS
Chipso makes clothes as white—washes as fast—as strong powdered soaps; and it's safer.

Perhaps you know about Chipso. Millions of women do. But it is possible that you haven't used Chipso lately. And so you may have missed the newest, greatest improvement in a modern laundry soap.

Those thicker creamier suds tell you here's something new in soaps! But not until you put these suds to work do you learn how different Chipso is from other soaps.

No need now to use harsh soaps that fade clothes and wear them out before their time. Chipso's extra suds "stand up" to a heavy washing and dissolve out the most stubborn dirt. Towels come out snowy; grimy play-clothes are spotless. Yet Chipso suds are as gentle as rain to fine things.

How handy to use one soap for everything washable. No need now to sort out silk underwear, your nice linens, the children's print frocks, for special washing with a special soap. Just wash your fine things in Chipso's velvety rain-soft suds. Then if you need, add a little more quick-dissolving Chipso, and use the same suds for heavy things. You'll save time. You'll save work.

Your hands prove Chipso's safety

Try Chipso for your dishes for a few days—your hands will be so smooth and soft you'll know that Chipso suds are as gentle as rain.

Remember—a soap that roughens your hands will be hard on your clothes . . . But when you use Chipso, even heavy cottons wear longer and stay brighter. Ask your grocer for Chipso, it comes in the same blue boxes, but inside it is better than ever.

LISTENING IN

—With the Radio Editor—

"ROXY'S" COMING TO TOWN Tuesday, and the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and Station WCAE will present radio's most colorful figure in a special program from 6:15 to 6:30 that evening.

Mr. Rothafel

Announcement that "Roxy," whose real name is S. L. Rothafel, will appear before the microphone at WCAE in a 15-minute program is expected to arouse the greatest interest ever created by a local program in Pittsburgh, where the famous director has thousands of followers. He is coming to Pittsburgh to address students of the Carnegie Institute of Technology at an afternoon assembly, but the Sun-Telegraph and WCAE completed arrangements early today for the radio appearance in order that all Pittsburgh might hear him.

"Roxy's" spectacular rise in the motion picture world and later in the field of radio makes him one of the most interesting characters in the show world. At present he is devoting all his time to planning of the theaters in the new Rockefeller development, "Radio City," in New York.

Further details regarding "Roxy" and his WCAE program Tuesday evening will be given later in the Sun-Telegraph.

PITTSBURGH "GOES HOLLYWOOD" at 8 tonight when KQV offers a lobby broadcast from the Warner Theater in connection with the Pennsylvania premiere of George Arliss' new picture, "The Man Who Played God." Stage and movie stars and celebrities from all walks of life here will be brought before the microphone by Dick Powell from 8 to 8:30. Assisting will be Bernie Armstrong, Pat Haley, Joe and Jean McKenna, Don Stitt and the Stanley Theater Orchestra.

* * *

RUDY VALLEE says adieu to his radio audience tonight for two weeks. On Sunday he leaves for a vacation with his wife at Santa Monica, Cal., to return March 6. Other orchestras will carry on the regular program in his absence. In tonight's program, on WCAE at 8, Bebe Daniels, star of the talking screen, is featured with Rudy and Ray Perkins. Miss Daniels went all the way from Hollywood to New York for the broadcast, and even took her singing teacher along with her. Appropriately enough, for Rudy, at least, one of her numbers is "Now That You're Gone."

Program Pointers

ZOEL PARENTEAU is a busy man at KDKA tonight. After directing the Travelers at 6:30, he swings the baton again for the Westinghouse Pioneers at 7:45.

Two operas from Germany crowd the short waves across the Atlantic today. The first, a Columbia network feature on WJAS at 1 p. m., is the first act of the world premiere of the all-American opera, "Caponsacchi," by Richard Hageman, based on Robert Browning's poem, "The Ring and the Book." It comes from the Municipal Opera House in Freiberg. At 4:25 an NBC-WEAF hookup presents for the first time to American listeners the third act of Hans Pfitzner's fantastic new opera, "Das Herz," from Berlin.

Gershwin's new tune, "You've Got What Gets Me," is the highlight of Alex Gray's offerings with Nat Shilkret on WJAS at 10:30.

Frank Crumit, with Julia Sanderson on KDKA at 9 tonight, sings Al Jolson's famous old Winter Garden hit, "My Yellow Jacket Girl."

Dr. Charles N. Boyd speaks on "The Building of Melody" from WWSW at 3 p. m. tomorrow.

Question Box

What nationality is Andre Baruch?—J. F. C., Oakmont.

M. Baruch, one of the CBS ace announcers, was born in Paris in 1906, and came to the United States as a boy of 11. He speaks seven languages, being fluent in English, French, Spanish and Italian and able to carry on a fair conversation in Dutch, Flemish and Portuguese. When he gets excited, however, he is apt to burst into a barrage of French, and he still blushes when reminded of the time he did that very thing on the air.

Fan Fare

Morton Downey, Tony Wons and their caravan, who broadcast from Cleveland last night, are heard tonight from St. Louis, where they open a 12-week vaudeville tour.

Julius Levin's "Casey at the Bat," in Harry Keck's Trained Seal program on WCAE last night, was a masterpiece. One listener called up to say it brought tears to his eyes. And Julius is wondering what he meant.

Revva Reyes, coming here next week with "Hot-Cha," got the job when Ziegfeld heard her sing on the radio . . . Pancho Villa, erstwhile Mexican bandit chief, was her godfather . . . Kate Smith now can boast of having met four Presidents at the White House, Wilson, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover . . . Ed Sprague, WWSW hockey expert, wears a blue beret even when announcing in the studio . . . Pat Barnes plays all 20 characters in "Jimmy and Grandad" . . . Gene Gaudette, Don Bestor's praise agent, is going to New York to see about getting Pittsburgh on Winchell's "magic carpet" again . . . He expects to dine with Winchell.

More than 3,000 persons received autographed pictures of "Our Family," KDKA feature, at Joseph Horne's, when the entire cast met their admirers personally.

The favorite story of Gladys Rice, NBC soprano, has to do with the time last summer when she decided to hire a skiff at a summer resort in England and go rowing. She was about to put off when the owner of the skiff appeared and suggested she pay in advance. Miss Rice demanded:

"Why? I'll pay when I come back. I'm honest."

But she nearly went overboard when the native replied:

YOUR FORD IS SERVICED PROPERLY

when you take it to an Authorized Ford Dealer

YOUR Ford was built for many thousands of miles of dependable, fault-free service. But no matter how good a car may be—how fine the parts or great the skill with which they are made and fitted—certain attention is necessary from time to time. Then, it is essential that men who know the Ford car in every part, men who work with precision machinery and accustomed fingers, should do the servicing or make the repairs.

Your neighborhood Ford dealer therefore is the man to see when you need service, parts, or accessories of any kind. His clean, well-ordered shops are equipped with factory-endorsed service machinery. The parts used are genuine Ford parts—high in quality, low in cost.

Ford service is always most economical—always dependable and safe—but at this particular time, when many cars require extra attention, special prices are in effect. Drive into the nearby Ford Service Department and ask about them. A free inspection will be made of your car. You will know the cost of the work you order before it's started—and will find it agreeably low.

Not so long ago I mentioned that the Woman's Exchange board was going to hold a benefit ball on April 1. Now the board has just decided to hold a sacrifice rummage sale and sale of articles sold at the Exchange, Penn avenue, on April 7, 8 and 9 instead.

The change was made because the board felt that the sale would help its 500 consignors and employes more than the ball. The place of the sale will be announced later.

SHORT JACKETS POPULAR IN SPRING WALKING SUITS

(Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Feb. 18.—Short in line, long in chic, just about sums up the description of the jackets used for the latest suits. No matter whether the suit be for walking, or for afternoon wear, it must boast a short, fitted jacket. Sometimes length is added by a curving border of fur, but as a rule, the short jacket is left to fend for itself, something that it does most successfully. That is, if the wearer is slim and graceful. The flaring peplum gives an odd, demure look to the jacket and is being featured by several houses. Cape effects are also used, but whether the jacket is made with a peplum or a cape, it is always short. Of course, there are always some women who demand the longer coat, but then usually their orders are individual ones and so are not usually grouped in the collections. Most of the suits shown are made for general wear and an endeavor is made to interpret the wish of the average client and to give her clothes that will strike the youthful, dashing note, combined with simplicity. There is little or no demand for the flamboyant, terribly elegant type of costume that used to be considered the acme of chic and desirability. Note the smart but simple clothes that will obtain this spring.

* * *

* * *

AT THE RIGHT is a Lenief suit of heavy black satin with a tailored white satin blouse. The jacket is fitted and has a high waistline and flaring peplum. Slashes in the coat sleeves reveal the white sleeves of the bodice buttoning up the outside, a new and most original sleeve idea.

How easy it is to remove yellow and stain that make teeth ugly

Impossible With Ordinary Brushing

Don't take anybody's word for it. Prove to yourself that it is now easy to remove yellow and stain as well as the causes of decay and clean teeth whiter—3 shades whiter in 3 days! Start using this new scientific technique. A half-inch of Kolynos on a dry brush, twice a day. You'll see a marked change overnight.

When Kolynos enters the mouth it instantly becomes a refreshing FOAM. This FOAM does the work. First it removes yellow anr stain and destroys the millions of mouth-germs—190 million in 15 seconds—that cause most tooth and gum troubles. It stimulates the gums and purifies the mouth. Then it CLEANS TEETH RIGHT DOWN TO THE BEAUTIFUL, NATURAL WHITE ENAMEL WITHOUT INJURY. No ordinary brushing can make teeth so white. No mouthwash can give the mouth a cleaner taste.

Why have dull, yellow teeth? Clean them sparkling white and keep them sound and free from decay this way. Start using the Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique. Results overnight. Buy a tube of Kolynos.

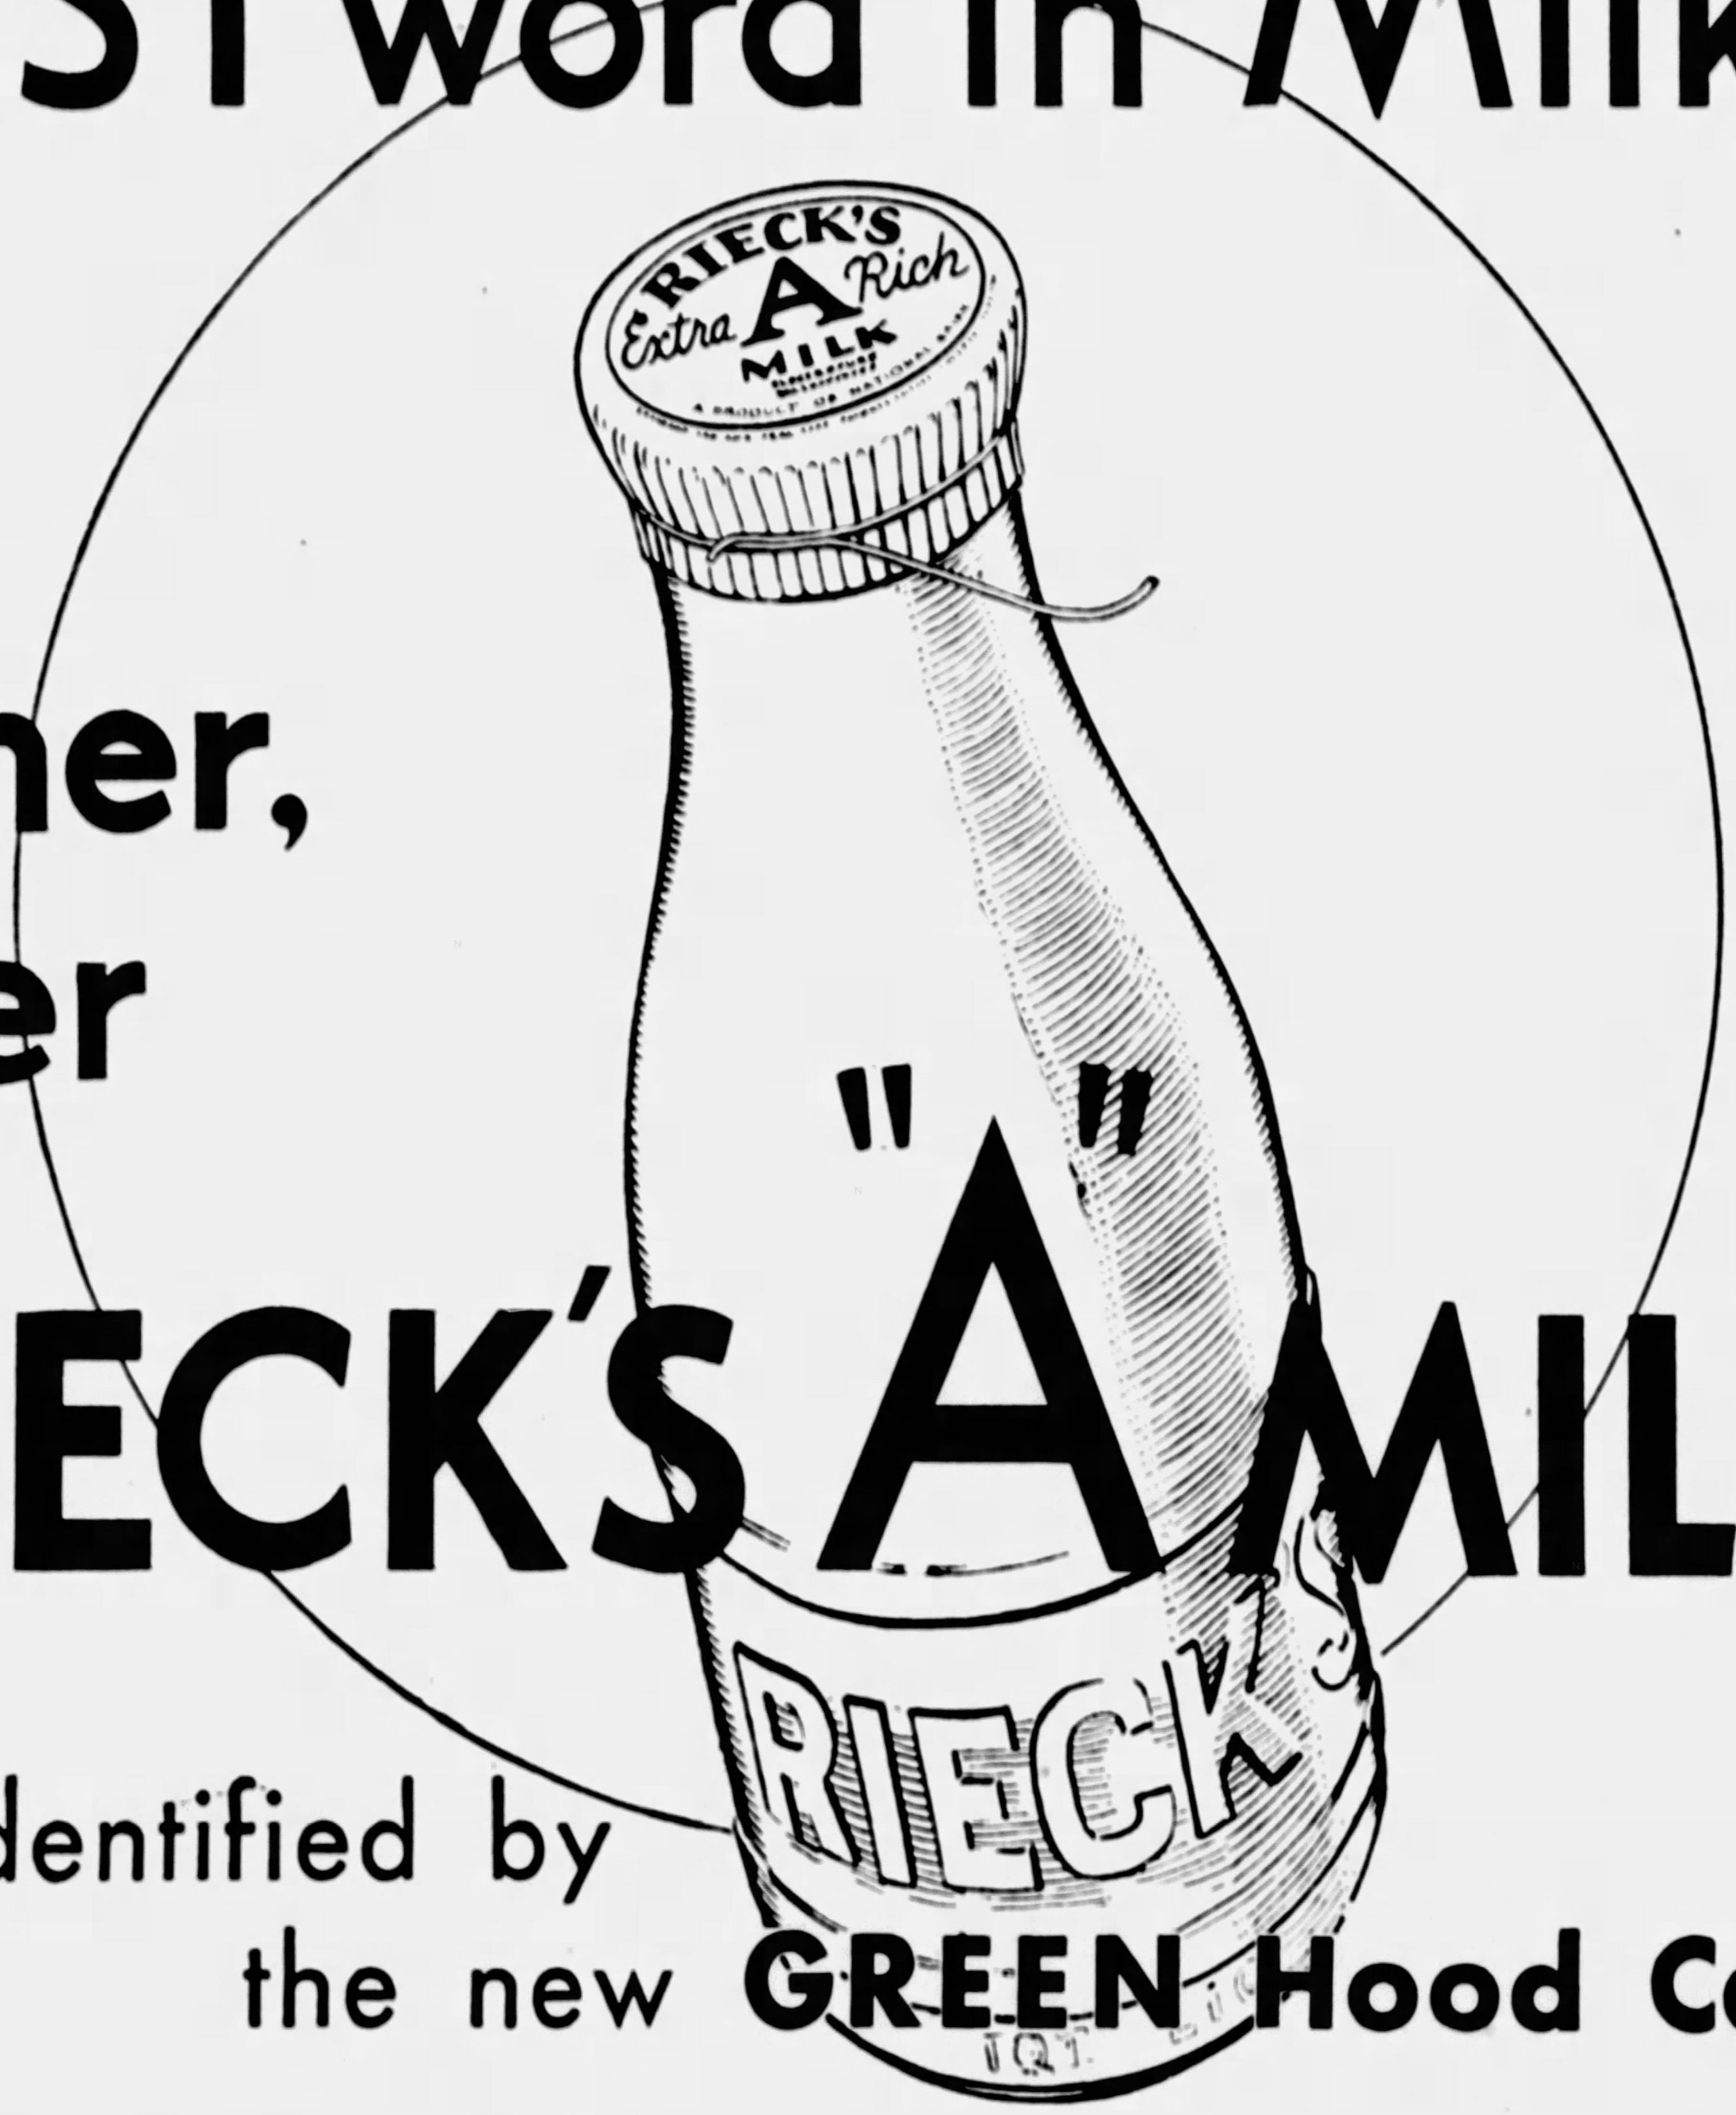
The LAST word in Milk



A richer, finer

RIECK'S "A" MILK

Protected and identified by the new GREEN Hood Cap

HERE'S news for Pittsburgh! A richer, finer Rieck's "A" Milk — with added conveniences — added protection — and delivered to your home at the lowest price for a premium milk in the history of the city.

The new Rieck's "A" Milk is identified by a GREEN-Colored Hood Cap — the latest and finest protective device in the dairy industry. This cap covers the entire top of the bottle and is affixed by a WELDED-SEAL — easy to open — that insures the milk reaching your home as pure as it left the Rieck plant.

Rieck's "A" Milk comes only from selected, healthy cows — quartered on selected Rieck farms — fed on a carefully-planned diet — and under the constant supervision of trained dairy experts.

As additional safeguards — the milk is tested before and after leaving the farm — perfectly pasteurized — automatically sealed in TRIPLY PROTECTED bottles — delivered to you cold and fresh in the morning.

Now — at this new low price — the lowest in the history of Pittsburgh — every family can afford this richer and finer Rieck's "A" Milk. Order your supply at once — you'll know it by the GREEN Hood Cap.

THIS new GREEN Hood Cap — affixed by a WELDED-SEAL — completely protects the pouring lip of the bottle against contamination — both before and after the milk reaches your home. A slight downward pull on the wire breaks the seal. This unbroken seal is your absolute protection against any tampering with the milk in transit to your home.

THIS inside PULL CAP is fitted snugly into the top of the bottle by an automatic machine — the first of the triple safeguards thrown around the extra purity and extra quality of Rieck's "A" Milk after bottling. It prevents any spilling or seeping of the milk and effectively seals the milk against exposure to the air. It is easily removed by the fingers.

IMPORTANT: There is no change in the price of Rieck's Electropure Pasteurized Milk. Delivered to your home — anywhere in the city — at 9c a Quart.

TELL IT TO SALLY -:- -:- Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day -:- -:- By SALLY MARTIN

Should a Girl Tolerate Boss' Kisses for Sake of Job?

That's a serious question to Gertie. She needs that job, and if the boss thinks he's any treat to her he's badly mistaken.

But she's afraid to tell him so, because if he should fire her what would she do—starve?

Ever meet a stumper like that? If you did, tell us what you did about it, and what happened.

Dear Sally Martin:

I wonder if you can help me with some of your advice. I certainly am in dire need of it, for I am confronted with a situation that I honestly don't know what to do about.

KISSED BY BOSS

I have a job—a job that many girls, I know, would be simply tickled pink to have. I was, too, until lately, because my boss had always kept his place and treated me like any decent business woman would expect to be treated.

Now he knows that I am married, and he apparently thinks because I am that he has the privilege of making advances to me, for that is what he has done. This is the way it happened.

About 3 o'clock yesterday, I went to the part of the office (which is out of sight of anyone in the front part) to wash my hands. He followed me. I did not think anything about that, as he often goes back there to get supplies that he needs. But this time, before I could utter a word, I found myself being kissed passionately and held tight in his arms.

Naturally I struggled and pleaded with him, but he said he "wouldn't do anything wrong" and "all he wanted from me was an occasional kiss." But I hate to be mauled by anybody, so it was all very unpleasant to me.

I would have quit right there, but my husband is going to be laid off shortly and I need this job. And I am afraid that I will lose it if I do not allow him to kiss me.

NEEDS THE JOB

I abhor his attentions, but what shall I do about it? I know that my husband would want me to quit instantly, if he knew. He is very jealous. But what will we do then? Starve?

Perhaps I am to blame, but please help me. I don't know what to do. I am in a daze. I don't know what is right or wrong to do now under the circumstances. But I do know that I love my husband dearly and wouldn't want to hurt him in any way, and I know that I don't want any other man mauling me, either.

I wish men had brains enough to know that a woman isn't dying to be kissed by just anything that wears trousers! This creature makes me sick!

But please, won't you tell me what to do? I'll be waiting anxiously.

GERTRUDE.

That is a tough spot, kid. And of course this man needs to have some sense of decency walloped into him. But you can't very well do that, can you?

AVOID BEING ALONE

However, you can compel him to respect you, Honey, if you go about it in the right way. I suspect you made a mistake when you "pleaded" with him. You should have told him, pleasantly, but coolly and definitely, that you were there to work and for no other purpose, and that you wouldn't stand for any foolishness from anyone, then or at any other time.

And the chances are that he would have respected you for straight-from-the shoulder courage and fineness.

Or you might have appealed to his sense of chivalry. Strangely enough, that appeal will often work with many a man who appears to be 100% pup.

But at this late date it may be hard to take either course. However, you can avoid being alone with him. You can see to it that you are always close to some of the other people in the office. Then, if he still persists and it comes to a showdown, you can still give him to understand that you don't intend to be imposed on.

Will he get mad and fire you? I don't know, Gertrude. But I do know that you'll lose your own self-respect and your husband's love if you buy a job at such a price. And that seems to me a much greater risk than a spell of unemployment.

Eloquence Can Make Any Cause Seem Right, Declares Fay King

THE ORATOR
AN ELOQUENT SPEAKER IS VERY VALUABLE TO ANY CAUSE FAY KING

By FAY KING

In ancient times it was the custom to carry an orator along with the army.

At the feast of victory it was the orator's duty to praise with his eloquence the conqueror and his victorious army.

Once an orator had just done so with great success.

But the conqueror in a whim of the moment ordered the orator to rise again and this time to praise the opposing forces.

Instantly the gifted orator launched upon an equally eloquent and edifying oration in which the enemy was now made worthy of victory and practically cheated out of it.

His listeners became enraged and the orator was slain.

Lead Poisoning Often the Result of Carelessness

In this age of machinery and advancement in medicine, lead poisoning is not so common as formerly. However, "plumbism," or lead poisoning, is still the most serious of all occupational diseases.

Dr. Copeland

In most cases the poisoning is due to neglect and carelessness, and it is usually a slow but progressive condition. The lead is gradually stored in the organs and tissues of the body. As a result of this accumulation, in course of time the body is poisoned.

The disease is frequently found in workers who are careless in the handling of lead. They inhale the dust or fumes of the lead. This causes damage to the lungs, kidneys, liver and intestines.

Individuals who are not lead workers may become afflicted with this disease. There are many chances for accidental poisoning. It may be caused by drinking water, foods or beverages that have been contaminated by lead. This contamination may be produced by lead pipes, lead utensils or chemical compounds.

It may occur from lead in paint. Babies may poison themselves by eating the lead paint from their cribs. Face powders, hair dyes and cosmetics containing an excess of lead used to be a common cause of such poisoning.

The symptoms of lead poisoning are colic, constipation, palsy, anemia, a blue line in the gums, "rheumatic" pains and nervous complications. A characteristic sign in lead poisoning is the so-called wrist drop. This is caused by the paralysis of the muscles in the forearm with a dropping of or inability to hold up the wrists. The pains in the joint are often mistaken for rheumatism. The sufferer is pale and presents the usual signs of anemia.

Many preventive measures are now taken to guard against this disease. Fortunately we have food and drug laws which prohibit the manufacture and sale of substances containing lead. A careful analysis of the water supply protects against lead poisoning. Lead water pipes are no longer used in building construction.

I am happy to say that great progress has been made also in the protection of the industrial worker. Hoods, ventilating fans, masks, glasses and gloves now protect the lead worker from this serious disease. Personal hygiene and cleanliness are imperative in its prevention.

If you are engaged in any work which involves the handling of lead, always wash your hands after work and before eating. Never eat at your work. Change your working clothes as soon as you are through with your work. Avoid alcoholic beverages and do not smoke while working.

Eat good, nutritious food and drink plenty of milk. Never go to work without breakfast. When the stomach is empty the body becomes more susceptible to the poisonous effects of lead. Consult with your physician at the first sign of poor health.

Contract Bridge :-:

OFFICIAL SYSTEM
As Adopted by Leading Authorities

By E. V. SHEPARD

Deceiving Partner Proves Costly

Unless employed as a last resort, never deceive your partner. The hand shown below illustrates how expensive a careless error may prove, especially when normal play would have insured a comfortable penalty from the declarer, as well as avoiding handing him a doubled contract when he is vulnerable.

	♠ 8 ♥ 10 8 3 2 ♣ Q 3 ♦ A K Q 6 5 3
♠ J 7 3 ♥ A J 9 7 ♣ 8 6 2 ♦ 10 8 2	Y A B Z	♠ K Q ♥ K ♣ K J 10 9 7 5 ♦ J 9 7 4
	♠ A 10 9 6 5 4 2 ♥ Q 6 5 4 ♣ A 4 ♦ (none)

Z's opening bid of 1-Spade was neither good or bad; his rebidding values justified the declaration. A passed. Of course Y felt obliged to attempt a take-out of 2-Diamonds. B passed. Z jumped to 3-Spades, and when Y repeated his warning of shortness in spades, by bidding 4-Diamonds, Z bid 4-Spades. Both sides were vulnerable, and B made a free double (this term is employed when a contract for game is doubled, because fulfillment of a game contract insures a game score, whether or not the contract is doubled).

A's opening lead was the 8 of clubs. In turn the players covered with Y's Q, B's K and the declarer's Ace. Z's return lead of the 4 of clubs seemed to B an indication that the declarer held another club, and that he intended ruffing a later lead of that suit with dummy's lone 8 of spades. B won the trick and he would at once have led a trump had not his partner deceived him through the manner in which he played his clubs. It is a cardinal principle that when a player leads the top of a short suit he shall afterwards play cards of that suit in regular order. Having led his 8, on the next trick A should have played his cards in descending sequence, causing his 6 to fall on the second round. A's partner would have noted that the 2 was missing, and he would have credited A with that card. When A led the 8, then played the 2 on the next round he definitely stated that he held no card between the 8 and the 2.

Of course B should have taken out dummy's sole trump, but he feared that doing so would enable the declarer to win the trump trick, enter dummy with a lone diamond, then discard his losing club upon one of Y's top diamonds. Thinking that Z held the missing 6 of clubs, and that A could trump higher than Y, B thought he was doing the proper thing in leading back a winning club for his partner to trump. Of course, the declarer discarded a losing heart and dummy trumped, then Z discarded three losing hearts upon dummy's A-K-Q of diamonds, saving three tricks on the play of the hand, aside from the heart already discarded upon B's mistaken club lead. The declarer wound up with the loss of one club trick and two trump tricks, fulfilling his doubled contract of 4-Spades—240 points below the line, and 100 points for fulfillment of a doubled contract, vulnerable. The rubber bonus of 500 points gave Z a total score of 840 points on the hand. The contract should have been defeated by three tricks, costing a penalty of 1,000 points. The error of B cost his side just 1,840 points.

Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Chinese Menace Again Plagues Madge

Dicky hesitated for a second or two that seemed an eternity, when I asked him if he still believed that I had subconsciously written the speeches of Vickers.

"Don't get the little feelings all harrowed up. Everything is all perfectly jake with me, and I'll be ready to start to do the heavy amanuensis-collaborator stunt, or what have you, after about an hour. I've got to do a little sentry-go and patrol duty before then. Harry's away, you know, so I'm on a double shift."

I felt as if a cold wind were blowing over me at this reminder of the menace which hung over the farmhouse, because of the determination of the mysterious Chinese to secure possession of Marion's lockbox with its secret compartment, holding no one knew what lure for the Orientals.

"Oh!" I said, suddenly remembering, "the girls have gone then."

"Yes, early this morning," Dicky replied. "Harry went with them and isn't going to leave them until he is satisfied that the secret service operator your father has stationed up there is strictly on the job. If you ask me, I don't think the danger from the Chinese is one, two, three with the stunt that that Owen lad is trying to pull."

"Why! why!" I stammered, "what do you know about Charles Owen? Oh, of course," with sudden rememberance, "Harry told you."

"Yes," Dicky said dryly, "not belonging to the Female Secret Society of the farmhouse, he did that little thing."

I flushed, for I knew to what Dicky's irritated allusion referred. He always contends that Lillian, Katherine and I are a close corporation, keeping jealously to ourselves the details of any plans we make for the welfare of the household in the solving of any unexpected problems which come up in its management.

I parried the thrust by asking tensely, "Does Lillian know?"

"What do you think?" he asked. "Do you know so little of Harry as to think that he would send Lil 'clean off her dome with that worry?"

"I know what he said he wouldn't tell her," I replied, "but——"

"Knowing Lil's omniscience, you weren't sure that she hadn't wormed it out of him?"

I flushed at his teasing, but stood my ground.

"I might have known she didn't suspect," I said, "for if she had even the faintest inkling of Charley Owen's scheme, she never would permit Marion to come within speaking distance of him."

"Right you are, old dear, but I'm not so sure old Harry was wise in letting her go up there. Owen's a scoundrel, but he is a fascinating devil, and you know there's no person so susceptible to the wiles of a middle-aged man of the world as a very young girl."

"Yes, I believe every girl under 25 is supposed to have fallen in love with a man much older than herself sometime in her life."

"Ah!" he ejaculated, "just who was the old pappy-guy for whom you fell before you were 25?"

I wrinkled my nose at him mutinously.

"I have forgotten, but I'm sure there was one. However, that is beside the question. Do you think there is the remotest prospect of Marion becoming interested in——"

"If you will stop up your ears," Dicky grinned, "I'll finish your sentence with a string of epithets which would make a Greenwich Village poet blush."

"I haven't time," I returned impatiently. "I'll imagine the lot. Please answer my question."

"I do not know," Dicky returned. "Offhand, I should say she was insulted by the rush Ronald has been giving her."

"Yes," I agreed thoughtfully. "I think Ronald can be depended on to absorb all of Marion's attention, and Mary will be strictly on the job if Charles Owen attempts any tricks."

"Yes, I'll back Mary against the field any time," he said comfortably, as he rose and started to the door. With his hand on the knob, he turned and grinned at me. "If any reinforcements are needed, I think Bill would walk barefooted up there."

"Poor Bill," I said, with an indulgent smile, "is he so downhearted then for Marion's going?"

"He was when she left," Dicky rejoined. "You could have used his heart for a refrigerator it was so iced with grief. But when I had given him Harry's dope about watching for that hunted Chinese in the fields and woods around here, Bill said a temporary goodbye to romance and welcomed adventure with wide-open arms. No," as he caught my worried look, "they are in no danger. They have pistols with which they can bluff, but they're not loaded, and though I do not think they will ever discover them, there is one of your father's operatives on their trail every minute of the time."

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

To quickly end stubborn coughs due to colds, it is important to soothe the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, saves money, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germ-laden phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest medicinal agents for severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

Barr and Verona In Conference

By MARK SHIELDS

No matter what the "official" version of the subject matter of yesterday's conference between County Commissioner C. M. Barr and Alderman John Verona, of the Third Ward, the general—and only — political interpretation on the protracted meeting of these dissimilar personalities is that the discussion revolved around Senator James J. Coyne, of the Forty-third District.

Mr. Shields

And the discussion principally hung on ways and means to retire the Senator to private life, in his own district, as well as to embarrass him in any efforts to extend his sphere of influence elsewhere. For example, if he endeavors to elect a Congressman in the Thirty-second District, in which Verona's ward is located, and where Congressman P. J. Sullivan, foe of Coyne, is the incumbent.

Barr's bitterness toward Coyne is pronounced. He seems to consider that a mandate was laid on him by his election to attempt to end Coyne's power in the city. One of his first announcements after election was that "Coyne must go," and the result was a wordy war between the commissioner and the senator, the latter claiming he was a better Independent than the commissioner, and pointing to his support of Gov. Pinchot as proof. Barr and Pinchot are not friends.

In the intervening weeks the antipathy of Barr to Coyne has multiplied. To friend after friend with whom he has discussed political possibilities of the future, including a course to be followed in the primary campaign now in its first stages, he has exhibited a fixity of desire to attack Coyne.

Independents Alone Face Hard Task

To any one conversant with politics, however, it has been apparent that an independent foray on the senator, unsupported by any organization elements, would be extremely doubtful of success. This was especially true with the probability that the Independent fire might be scattered through a multiplicity of anti-Coyne candidates.

However, if Barr could get some aid from a power such as Verona has been, undisputed ruler of his ward before he fell out with Mayor Kline some time ago—and still a tremendous factor—the path of the senator toward reelection might be strewn with serious obstacles.

Whether there has occurred a definite rapprochement between Verona and Barr will soon develop. The evidence will come when and if Barr lets it be known that he is behind a single anti-Coyne candidate, and if Verona accepts the selection. Whether Barr leans toward E. J. Wuerthele, who announced for the Senate with a statement that he was following Barr's invitation to fight Coyne, soon would be disclosed.

Verona is the logical man toward whom Barr should turn for assistance against Coyne—that is logical from the standpoint of practical politics, and not through any kinship of political ideals—for it was Coyne who was mainly responsible for depriving Verona of his police magistracy, and who sent Police Inspector Jimmy Hoey into the ward to see that Verona's people did not get off first base.

Alliance of the Two Forms Odd Picture

But it is odd to see Barr and Verona in such alliance, if political interpretations are correct. It will be recalled that no longer ago than 1927, when Commissioner Charles C. McGovern was first elected over the opposition of former County Commissioners Armstrong and Babcock, who preferred the Democrat, James Houlahen, as an associate, it was Verona's Third Ward which exhibited what might be termed the courage of its defiance of convictions, and made a belated effort to defeat McGovern.

This was done through the reporting from a few districts of tremendous ballot totals for—of all things—a most rabid dry candidate who ran with McGovern, and who, Houlahen being eliminated, was considered preferable by the organization to McGovern. Only a few districts so reported, it is true, but that was because the effort was proven hopeless.

Now political observers say that Verona and McGovern's associate —or partner—on the county board are coming together.

Perhaps the observers are all wrong, and Commissioner Barr was merely making another contact in his conference with Verona. However, it looks more like an attempt to get a "breakdown" on Coyne.

Penn Avenue Fire Damages 2 Stores

A butcher shop and a confectionery in adjoining two-story buildings at 3351-53 Penn avenue were damaged by fire early today. The fire started on the first floor in the rear of the butcher shop of Isadore Baer, 3351 Penn avenue, and spread to the adjoining confectionery of Robert Plonsky, firemen reported. The blaze was confined to the first floor of the buildings. Battalion Chief Davis estimated the damage at [illegible].

PITTSBURGHER ORGANIZING HORSEMEN

Enthusiast for Speaker Forms Committee Here; Plans Journey to Chicago

"Garner for President" will be blazoned across Pennsylvania on the backs of horses ridden by impersonators of Paul Revere, when organization plans are completed by Frederick Tolman, Jr., Pittsburgh Garner booster, he announced today.

Already Garner Clubs have been organized in 16 cities and towns in Western Pennsylvania, according to Tolman, each of which is ready to put a "rider" in the field.

Believing that John N. Garner, Democratic speaker of the House of Representatives, is the people's choice, Tolman has organized his own Garner committee. He has addressed more than 3,500 in New Castle, Sharon, Beaver Falls, Washington, Uniontown, Connellsville, Jeannette, Dubois, Butler, Johnstown, Greensburg and Indiana.

Tolman explains his idea:

"When clubs have been organized throughout the state, riders will visit every country community and town, and when the Democratic convention is held in Chicago we will all take our horses to the Windy City and pull for Garner.

"I have written to Garner suggesting my idea be adopted as a national campaign plan."

SCORES UTILITY VALUE CLAIM

That the assets of the Solar Electric Company, of Brookville, were arbitrarily written up to take care of a $10,000 stock dividend, is the opinion of W. G. Knauff, accountant, testifying for citizens of Brookville who are objecting to the company's rates before the Public Service Commission.

The company's statement of assets is unusual, Knauff testified, in that it places an even amount of money on its values of lines and real estate and shows no surplus or deficit. David I. McCahill, counsel for the Solar Electric Company, attacked Knauff's statement on the ground that he had intimate knowledge of the company's operations.

H. C. Fleck, president of the company, said he had been asked to take the position by officers of the Associated Gas and Electric Company. He denied the Solar company's property is managed in any way by Associated Gas.

Woman Badly Hurt By Hit-Run Auto

Mrs. Catherine Margey, 55, of 2120 Elsie street, was in a serious condition in Pittsburgh Hospital today, a victim of a hit-and-run motorist. Mrs. Margey was struck by an automobile as she stepped from the curb at Fifth avenue and McPherson boulevard to board a street car last night. The license number of the machine was not obtained.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 18.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Flew in here from Detroit. Spent the day with Mr. Ford. When the world is in a hole I go to Ford and ask him, he has more common sense than all of 'em. Then, too, I know there are more people interested in the new Ford than there are interested in Manchuria; they ain't going to get into Manchuria, but they are going to get in these Fords. I think what he feels is what the country needs is a good eight-cylinder car at the price of the old four and a new four at the price of a good baby buggy. He drove me around in everything he had. It's a real tonic to visit a man that has more money invested all over the world than any five men, and more. He said: "Will, you never was as funny purposely, as some of our prominent and rich people are acting these days. This is not a panic, it's a side show, watching folks and seeing how scared they can get."

Yours, WILL.

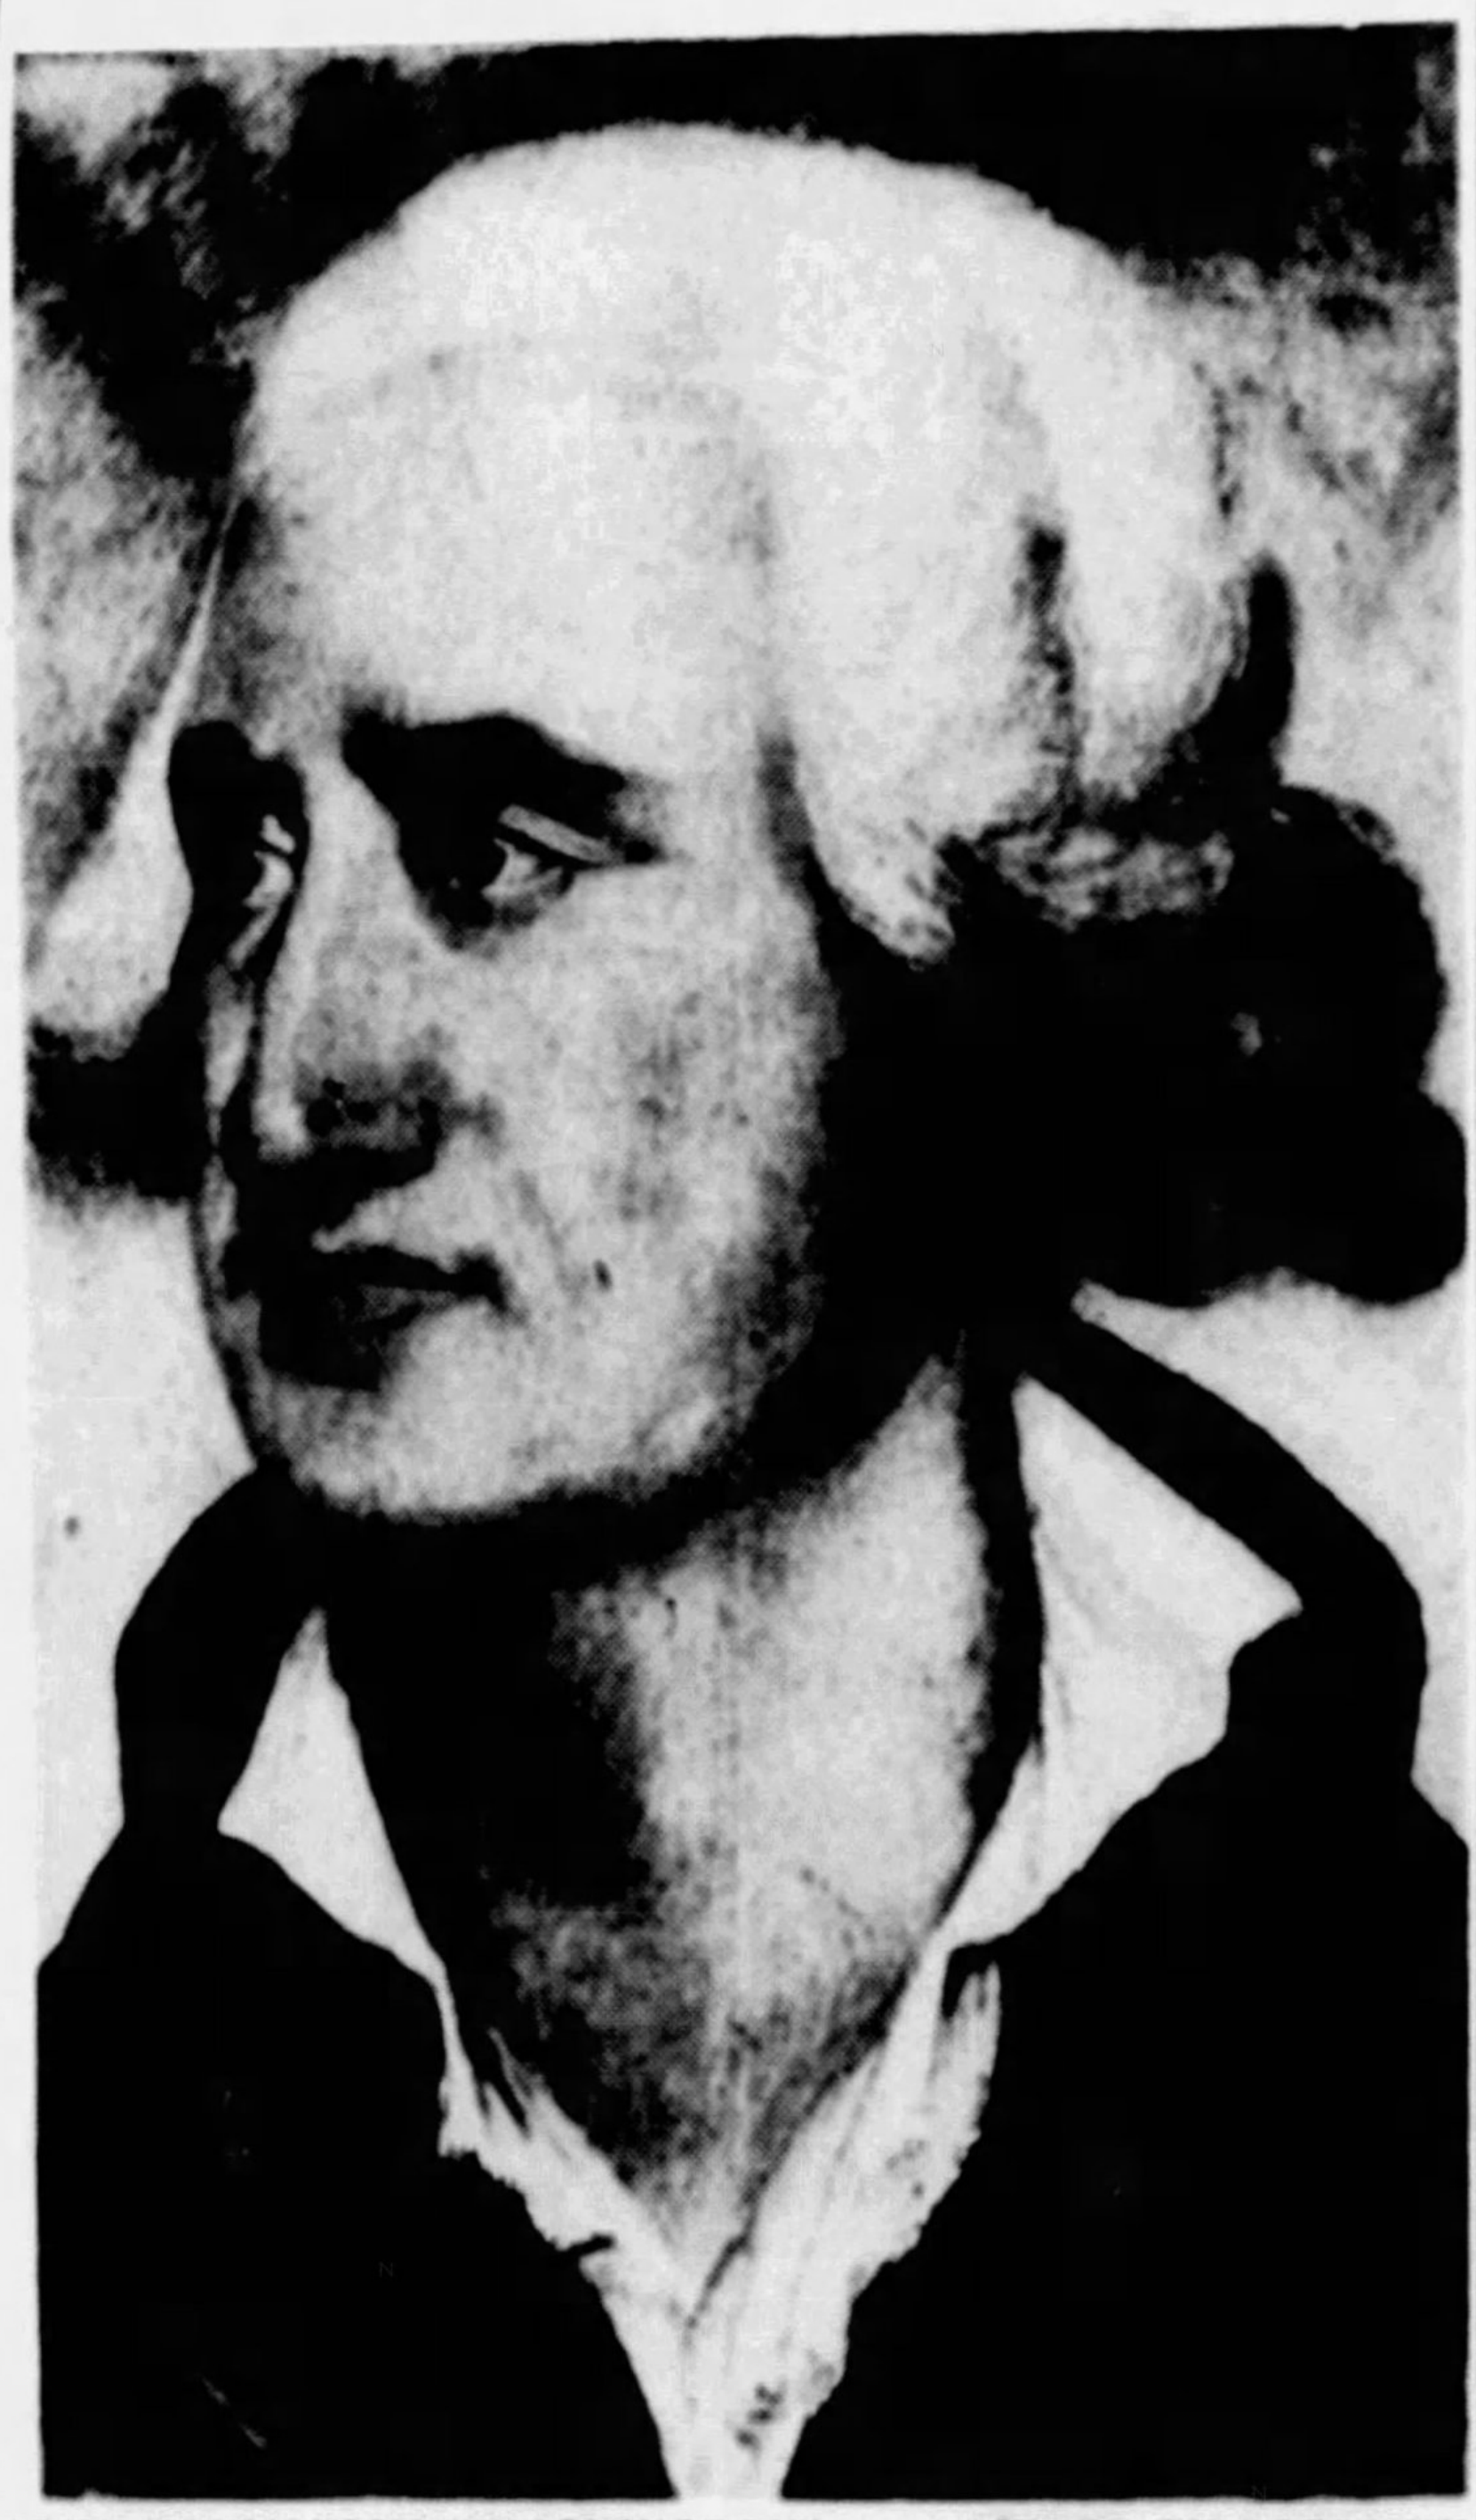
Washington Portrait Given Museum Here



JOHN TRUMBULL'S "WASHINGTON" . . . PAINTED ON DEERSKIN

Miniature Is Also Added to Carnegie Collection

A portrait and a miniature of George Washington by John Trumbull, American artist (1756-1843) have been added to collection of relics of the first president at Carnegie Institute. They are gifts of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Sullivan. Originally sold with other effects of Trumbull at auction in New York City, they were purchased by Pierce Butler.

It is thought Pierce Butler was a Philadelphia lawyer who in 1834 married Fanny Kimball, English actress, and that they were the maternal grandparents of Owen Wister. Butler sold the portraits to Frank Bowles, head of the Bowles Antique Shops, who sold them to Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan in 1899.

WASHINGTON MINIATURE

On the back of the frame in Trumbull's handwriting, is the inscription, "General George Washington in early morning dress. The only one I made . . ." It is impossible to decipher the date.

The picture is considered valuable because the informality of the costume gives an important clue to the personal appearance of young Washington.

The miniature is executed on ivory 2⅞ inches in width and 2⅝ inches in height. Washington wears a tricornered hat and is dressed in the uniform of a Continental general. It also is signed "J. T." It was framed in the center of eight others of similar size, depicting Israel Putnam, Anthony Wayne, Nathaniel Green, Morgan Lewis, Daniel Morgan, Benjamin Franklin and Horatio Gates.

History records Washington sat many times for Trumbull. Eleven sittings are recorded in Washington's diary between February 12 and July 13, 1790 "for Mr. Trumbull for the purpose of drawing my picture." Trumbull was one of Washington's aides-de-camp in the Revolutionary War and an intimate friend for many years.

Auto Falls 50 Feet, Driver Uninjured

The automobile swerved and rolled down the hill after one of the tires blew out. Boney crawled out of the overturned machine without a scratch, police said.

FIRE INJURES 3 IN E. CARNEGIE

Two firemen and a patrolman were overcome by smoke while fighting a fire in the old Shawan School, Duncan way, East Carnegie, late last night.

Frank Simmonds and Edward Currans, of the East Carnegie Fire Department, and officer John Hancock, of the East Carnegie police, were carried from the building overcome by smoke, and were revived at the scene of the fire and sent home.

The fire originated near the furnace and was confined to the front of the one-story frame building. Firemen estimated the damage at $1,000. The building, formerly a schoolhouse, has been used for church services by the First Spiritual Church.

Hagmaier to Run For Another Term

State Assemblyman Louis W. Hagmaier, of the Thirteenth District, has announced his candidacy for another term. He said:

Current Cure For Thirst Is to Enlist in a Raid

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Now that they've got their fat endowment again, the enforcers will get busy axing doors. Any time we want a drink all we have to do is join a raid.

We can't see how the Republicans dovetail the dry appropriation with their proposed resubmission plank. Our inside man with the six-tube ears tells us that the next Republican platform will carry a liquor rider wetter than the old man of the sea on Sinbad's back.

They will call it resubmission of the Eighteenth Amendment and it gives the public a chance to vote again.

Whether they want that chance is problematical when they remember what happened to them the last time they voted.

TECH DESIGNERS WIN PRIZES

Student Architects Take Six Awards In New York

Carnegie Tech students in the College of Fine Arts are winning an exceptionally large number of awards in art competitions this year. Six of the 21 awards given in the annual Beaux Arts Contest in New York last week went to Tech boys. Thirty-six architectural schools throughout the country entered contestants. The problem was an architectural terra cotta plant.

Three first and three second medals were also awarded to Tech boys for designing an entrance and lobby of a radio university in a contest sponsored by the Association of the Alumni of the American Academy in Rome, it was announced yesterday. These designs are now on exhibition at the Art Center, 65 East Fifty-sixth street, New York.

Beaux Arts winners included James A. Mitchell, 23, 5845 Nicholson avenue; W. R. James, 20, North Carolina; C. J. Kissling, 23, 2723 Voelkel street; H. E. Miller, 24, Jamestown, N. Y.; S. J. Tariello, 26, Buffalo, N. Y., and J. G. Watson, 20, Danville, Va. C. A. Stoody, graduate of Carnegie Tech, now studying at Columbia University, also received an award.

These boys won first medals in the collaborative contest: Melvin Morris, 22, senior architect, of 152 Baynes street, Buffalo; Edward Schade, 22, sub-senior architect, of 2934 Espy avenue, Dormont, and Raymond Barger, 25, Brunswick, Md. Second medals went to three other students, James Henry McNaughton, 19, sophomore architect, of Bakerstown; Edward John Bocchicchio, 6435 Clifford street, and Oltrado John Lisotto, 22, of 6516 Apple avenue.

Other medals were awarded to students from Yale and Armour Institute in Chicago.

FIXED RENTALS REPORTED LACKING

Investigators Urge Sale Or Adequate Income; Purchase of Expo Asked

That tenants are occupying city property in many cases without leases or any other agreement to show the amount of rental or the term of occupancy is charged by the Building Owners and Managers Association, which has been investigating the handling of city properties.

Much of the leasing is done without reference to present rental values, the building owners declare in a letter to John S. Herron, president of Council, following a recent conference with members of Council.

An immediate survey of city property, with the idea of either selling it and getting it back on the tax books or leasing it at a fair value, is suggested, and assistance is pledged for such a survey. Some of the rentals are described as "ridiculously low."

An immediate audit of the Western Pennsylvania Exposition Society's accounts with the idea of taking advantage of an agreement to buy the building for the outstanding debts was also suggested. The saving from such a move is estimated at $100,000.

A monthly tax payment plan is suggested as a method of increasing collections by making it easier to pay. Taxes delinquent prior to 1925 should be investigated, and where the taxes are uncollectable, the properties should be sold, the letter states.

WOMAN BEATS 2 POLICEMEN

The plea of Margaret Davis, 24, that she be given a chance to "straighten out," was refused in Morals Court today when police testified she beat up two patrolmen and wrecked the interior of the matron's quarters at Central Police Court. She was fined $25 or 30 days in the workhouse.

The young woman, who said she has no home, was accused of attacking Wagonmen John Macher and Jacob Sarver when they found her at North avenue and Arch street. At Central, police said, she smashed windows with an iron chair. Several men, walking in Water street, escaped the shower of glass, it was said.

She testified she had been in Sharpsburg with her husband and his boss last night and that she was arrested for being drunk. Police released her, she said, and gave her 50 cents so she could go home. Sharpsburg authorities said they had no record of her arrest.

FIVE CAPTURED IN GUN FIGHT

Five Negro suspects, under arrest in Westmoreland County, have been identified, partially, as the gunmen who participated in the $4,000 holdup of the Bunker Hill carbarns this week, it was reported early today.

They were arrested following the holdup of a Trafford City chain store. They confessed other robberies, county detectives reported.

They said they were Edward Davis, 34, of 1235 Cherry street; George McKinney, 24, of 1221 Cherry street; William Pearson, 24, of 1109 Woodway avenue, all of Braddock; Clarence Smith, 38, of Adrian avenue, Trafford City, and Newton Elston, 23, of Miller avenue, Rankin.

Edgewood Awards Building Contract

The general contract for Edgewood's new municipal building was awarded Erik Lawson, Swissvale, last night for $38,950; plumbing to Weldon & Kelly Company, Pittsburgh, $3,310, and electrical work to the Hale Electrical Company, East Liberty, at $2,389.

Jobless Cigaret Stealer Saved From Jail Here

Thanks to an unidentified Samaritan, James Cummings, the jobless man from Youngstown, won't have to serve the 10 days in jail to which a magistrate sentenced him yesterday for the theft of a package of cigarets.

The $5.50 which satisfied the law in Cummings' case was paid by a stranger who appeared at South Side Police Station last night. He told the sergeant he couldn't see a man go to jail because he "reached" for a cigaret.

Magistrate John J. Sweeney sent the man to jail after it was testified that he had stolen a package of cigarets from a South Side confectioner to satisfy his craving for a smoke. He also testified he walked from Youngstown to Pittsburgh in search of a job.

POPULAR VOTE ON SUBWAY PROPOSED

English Would Let People Decide on Route, Extent Of City Transit Project

Suggestion that an expression of the voters be sought relative to the route of the proposed Downtown subway loop had been made today by Councilman W. Y. English.

English proposed that aside from the route decision, voters should be permitted to express an opinion whether there should be a subway constructed at all. The question should be put before the voters at the April primaries, he told the City Transit Commission at a hearing yesterday.

Aside from this, English asserted the voters should decide whether a complete rapid transit system over the city should be constructed.

$8,300 ASKED FOR WORK

The solution came when L. V. Monteverde and other members of the Commission asked Council for $8,300 to continue the Bureau of City Transit's activities for 1932. Council declared a "moratorium" on transit activities during the recent budget sessions.

Council took the request under advisement. The Commission will be advised of any Councilmanic action in the near future, President John S. Herron said.

In explaining the Commission's situation, Monteverde said it would be tragic if the subway project was dropped because of failure to appropriate 1932 operating expenses.

URGES LARGE PROJECT

He said:

"I am opposed to an expenditure of $6,000,000 for Downtown subway construction unless there is some assurance that the entire project will be completed all over the city. We don't want to build a subway without a customer. The Pittsburgh Railways Company has agreed tentatively to return to the city all savings made in the operation of an underground loop as against surface car operations."

Objecting to English's plan to put the matter up to the voters at the primaries, Councilman P. J. McArdle declared:

"If the matter was put up to the voters I doubt whether you would get even a plurality on public expression."

BACKS TRANSIT BUREAU

Councilman Charles Anderson said that under no consideration should the commission or the Bureau of City Transit be abolished.

Monteverde, in pleading for funds, said the money was partly necessary to secure passage in the 1933 Legislature providing for district assessments against property benefited by the underground transit system.

Eighty-five per cent of the survey work has already been completed, according to Monteverde. More than $300,000 has been spent. Of this amount $175,000 was for research work and $125,000 for construction work on the Sixth Street Bridge piers.

STORES URGE FAIR PRICES

The depression is over and merchants must speed prosperity by establishing a sensible price range for the best quality of goods, D. S. Farley, district manager of the Kroger stores, declared last night at a mass meeting of more than 400 company employes. He said:

"Customers are no longer interested in a price merchandise of average quality. They want only the best quality at sensible prices."

Farley presided at the meeting, which was held in the Chamber of Commerce, where the employes were the guests of the management. William E. Burke, Kroger sales manager for this district, and C. C. Culp, representing the Stokely Brothers, vegetable canners, were the other speakers.

Burke outlined plans for continuing and developing the Farley quality policies, which, he said, have been so successful here. Culp, after congratulating the Kroger men on their sales record here, sketched the methods of growing and packing Stokely's vegetables.

JACK PICKFORD DIVORCE NEAR

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 18.—(INS.)—Jack Pickford, film actor, brother of Mary Pickford Fairbanks, admitted today that he and his pretty chorus dancer wife, Mary Mulhern, had separated and that a divorce likely would result.

Miss Mulhern's attorneys will be instructed to prepare a divorce suit, Pickford explained.

"Miss Mulhern is an awfully nice girl. I'm sorry we couldn't make a go of our marriage."

Pickford's statement was in sharp contrast to one by Miss Mulhern here Tuesday when she said:

"Me, divorce Jack? That's silly. I'm sleeping in his Hollywood apartment right now and Jack's asleep in the next room. That doesn't look like a divorce. Does it?"

Miss Mulhern is Pickford's third wife. He first was married to Olive Thomas, Pittsburgh film actress, who died in Paris under mysterious circumstances.

'VOODOO' RITES BRING DEATH

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 18.—(AP.)—Trembling lips in the Negro sections of New Orleans are whispering about the terrifying powers of the voodoo serpent god which they say drove Lilah Wheatley to the same watery grave that claimed his sweetheart last Sunday.

A night watchman told police he saw a Negro answering the description of Wheatley push Lucille Williams, 19, into a canal and flee.

Her body was recovered and relatives buried it with the Congo voodoo rites prevalent in the old slave days of Louisiana. The ritual included a ceremony where the serpent god was asked to bring the murderer back to the scene of his crime.

Kinsmen of the girl told police of the ceremony and advised them to watch the canal for Wheatley's body.

Police said they have no doubt he heard of the "gris-gris," petition to the serpent god, and went forthwith to fling himself into the water.

Anderson said a liquor distillery was discovered near Wyatt's house, and that Wyatt neither admitted nor denied the charge. He was arraigned before the United States Commissioner at Waverly, Tenn., who fixed his bond at $1,000. Preliminary hearing was set for Monday.

The deputy marshal said Wyatt and another man had been observed working at the still. The other man has not been arrested, he said.

JOB PLAN FAILS TO AID MANY IN COUNTY

Emergency Work Denied In 77 Municipal Units Not Giving Co-operation

Distressed needy from 77 communities in Allegheny County can obtain no work from the Allegheny County Emergency Association, it was ascertained today.

The cause lies not with the association, it was learned, but the failure, for one reason or another, of the communities to create projects on which the men can work.

45 CO-OPERATE

The association supplies the men and pays their wages for any community that has a public project to develop. Only 45 of the county's 122 municipalities have co-operated with the association.

This lack of co-operation, it was explained, may be due in some instances to a community's self-sufficiency in relief matters, or to lack of funds to put through the projects. A street project started recently in McKees Rocks was called off because of the borough's low funds.

RESIDENCE REGULATION

Because of requirements of the various towns, boroughs, townships and cities, it is impossible, relief authorities say, to put needy to work in communities other than their own. To do so, they say, would arouse a storm of criticism and cause municipalities to cancel the projects.

No estimate of the number of men unable to obtain work for this reason is obtainable, but it may be large.

In a few instances, "white collar" workers have been put to work in institutions such as the university and Carnegie Tech, regardless of from what towns they come.

Any worker, however, can obtain relief from Welfare Fund or other agencies, it was learned. This relief is not dependent on municipal boundaries in any way.

BENCH SPURNED BY SCHNADER

HARRISBURG, Feb. 18.—(INS.)—Attorney General William A. Schnader has declined a place on the Supreme Court bench offered him by Gov. Gifford Pinchot, it was disclosed today as the executive explained the delay in appointing a successor to the late Justice Emory A. Walling, of Erie.

Although Gov. Pinchot has made repeated offers to Attorney General Schnader since December 30, when Justice Walling died, they had been refused because of pending state litigation, the attorney revealed in a letter to the executive now made public.

Confirmation of Schnader's rejection of the proffered office again brought to the fore the names of Judge William B. Linn, of Superior Court, and Judge William M. Parker, of Venango County.

VOTE MACHINE SUIT ARGUED

Arguments on exceptions to the decision of Judge F. P. Patterson, in the Ada Bassett suit against the county to prevent the payment of $400,000 balance due the Poole Engineering and Machine Company for furnishing 1,100 vote machines, were heard today by Judges Patterson and F. J. Snee. Judge Patterson had dismissed the Bassett bill in equity.

Charles F. C. Arensberg argued that the bonds put up did not fully protect the county. O. K. Eaton, opposing, said the first bond put up $200,000, guaranteed mechanical perfection and service, while a second bond for $420,000 was put up in a mandamus case brought by the Poole Company after the county paid the bill and that exceptions had never been filed to that decision.

Banker Defies Law, Honesty Brings Jail

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—(AP.)—When the law held that John G. Jenkins was under no legal obligation to pay creditors $706,000, he ignored it. He paid in full, working 14 years to do it.

When the law held he had to pay promptly $4,000 in connection with an estate he was settling, again he paid no attention. So he went to jail two weeks ago.

He doesn't mind being there, the Brooklyn banker said today. He is enjoying himself and is in no hurry to leave. But astonished friends are taking energetic action to obtain his release.

As executor of the estate, he delayed making special bequests specified in the will, because to do so would have necessitated selling securities at great loss. He didn't bother to explain about it to the lawyers.

OWNER CLEARS FIREMEN

It was all a mistake, Attorney Sidney L. Silverman told Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court today when his client, Max Cohen, accused firemen of stealing a case of boots and another of caps from his store during a fire there early January 31.

Cohen's accusation brought an investigation from the fire department and his arrest on a suspicious person charge by the bomb and arson squad of the detective bureau.

He was arraigned this morning and discharged.

Despite Cohen's admission that he was wrong about the theft of the caps and boots, Battalion Chief George Spahr said the investigation of the charge and of the fire itself would be continued

MINER TRAPPED 24 HOURS SAVED

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 18.—(AP.)—Just 24 hours after he was pinned under a coal and rock fall in an abandoned tunnel of an anthracite mine near here, Joseph Petorick was tugged free and brought to the surface last night.

He was conscious and apparently not badly hurt. A first aid squad took him to a hospital for treatment for exposure.

The feverish efforts of eight skilled miners to remove the debris which covered the trapped miner ended with the rescuers tying a rope around the upper part of his body and tugging him from under the rocks which still covered his legs.

Earlier the same method of freeing the man was attempted but halted because of the intense pain to Petorick and a fresh slide which covered him.

Feeding the Frozen Birds Was Finest Role Of Mrs. Fiske

By GEORGE SEIBEL

When I heard the news that Mrs. Fiske was dead, she rose before me as I first saw her at close range, in her suite at the Schenley Hotel one Sunday morning between her two weeks in "Mary of Magdala" and "Hedda Gabler." We were having breakfast that morning and she apologized for the cold room. It was winter outside but her window was open to permit the pigeons that hovered about the hotel to come in and get warm while picking up crumbs she had scattered upon the hearth. She did not mind being cold herself but she felt sorry for the hungry pigeons.

George Seibel

That incident is typical of Mrs. Fiske the woman, apart from Mrs. Fiske the actress. She was a most sensitive soul. The suffering of animals particularly stirred her sympathies. She would wear no furs for that reason, and was a vegetarian at least in theory, as so many vegetarians are. She called herself a Socialist, though she knew but little of economic science or the [illegible] of Socialism. [illegible] was [illegible] a solution [illegible] misery and poverty [illegible] the problem of the world.

HER VIEW OF THE WAR

Just when the [illegible] in Europe was beginning I had a chat with her, and about a year later, when the carnage was at its height, I saw her again. She greeted me with the words: "I've thought every day of what you said the last time we met." Not remembering that I had said anything of special importance, I inquired what it was.

"I said," she reminded me, "that there wouldn't be any war—there couldn't be any war—that the world was too civilized and humanity too far advanced for any such possibility. Then you said," she reminded me, "'My dear lady, where did you acquire your extraordinary delusion that the world is civilized?'"

The war made Mrs. Fiske a strong advocate of peace. She felt there was no hope for humanity unless humanity lays down its arms. She abhorred militarism and everything connected with it, just as she abhorred vivisection and other cruelties of science.

HER OWN HUMILITY

Personally she was one of the most retiring of all great actresses, almost a recluse, and one of the most humble about her art. I have never heard her utter a syllable in praise of her own work, though she extolled the work of many who played with her. This humility also extended outside the sphere of her stage life. She once confessed to a dear friend that she thought she had lived a useless and selfish existence, that she felt quite unworthy of happiness in life because she had done no good in the world. This friend tried to laugh her out of that state of humility, but it is doubtful if she succeeded.

Mrs. Fiske, her own estimate notwithstanding, was one of the kindest and most helpful human beings that ever lived. Many a young author owes his start to her. Among these were Edward Sheldon, who wrote "Salvation Nell," Langdon Mitchell, who dramatized "Becky Sharp," and many others.

She herself admired Ibsen above all dramatists and told me the best education for any actor was to play Ibsen roles. She put on "A Doll's House," "Hedda Gabler," "Rosmersholm," "Pillars of Society" and "Ghosts."

AS HARDY'S HEROINE

The first time I saw her on the stage was in the old Bijou Theater, where she appeared in a dramatization of Thomas Hardy's great novel, "Tess of the D'Urbervilles." One of the striking things about that production was the final scene showing Stonehenge on Salisbury Plain. The last time Mrs. Fiske was in town I gave her a number of photographs I had made of Stonehenge and told her how faithful her stage picture was to the reality. She had not seen Stonehenge when she played Tess, but told me she had been particular about the accuracy of that stage picture.

As if she had not been particular about the accuracy of anything she did! She was as conscientious an artist as she was noble and generous in her private life. No one can realize what infinite labor went into details of her Thackerayan drama built around Becky Sharp. When she put on Paul Heyse's "Mary of Magdala" she made careful researches in biblical history.

She was a creative actress; she gave the stage new ideas, she brought in new methods, she had brains and character and enthusiasm. But more than that, she had a heart, and I shall always remember her, not as Tess, nor as Becky, nor as Mrs. Malaprop, but as the gentle soul who fed the pigeons coming in out of the snow to eat crumbs off the hearth in her room at the Schenley.

Mary Astor Bobs Up Again; This Time as Lead In Arliss Film

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1932, by King Features Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 18.

When Mary Astor finishes up at a studio, I've learned long ago not to take it too seriously. She's sure to bob up somewhere.

And so it is again. Mary will go to Warners to play one of the leads in George Arliss' new picture, "A Successful Calamity." It will be her first free-lance role since leaving R-K-O. And apparently it settles those rumors about her stage plans.

Mary Astor

Just to freshen your memory, "A Successful Calamity" is the stage play of Clare Kummer, who has the added distinction of being Roland Young's mother-in-law. In this picture Mr. Arliss once more is the millionaire. He fakes a bankruptcy to see how his family will take it and to their credit they behave admirably.

John Adolph expects to start shooting about the twentieth.

GOSSIP

Charles Bickford's latest idea is to start a dude ranch near Ensenada, Mexico. He already owns a garage, a lingerie shop, a hog farm, an island off Australia, two whaling ships, and one-half interest in a pearl schooner . . . Ruth Weston and her escort, R. Kindersley, were held up the other night by a couple of bandits . . . Max Gordon wants Dorothy Mackail to do a play on Broadway next fall . . . Chester Morris' mother [illegible] 64 is out of the hospital after an operation.

Chester Morris

The wedding reception of Carmen Pantages and John Considine, Jr., will be a topic of conversation for some time to come. Practically all the stars were there, and so many of the public that the ambassador had to rope off the lobby. Since the hour was 4:30, the big question was what to wear. As usual there was a little of everything. A lot of the men came in business suits. Saw Paul Bern arm in arm with Mona Maris . . . Hoot Gibson came up. He was sore all right because I printed his real name is Edmund Richard . . . Charles Mack says that Moran is now running his ranch for him. And so on. Too many people to go into details.

Washington In Hearst News

THE GLOBE TROTTER

A picture portrayal of Washington Crossing the Delaware is the film tribute in its current issue by Hearst Metrotone News to the bicentennial of The Father of His Country in co-operation with the Hearst newspapers conducting a prize essay contest on Washington's farewell address. The Hearst Metrotone News is being seen in the Penn, Fulton and other theaters. Thrillingly, the pictures show a reproduction of the scenes outlined in history when Washington with his freezing, tattered, ill-clad and ill-fed army crossed the ice-choked river to defeat the enemy at Trenton on the early morning of December 26, 1776. Realistic blizzard scenes show the boats battling against the blinding storm with Gen. Washington urging his men onward. The pictures have a patriotic musical background especially made for this feature.

AMERICAN VICTORY

American athletes are shown winning the Olympic title in a thrilling finish at Lake Placid. The picture shows the four-man bobsled race captured by the United States team, closely following the American victory in the two-man race. In the ski jumps, however, the Norwegians win easily. There are some terrific spills before Birger Ruud, Norway's 19-year-old marvel, successfully leaps 226 feet to annex first honors.

With Mary Dingman, of the United States, as spokesman, petitions carrying signatures of 6,000,000 women from all over the world asking for arms reduction, are presented to the Disarmament Conference at Geneva, Switzerland.

BLIMP CRASHES

Molnar Play Produced By Pitt Cast

No one can accuse the Pitt Players, dramatic organization of the University of Pittsburgh, of not aiming high when they produced "The Swan," by Ferenc Molnar, at the Y. M. and Y. W. H. A. Auditorium last night. This comedy requires distinction and delicacy—and it got both under the direction of Carl B. Cass. Florence Price was especially charming as Princess Alexandra, and Josette Ulrich did delicious comedy work as Symphorosa. Other leading roles were capably handled by Carl Swartz, Clarence Sober, Roy Magram, Bettie Quarrie and Tillie Krieger. A beautiful setting had been provided by Helen Glynn as scenic artist, and musical entr'-actes by the symphony orchestra.

Sheridan Square Gets 'Forgotten Women'

"Forgotten Women" opened a three-day engagement yesterday in the Sheridan Square. Marion Schilling, Rex Bell, Beryl Mercer and Virginia Lee Corbin are in the cast. The action takes place in Hollywood and the story concerns a crooked producer and a nationally known bootleg king, and a young newspaper reporter, who sees that they get what's coming to them.

Extra protection against winter COLDS

PEPSODENT ANTISEPTIC is 3 times more powerful than other leading mouth washes. Hence, it goes 3 times as far. That's economy for you! Why waste money on antiseptics that must be used full strength to be effective?

THE great economy of Pepsodent Antiseptic is the result of its high germ-killing power. That's where the difference lies between it and old-style antiseptics. When fighting sore throat colds and Bad Breath (Halitosis), remember, there are really only two leading kinds of antiseptics. On the one hand you have the mouth wash that must be used full strength to be effective. On the other hand you have Pepsodent Antiseptic—utterly safe when used full strength, yet powerful enough to be diluted with 2 parts of water and yet kill germs in less than 10 seconds. Pepsodent Antiseptic is at least three times as powerful as other leading mouth antiseptics. Hence it goes three times as far—gives you three times as much for your money—and gives you extra protection against stubborn colds, and throat irritations. When choosing your mouth antiseptics, be sure you choose the one that kills the germs even when diluted! Insist on Pepsodent Antiseptic—and be safe! Be safe—and save money!

BAD BREATH (Halitosis)

The amazing results of Pepsodent Antiseptic in fighting sore throat colds, proves its effectiveness in Checking Bad Breath (Halitosis). Remember, Pepsodent Antiseptic is 3 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics. Remember, it kills germs even when diluted with water!

Some of the 50 different uses for this modern antiseptic

Cold in Head	After Shaving
Throat Irritations	Minor Cuts
Voice Hoarseness	Blisters
Bad Breath	Loose Dandruff
Cold Sores	Checks Under-Arm Perspiration
Canker Sores	Tired, Aching Feet

Anniversary

Now it is finished—why start denying
We have come to the end at last;
Cool and drear as a night wind crying
Love looks back at a futile past;
Time has dealt us a certain sentence,
We must take it and dry our tears,
Too late now for a swift repentance—
Too late now to recall the years
When we stirred to a hidden rapture,
That is over and that is done,
Name me lovers who can recapture
Any ray of a setting sun;
There for a while the flame was glowing,
We were listless and watched it die;
Isn't it time we both were going?
Isn't it time we breathed: "Goodbye?"

Haw!

Will Mahoney presided at a meeting of stage hands recently, and he pulled a few fast quips about the scenery-jugglers, who drop furniture and things only when ballad singers or very quiet sketches are on.

"Yes," clowned Mahoney, "stage hands sometimes have no hearts!"

The Typical First-Nighter

Marc Lachmann overheard it at the premiere of "Blessed Events" the other night. The curtain fell on act one.

Merciless Truth

Russ ("Flying High") Brown encountered Dayton Stoddart, the crack exploiter on the Bulb Belt, last night.

"How goes the battle?" queried Dayton.

"I just put my vaudeville act in drydock," said Russ, whose material is specially prepared by authors.

"But why?" asked Stoddart.

Fact

John Connery received a letter yesterday from his kinsfolk in Scotland which said in part:

"I know you will be glad to learn that your aunt and uncle are already recuperating from having given two shillings to the Christmas Fund."

Recommended for Wilstach's Dictionary of Similes: Gilbert Swan: Impressionable as a new sheet of carbon paper . . . F. R. Higgins: Sleep as the winds that sleep all safely in God's pocket. . . . Weare Holbrook: Unyielding as a hotel's pillow . . . Arthur (Bugs) Baer: Burning between the lines like overdone toast on a wire-griddle; also: As gentle as lamb with mint sauce . . . Pete Smith: She had the endurance of a fish-peddler's horse on Good Friday.

Novelette

It actually happened in the Broadway Sector the other midnight. He is a well-known man-about-town who gambles heavily at the tracks or what's your favorite game? In fewer words, he is One Of The Boys.

Well, sir. He got very smitten over a Young and High Waisted Thing who has a lotta good ideas—but she doesn't wear many clothes in the cafe where she dances. He tried to date her, but she was funny that way. He found out, however, his chief trouble.

She liked musicians—if you played a horn or a fiddle, oh, boy! So our chump immediately started to tote around a violin case as he pursued her. And what happened? Haw! Detective trailing him imagined his violin case was a cover up for a machine gun and arrested him! He had a black eye to prove it, too!

Heheheh

Fred Allen observes that if the bankers take over any more of the producing firms, at least they can finally find something of the vice presidents to do through making them chorus men.

Memories

Poignant as molten moonlight
Slipping through sighing leaves,
Or the rhythmic chant of summer rain
Dripping from ancient eaves.

Is the memory of that evening
When we sat in the blue room there,
And you bluffed me outo forty bucks
—Tom Weatherly.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By
WILLIAM J. LEWIS

It is a known fact that gals like to get into Ziegfeld productions. That's just the same as theatrical heaven for lassies from chorines up. Marjorie White, who is one of the principals in "Hot-Cha," coming to the Nixon next week, got there in a round-about way. Originally a vaudeville artist, she got a chance to appear in that swell Janet Gaynor film, "Sunnyside Up," and made such an impression that she was engaged for "Just Imagine," a musical screener authored by Brown and Henderson, who are mainly responsible for book, music and lyrics of "Hot-Cha." Remembering her, they recommended her to Flo Ziegfeld. So don't cry there ain't no jestice ar[illegible]

The seat market opens today for the presentation next week of Ethel Barrymore's revival of Sheridan's comedy, "The School for Scandal," which will take place in the Alvin, beginning Monday. The engagement is under the auspices of the Professional Players, and there will be the customary matinees. Miss Barrymore, of course, will be seen as Lady Teazle, a role that has been played by many great actresses.

Ben Bernie's orchestra will vaude it, beginning in St. Louis in April . . . "The Sandy Hooker," a play tried two years ago with Lenore Ulric in the lead, will make another attempt, this time with Edna Hibbard, and Detroit, the scene, next week.

Small Timer says if you see specks it probably is a symptom of speculation gone wrong.

PILES

Piles are swollen veins which are sometimes broken in the lower end of your bowels. They may cause fistula, abscesses, ulcers and infection in the rectum. Don't let your piles run on until you must have a surgical operation. But do not treat them with harsh patent medicines, some of which require the use of hard rubber or metal tubes. For hard things should never be put into the tender rectum except upon the advice of a physician. Ask your druggist for Unguentine Rectal Cones. They bring the same blessed comfort to piles that Unguentine brings to burns and cuts. They are soft, pleasant and easy to put in. They quickly relieve the burning, bleeding, paining, itching, swelling, bulging piles and help to prevent infection in the rectum. Ask your druggist for Unguentine Rectal Cones by name and get what you ask for.

M'KECHNIE DENIES CONFAB WITH VET

OTHER MAJOR LEAGUE clubs evidently are not as eager to acquire the services of Pitcher Waite Hoyt, released unconditionally by the A's, as Hoyt himself anticipated or as some of the published reports would appear to indicate. Though he announced he would not try to peddle himself, but would first visit Connie Mack in the South and endeavor to make him change his mind and reconsider the release, it develops that Hoyt has been inviting offers from all the clubs in the two big loops and has claimed to have conferences booked with several of the managers at the spring training camps. Brooklyn is the only club known to have offered him a contract.

Bill McKechnie

The stories of an unusual demand for Hoyt's services have failed to hold up here from two angles. Not only are the Pirates said to have informed Hoyt that they cannot use him, but Bill McKechnie, manager of the Braves, denies a published yarn that he is so anxious to get the veteran that he has arranged a conference with him in St. Petersburg to talk things over.

HOYT HIMSELF IS given by eastern newspapers as authority for the statement that McKechnie and the veteran pitcher would hold a conference at the Braves Florida camp but the boss of the Braves at his home in Wilkinsburg getting ready for the training start next week, declares the report is unfounded. "We do not want Hoyt and have made that clear to him," Bill said.

McKechnie believes that as far as signed players are concerned the Braves are in better shape than any other club in the National League. He says that the entire squad is in line with the exception of only one or two men, and that even the few not yet enrolled cannot be called holdouts.

M'KECHNIE IS HOPEFUL that Boston will prove to be the place where Bill Akers, his new shortstop candidate, is going to settle down, and that after roving over a large part of the country the infielder obtained from Kansas City will finally pull himself together and make good for the Braves.

Few players have done more jumping around than Akers in recent seasons. The Braves will be the tenth club with which he has been associated in nine years. Starting with Chattanooga in 1924, he has since played for Jonesboro, Durham, Portsmouth, New Orleans, Decatur, Beaumont, Detroit and Kansas City.

AFTER ALL, PLAYING second base for the Giants this year, if Hughey Critz fails to come back, will not be a strange job to Freddie Lindstrom. The shift planned by John McGraw is not as wild an experiment as it has been pictured, for if you look back in the records you'll find that Lindstrom played 147 games at the keystone bag for Toledo in 1923, the year before he came up. "Yes, and I was a second baseman in high school in Chicago, too," Freddie says, "and I can see no reason for doubting my ability to do the chores around there now. However, there are motions to be made at second that I did not have to make at third. There are muscles to be used in quick moves that I did not bring into play at third or in right field. And there are little tricks of the trade that I'll have to learn."

Bill Elliott

SMILING BILL ELLIOTT, famous Australian jockey, who arrived in San Francisco the other day from Melbourne, will be riding Phar Lap for the seventh time when he takes the mount on Australia's "wonder horse" in the Agua Caliente Handicap March 20.

In every one of the six previous races in which he rode David Davis' horse, Elliott guided him to victory and he says he is hopeful of keeping that record clean. Bill adds that there's more than a rider-and-horse feeling between him and Phar Lap. "We are pals," he explains. "He's a beautiful horse. I love him and I know he likes me."

THERE WAS A basketball discussion in Homestead among Roy Steele, who, with Dutch Wohlfarth, is the real court pride of that borough, Cup Jenkins, captain of police, and Cum Posey, as to the greatest player of all time. Posey favored Harry Hough and Jenkins' choice was Nat Holman.

Steele said that in his opinion the greatest two when in their prime were Inlip on a New York state team and Johnny Beckman. Jenkins and Posey readily gave in to Roy, as that famous star has played against all of the best.

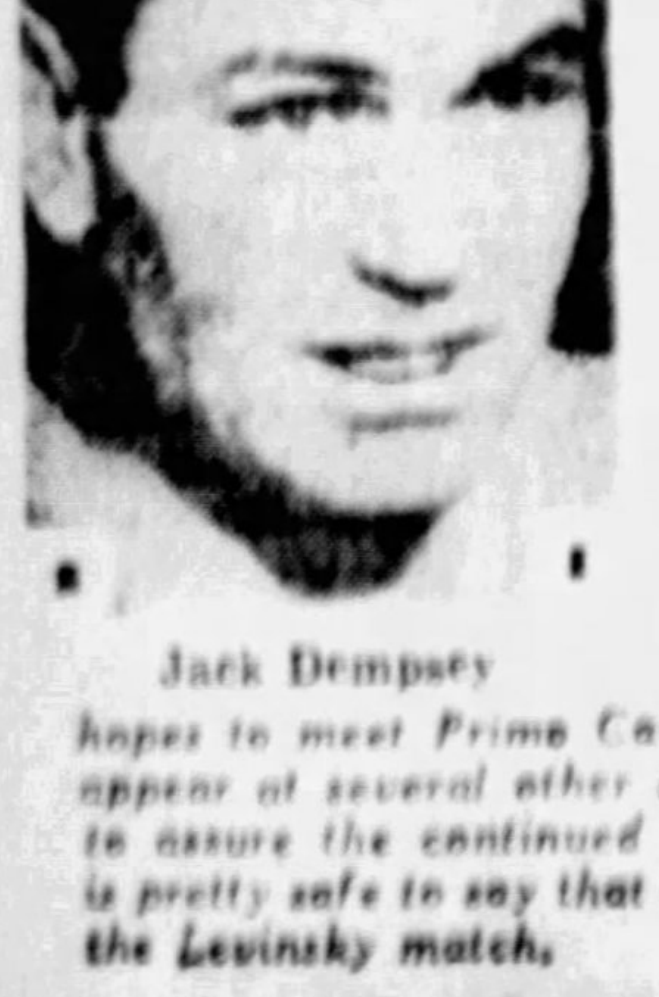
STEELE ALSO GAVE Charley O'Donnell a high rating and pronounced Winnie Kincaid the greatest defensive player. He ranks the Renaissance Negro five, of New York, as the greatest basketball team ever assembled for high-class performances day in and day out from year to year. Speaking of Renaissance, eastern critics say that when that team meets the Rosenblum Celtics here next month, Pittsburghers will see in Cooper, the star center, one of the greatest of individual players, past or present. One of them says he is as good as any "player and a half" he ever saw, and that in games where he must play hard he is one-third of the men on the floor.

WHILE THE EXPERTS were still marveling at his feat of February 6 in running history's best indoor mile in 4:11 1-5, and predicting a lapse of from five to 10 years before any one would succeed in beating it, Gene Venzke came right back with the even more astounding performance of 4:10 in New York last night to convince them that they hadn't seen anything.

The world record of 4:09 1-5, set outdoors last year by Jules Ladoumegue in Paris, is the only instance of a mile having been run in faster time than Venzke made last night. And who can say that a runner great enough to smash the indoor mark twice in 12 days will not be able to lop off eventually the one second needed to beat even the Frenchman's time?

WHEN THE POWERS at W. & J. finally select a new football coach they can't be accused of not having looked over the field thoroughly. In considering 27 men for the post they have set a new high for such jobs around here.

At that, in spite of the size of the field and the admitted ability of many of the applicants, Leroy P. (Hank) Day, a W. & J. graduate and now coach at Washington High School, is said to be running more strongly than ever along the inside track.



Jack Dempsey

WHILE IT IS true that in his four-round no-decision bout with King Levinsky in Chicago tonight Jack Dempsey will be meeting the hardest opponent he has yet faced on his comeback tour, which isn't saying a whole lot, boxing followers can't believe that Jack is running into any danger. It will be surprising if Dempsey isn't as successful against Levinsky as he has been up to date against hand-picked opponents in other cities. The former champion couldn't afford to do any slipping at this stage, particularly in Chicago, where he hopes to meet Primo Carnera on the Fourth of July and possibly appear at several other shows. He has got to keep looking good to assure the continued financial success of his campaign, and it is pretty safe to say that he knew what he was doing when he made the Levinsky match.

D. & E. vs. Broaddus, Broaddus.
Clarion at Indiana.

By JESS CARVER

Perpetual youth, in the person of Robert E. Thorn, of Grove City College, is in town today along with Robert E.'s varsity basketball team, and will oppose the locally unbeaten Duquesne Dukes in the Bluff gymnasium tonight. The too infrequent appearances here of the genial Mister Thorn are events of much note inasmuch as Robert always adds color and zest to any game in which one of his teams may be taking part.

Bob Thorn

Tonight the Grovers meet the Dukes in a return match, seeking to make up for a close defeat suffered at the very outset of the present campaign. In addition, and calculated to make the Grovers doubly tough, the Crimson has just dropped three games in a row, two of which they entered hot favorites. They've been set down by Geneva, Waynesburg and Thiel in successive starts. It has been a long time since a Grove City team has lost four major games in a row, and if they are checked by the Dukes tonight they'll experience that very unpleasant occurrence.

WON OVER TITANS

Grove City's big claim to fame this year is its victory over Westminster. The Crimson was the only district five able to set down the towering Titans, who are out in front in the race for district honors. Duquesne, besides tripping Pitt and Carnegie, has beaten West Virginia Wesleyan and Grove City.

Two additional members of the Duquesne cast, Irwin and Len Brenner, have joined the hospital list and are not to start tonight. Capt. Bunk McGeever will return to his job at center, MacDougal going back to forward with Dave Feldman, and Dudey Moore and Joe Zerilla pairing off at the guards. Marty Reiter, brilliant sophomore star, who has been ill for the past week, returned to practice Tuesday, but hardly will be able to perform tonight.

LINEUP IN DOUBT

Coach Thorn has been shifting his lineup so often this year that trying to figure out a possible starting combination prior to the very tapoff is as tough as keeping a straight face when listening and watching Bert Lohr. The chances are that Buck Tomko, North Braddock High star last year, and Fegley will be in there at the forwards, Laycock at center and Capt. George (Full House) Stavnitsky and Koma at the guards. Minnick will be an alternate forward, getting the call, if any, ahead of Tomko.

In an extremely important clash at Beaver Falls, Allegheny will risk its position at the head of the district parade by meeting Geneva. Bethany meets Westminster, affording the Titans a swell chance to gain ground on the conference-leading Covenantors. Davis-Elkins and Broaddus meet at Broaddus. West Virginia and Penn State clash at State College and Wesleyan meets Salem at Salem.

Duquesne		Grove City
Feldman	F	Tomko
MacDougal	F	Fegley
McGeever	C	Laycock
Moore	G	Koma
Zerilla	G	G. Stavnitsky

Referee—Yans Wallace. Umpire—Max Hannum.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: THE SHIP THAT IS LIGHTENED BY ITS LOAD—The maximum light-water draft of the "Mayflower" is 17 feet 7 9-16 inches, while its load-water draft is 17 feet 6 11-16 inches. The reason for this anomalous condition is that the aft end is the lowest point on the keel of the famous yacht. A full load (water, fuel and stores) tends to depress the forward end. The vessel pivots on the central portion with the result that the loaded ship displaces less water than when it is unloaded.

By CARL W. SHATTO

Pat Shea, defense stalwart sent here by the Chicago Hawks in exchange for Earl Miller when the latter was sold to the Toronto Nationals, a little more than a week ago, may be at left defense in place of Gordy Fraser when the Yellow Jackets meet the Detroit Olympics in an International Hockey League at Duquesne Garden tonight.

Shortly after noon today Charley Reid, coach of the local skaters, said that Fraser was undergoing treatment for an injury to his right knee which he suffered in the second period of the game in London Tuesday night and that the physician's report on whether or not Gordy would be able to take his place in the lineup would not be received until shortly before game time. Shea joined the Pittsburgh squad in London. He is in A-1 condition, and will step into the breach if Fraser is unable to realize his determination to get back into action.

GORDY HAS 'NEW' HURT

Reid said that contrary to reports sent out from London, Fraser's injury is a "new" hurt. Last season a crippled knee kept Gordy out of the title play-offs, and the weak member handicapped him in certain games this season. The injury sustained in London is of an entirely different and much less serious nature, however, and its effects will not be at all lasting.

In the event that Shea substitutes for Fraser, this will be the only change in a Pittsburgh lineup that has performed very creditably in its last four starts. Sonny Boy Baxter is to remain in the nets, and the front lines will continue without alterations.

Tonight's battling promises to be very torrid as the Reidmen strive to shatter a third record this week. They began the record breaking by handing Syracuse its first defeat in nine starts on home ice there Sunday. On Tuesday they used reverse English in bowing to London for the first time this season. Pittsburgh has not been able to down Detroit in five starts in the 1931-32 campaign, and the consensus of opinion among the locals is that it is about time that this string was snapped.

OLYMPICS IN SLUMP

The Olympics have played only six games this month, and it was not until Tuesday, when they nosed out Syracuse, 1-0, that they could boast a February victory. They appear to be about ready for the kill.

By gaining a victory and a tie on their recent three-game road trip the Jackets kept their chances of gaining the play-offs very much alive. In the event that they down Detroit tonight and then turn back Windsor here Saturday the locals will be only one-half game out of a money berth. The probable lineup:

Pittsburgh		Detroit
Baxter	G	Venne
Fraser	D	Peters
Reise	D	Evans
Hodden	C	Hay
Hamsey	W	McCaga
Barton	W	Duckworth

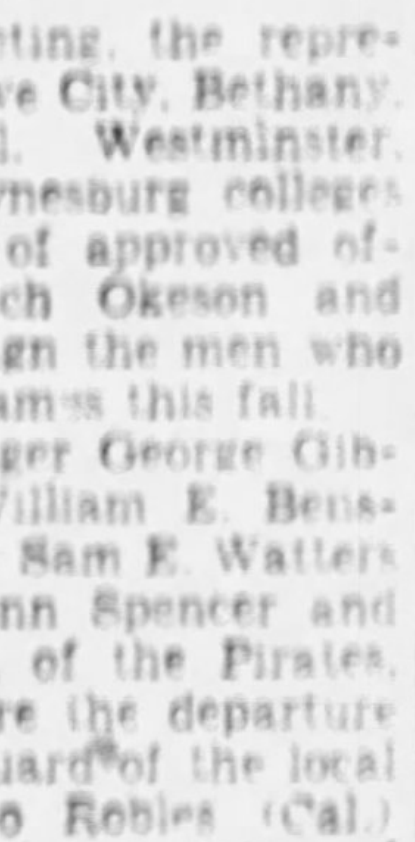
OKESON ON AIR TONIGHT

Walter E. Okeson, commissioner of the Eastern Intercollegiate Association for the Selection of Football Officials, will speak over WCAE, The Voice of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, at 6:30 o'clock tonight as a guest artist. His talk will deal with football and will include a discussion of the radical rules changes recently announced to prevent injuries to the players.



W. E. Okeson

Okeson is in town primarily to meet with representatives of district colleges at the P. A. A. at 2 p. m. today to select officials for the games this fall. He arrived this morning with W. Don Harrison, athletic director of the University of Pittsburgh, his local representative, from a meeting at Bethlehem, Pa., yesterday.

TO ASSIGN MEN

At today's meeting, the representatives of Grove City, Bethany, Allegheny, Thiel, Westminster, Geneva and Waynesburg colleges will submit lists of approved officials from which Okeson and Harrison will assign the men who will handle the games this fall.

Talks by Manager George Gibson, Treasurer William E. Benswanger, Secretary Sam E. Watters and Pitchers Glenn Spencer and Lawrence Bishop, of the Pirates, a few hours before the departure of the advance guard of the local club for its Paso Robles (Cal.) training camp, and a recitation of "Casey at the Bat" by Julius Levin featured the weekly broadcast of the Trained Seals of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph over WCAE last night. Others participating in the program were Charles J. Doyle and Harry Keck, who was master of ceremonies.

LONG'S TALK TOMORROW

Tomorrow night, at 7 o'clock, James J. Long will deliver his weekly Sports Review over the same station rounding out a busy week of sports programs presented by the staff of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PIRATES DENY GIANT DEAL

Pirate officials today indicated that the report eminating from New York to the effect that the Pirates and Giants were negotiating a trade involving P. Waner, Fred Leach, Eddie Marshall and Sam Leslie was so ridiculous it did not merit a denial.

In the first place, the Buccos are surfeited with lefthand hitters in the outfield, so there is no room for Leach. Leslie also is a southpaw batter.

"It's the bunk," quoth Secretary Sam Watters.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Feb. 18.—West Virginia's Mountaineers defeated Carnegie Tech's Tartans, 25 to 21, in a game decided on superior foul shooting here last night. In a preliminary, between the freshmen outfits, the Mountaineer Cubs whipped the Tech Plebes, 36 to 24.

High scoring honors in the varsity mixup went to Eddie Cubbon, of West Virginia, he registering four field goals and six free tosses for 14 points. Although the Mountaineers were outscored in the second half, West Virginia led the procession, 13 to 7, at half time. The lineups:

The South Park Polo Club is well known to residents of the South Hills, having been playing for two seasons. Several hundred followers of the new team will be on hand to witness the match. Its members include R. D. Dette, W. H. Voltz, R. H. Loether and W. C. Ackerman. The Artillery lineup probably will be Watson, Kiser, Reed, Collins and Voltz.

Dave McCahill and Elliott Perritt, who played together on the Pittsburgh Polo team last summer, will be rivals in the league battle. Perritt is a reserve officer in the Cavalry and will play with Lieuts. Young and Linton. McCahill will lead Aaron and McCreery for Shady Side.

Frank Frisch Balks At Cut in Salary

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 18.—(AP.)—Frank Frisch, captain and star second baseman of the Cardinals, has been asked to take a reduction in salary for 1932. Frisch, the highest-paid Card player, receives a reputed salary of $18,000 to $20,000. Rumors put the amount of the proposed cut at $5,000.

JACKIE FIELDS WEDS

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—(AP.)—Jackie Fields, newly-crowned world welterweight champion, solved the mystery of his sudden disappearance yesterday by returning with a wife. He and his bride, the former Martha Lynn, of St. Joseph, Mo., admitted they were secretly married several days ago at St. Joseph.

Giants to Stage First Drill Today

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 18.—(AP.)—Following closely after the Chicago Cubs, who arrived two days ago, the first of the New York Giants arrived today to take up their spring training toil at Wrigley Field. It will be their first season on the Pacific Seaboard.

Headed by James J. Tierney, secretary, and Tom Clarke, coach, the contingent, mostly pitchers and catchers, was to work out this afternoon, weather conditions permitting.

PIRATE PARTY HEADS WEST FROM CHICAGO

SWIFT ADDED TO LIST OF BUC REBELS

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—A little Pittsburgh Pirate squad, in the care of Manager George Gibson, rolled out of the Santa Fe station today en route to California training camp of the Buccaneers. Gibson expects to dock an increased guard of pitchers and catchers at the Paso Robles camp on Sunday afternoon.

The advance guard of Pittsburgh players left the home port last night. Pitchers Glenn Spencer and Lawrence Bishop were the only athletes in the group aside from the pilot of the club. Others in the party were Mrs. Gibson, wife of the Pittsburgh leader, and Assistant Trainer George Asten.

SWIFT STAYS REBELLIOUS

Just before Gibson's party left Pittsburgh last night, it developed that Bill Swift, right-hand pitcher obtained from Kansas City in exchange for Pitcher Bob Osborn and Catcher Eddie Phillips, is an addition to the list of Pirate holdouts. The Buc bosses waited at the station until the last minute for Swift in the expectation that he would show up, but the new flinger, whose home is in Scranton, failed to put in an appearance.

Officials of the club said Swift had been tendered a contract calling for a generous increase over his 1931 salary in Kansas City, but had declined to sign. The pitcher was then informed, according to Secretary S. E. Watters, that the club had gone as far as it was willing to go. It was expected that Swift would sign and report in time to leave with the advance guard, but either he had not yet received the club's ultimatum or was still in a holdout mood, as no further word came from him before the squad departed.

The traveling Pittsburghers were joined here by Coach Grover Hartley and Dr. Charles A. Jorgensen, trainer of the team. After a layover of approximately two hours the party headed for the Far West.

KANSAS CITY TONIGHT

The Bucco entourage is due to reach Kansas City about midnight. Four youngsters are slated to join the party at that point. They are Pitchers John Niggeling and Charles Taylor, and Catchers Hal Finney and Floyd McEwan.

The status of several holdout pitchers was such as to throw a serious doubt as to whether they would be in camp in time to answer the first training bell, which will ring next Monday morning.

In addition to Swift, Heinie Meine, Remy Kremer, Ervin Brame and Larry French, four of the mainstays of the sharpshooting staff, all dissented over the terms offered them for 1932. Whether they will get into the fold in the near future remains to be seen. Meantime the Pittsburgh officials will not make any definite statements on the holdout situation apart from what has been admitted in the case of Swift.

GRANTHAM HOLDOUT

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 18.—(AP.)—George Grantham, recently sold by the Pittsburgh Pirates to the Cincinnati Reds, returned his Cincinnati contract unsigned yesterday. He asserted, however, "I'm not a holdout."

REDBIRDS SEEK NEW FARM

EBENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 18.—(AP.)—The St. Louis Cardinals, having abandoned Scottdale as a player farm, are dickering for another team in the Middle Atlantic Baseball League.

Officials have written Mid-Atlantic magnates for information concerning several other clubs. The Cards are said to be sweet on Johnstown.

The Detroit Tigers are to retain Wheeling as a farm and the New York Yankees still are using Cumberland, Md., as a plantation. Should Youngstown, O., continue in the league, it is considered practically certain by baseball men that the Washington Senators will use the team for "farming" purposes.

SPRINGFIELD GETS SCOTTIES

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 18.—(INS.)—Players of the Scottdale (Pa.) club which has withdrawn from the Middle Atlantic League, have been transferred to the Springfield (Mo.) farm of the Cardinals. Springfield is a member of the Western Association League.

KAPPHAN CARD COMPLETE

The card has been completed for the weekly boxing show to be held in Eddie Kapphan's arena in Addison street, off Center avenue, tomorrow night.

Billy Holt and Tiger Joe Randall, local Negro welterweight rivals, will meet in the 10-round main bout. An eight-rounder between Lee Sala, of Donora, and Mickel Solomon, of New Castle, will serve as the semi-final, taking the place of a Bruno Sala-Buddy McArthur contest, set back two weeks because Bruno still is suffering from an injured eye.

Dandy Allen, Negro lightweight, of Philadelphia, now boxing under the management of Woogy Harris, will meet U. S. Carpentier, of New Kensington, in the second bout, and Mike Kelly, of the South Side, and Mike Bazzone, of McKeesport, are in the opener.

Max Elling, of the Hill, has been matched to box Bobby Wilson, brother of Jackie Wilson, in the opening bout on the Tony Herrera-Denver Mickey Cohen card at Motor Square Garden next Monday night.

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor.

Guy Salerno, Jack Perry's young middleweight prospect from Los Angeles, should be much more ringwise today than when he stepped into the ring with George Courtney, the Oklahoma Cowboy, in the 10-round main bout at the Moose Temple last night.

Courtney, entering the match as a substitute, with an expansive waistline and puffing at the end of the first round from lack of competition in recent months, won all the way off by himself on his experience. He bluffed and "bulled" his younger opponent over the entire route, and, although tired during the last four rounds, managed to keep the upper hand by staying on top of his man and punching and forcing him on the defensive.

TIRED AT FINISH

In the final round, Courtney was so exhausted that he twice pushed his opponent back through the ropes just to get a respite as he stalled for the closing bell, yet he won even this round by doing what work was done in the fighting line.

Salerno, who was so impressive in knocking out Jocko Walters in the same ring a few weeks ago, won only one round last night, the sixth, in which he outpunched Courtney, once forcing the latter to drop to one knee out of a clinch. The second round was even and all of the others went to Courtney.

TOUGH NIGHT FOR GUY

Guy would have done better forcing the fight than he did retreating before his foe's rushes, and by fighting more in the clinches instead of trying to tie up his man.

He let Courtney get the drop on him and keep it, and the latter, veteran of many a tough engagement, fought a cagy battle. At no time did he permit Salerno to take the play away from him, and he used excellent judgment in staying on top of the rangy Californian, weaving and bobbing his way past the arc of Guy's left hook, punching as he came. It was a bad night for the promising Salerno, who, however, should be able to profit in the end from the new tricks of the game he learned from Old Man Experience Courtney, who still is a comparatively young gent in years, but well aged in the matter of ring seasoning.

Salerno, at 160½ pounds, gave away six pounds at 3 p. m., Courtney coming in at 167½.

SPEIGAL LACES BROOKS

Roger Brooks, of Cleveland, 145¼, who also flashed great form in his first appearance here, slumped terrifically to take a one-sided pasting from Joey Speigal, of Uniontown, same weight, in the six-round semi-final. Brooks, a straight-shooting right-hand puncher, who had Tom Malco on the floor six times in the first round of their bout, figured to be just the wrong sort of an opponent for Speigal, a southpaw, but he never got the range of Joey's jaw and kept beating a retreat under the constant forcing of Speigal, who turned the bout into a rout.

U. S. Carpentier, of New Kensington, 134¾, bested Bobby Stewart, Negro, of the Hill, 134½, handily in the second bout, and Jimmy Gibbs, of Wheeling, 143, lost by a technical knockout to Ray Winbush, Hill Negro, 148, making his professional debut, when Referee Al Grayber halted the bout in the fifth round because the West Virginian had a badly cut eye.

The crowd was not up to expectations. Frank Ferris and Freddie Lux were the judges, A. C. Couch, the timer, Harry Klaas, the announcer, and Dr. M. R. Goldman the commission physician.

ROSENBLOOM IN DRAW

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 18.—(AP.)—Young Bob Godwin, of Daytona Beach, earned a 10-round draw with Maxie Rosenbloom, light-heavyweight champion, in a fast 10-round non-title bout at the National Guard Arena here last night. Rosenbloom weighed 178 and Godwin was two pounds lighter.

SOUTH HILLS IN BIG TEST TOMORROW

By JULIUS LEVIN

The South Hills High School basketball team will stake all of its hopes of overtaking Allegheny in the Section II race in the City League on the outcome of its battle with the league leaders tomorrow afternoon.

Allegheny, undefeated in 10 straight league games, can clinch the laurels by handing South Hills its second setback of the season. South Hills' only reverse was inflicted by Harry Springer's boys and it is the intention of the Cuttebach machine to turn the tables tomorrow.

Schenley High, leader of Section I, will have a chance to clinch the laurels tomorrow afternoon when it invades Connelly Trade School to engage the Dickson quintet. Connelly messed up its last chance to overtake Schenley by suffering a surprise defeat at the hands of Allderdice.

School Notes

Tomorrow's battles in the W. P. I. A. L. are expected to settle a majority of the sectional fights as many of the leaders are slated to engage their nearest rivals. Action galore is in store for the followers of the W. P. I. A. L. contenders and large crowds are expected on all battlefronts.

Carl Glock's New Kensington High passers will have a chance to step a point nearer the Section I crown by defeating Tarentum at New Kensington. In their first meeting, Ken High won by a score of 36-8 and there is very little likelihood of Tarentum faring any better tomorrow. Har-Brack, pressing the Glockmen for first place, meets Springdale. Har-Brack and Ken High tangle next week in their final league encounter.

Both leaders in Section III are scheduled for action tomorrow. Butler may find New Brighton a stumbling block, while New Castle invades Rochester. Butler barely beat New Brighton in their first game, winning by a 13-12 score. New Castle defeated Rochester, 25-17, in their first engagement.

What looms as the feature attraction on the W. P. I. A. L. schedule is listed for Charleroi where Charleroi and Monessen renew a feud of long standing. Monessen moved into first place of section V by defeating South Brownsville while Charleroi was idle and it is the intention of the Steppers to oust Ditty's men tomorrow. Charleroi defeated Monessen at Monessen in their first league contest, 21-18, and if it repeats the dose tomorrow, Charleroi will be the Section V representative in the W. P. I. A. L. eliminations.

Neenie Campbell's Ford City quintet will be out to clinch the Section VI crown when it tackles Leechburg tomorrow night at Ford City. Ford City has won eight successive league games, including a 36-17 victory over Leechburg. Another triumph over the Armstrong countians will clinch the title for Campbell's passers.

The Homestead-Munhall settle at Munhall tonight should prove a thriller. A victory for the undefeated Homestead quintet will assure the Campbellites of a place in the W. P. I. A. L. eliminations. The first game between the two teams ended in a 26-17 victory for Homestead. Homestead hasn't lost a game to Munhall since 1921, and unless it cracks wide open tonight, the Section VII title should be sewed up by the Gold and Blue quintet.

Johnny Reed's Scott High passers, last year's state champs, must defeat Rankin tomorrow to tie Braddock for the top position in Section VIII. Ham Hopson's leaders are idle tomorrow.

Ed Paulie's Swissvale aggregation should pay the final installment on its passage into the eliminations by taking over Verona tomorrow. Swissvale has won 11 straight games, including a 37-5 triumph at the expense of Verona. The Section XI champs should make a fine showing in the Pitt Stadium playoffs.

Mt. Lebanon, crowned champion of Section IX, has nothing at stake in its battle with Bridgeville at Bridgeville. The same applies to North Union in Section XIII, which has won 12 straight games.

Burgettstown, undefeated in Section XIV with an even dozen triumphs, will face McDonald tomorrow. McDonald is in second place with 10 victories and one setback.

Uniontown will have an opportunity to clinch the Section X crown Saturday when it meets Greensburg. The game originally was scheduled for tomorrow night, but was shifted by mutual consent.

DREYFUSSIANS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

The contradictory qualities of Barney Dreyfuss' character were manifest in most of his baseball dealings. To illustrate, you may have heard that the Pittsburgh club was slow in the matter of purchasing headline performers, yet the records will show that Barney was up around the top in this connection.

Paul Waner and Hal Rhyne cost the Pittsburgh owner approximately $85,000. The price tag on Glenn Wright was something like $40,000.

George Boehler, a big righthand pitcher purchased from Omaha, is said to have cost the Pirates about $30,000 in cash. Remy Kremer also represented a big outlay, although Boehler moved to Oakland as a part of the deal which advanced Remy to the Buccos.

Dreyfuss also showed his big traits in his refusal to allow signs on the fences of Forbes Field. He passed up thousands of dollars yearly in fence revenues with the idea of showing the Oakland Orchard in harmony with the beautiful Schenley Park background. Every other park in the circuit goes in for the billboard stuff in a noisy way.

The absence of signs at the home of the Pirates makes it a haven for batters. Some of the best stickers in the sport are able to fatten up the old average when they strike Pittsburgh. In some cities the glare is so pronounced that the hitters often are in danger. When Pie Traynor's nose was broken by a Pat Malone pitch in Chicago Pie asserted he could scarcely see the ball as it came out of the white shirts and signs.

Y' SAID SOMETHIN'!

Dreyfuss was a foe of fluke homers, his utterances on this question being pronounced. The Polo Grounds and Phillies Park were his principal aversions. The point where the foul line meets the right field stands at Forbes Field is 300 feet, but this distance was not in keeping with the carry to the left field fence, so Barney had a big screen erected which has prevented a heavy number of unearned homers.

The Pittsburgh magnate waged the fight against the spitball at a time when he had just purchased a most promising artist of the saliva slant—the late Harold Carlson.

Y. M. H. A. PLAYS I. K. S. TONIGHT

The long-awaited basketball battle between teams representing the Young Men's Hebrew Association and the Irene Kaufmann Settlement House will take place tonight on the Y. M. H. A. floor. Besides the main attraction between the two varsity teams, the reserve quintets will clash in the preliminary tussle starting at 8 o'clock. The Y. M. H. A. and the I. K. S. have been leaders in amateur basketball for a number of years, yet they never have met on the court.

Sam Greenberg

Among the stars who will appear in the Y. M. H. A. lineup are Klatman, Lubic, Malamude, Greenberg, Clovsky, Lewis, Miller and Alman.

The I. K. S. roster includes the two Barmen boys, Goodstein, Singer, Kalson, Murphy, Rubenstein, Sarkin and McCaslin.

VENZKE BREAKS MARK AGAIN

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Gene Venzke, of Pottstown, Pa., thrilled 10,000 howling fans last night by running the mile in 4 minutes 10 seconds for a new world record, his second in 10 days on the Garden track. He beat Leo Lermond by fully 40 yards.

His time clipped one and one-fifth seconds from the world indoor record he set in the Millrose A. A. games February 6.

Leo Sexton, of the New York A. C., surpassed all marks for the 16-pound iron ball with a toss of 52 feet 8⅜ inches. This not only wiped out all indoor marks, including Sexton's own record put of 51 feet 11⅛ seconds in Boston last Saturday, but bettered the world outdoor record of 52 feet 7½ inches held by Emil Hirshfeld, of Germany.

The new indoor sprint king, Emmett Toppino, of Loyola University, New Orleans, twice equaled the world indoor record of 6 1-5 seconds in sweeping all heats and the final of the 60-yard dash.

ELY OBJECTS TO RAIL PLAN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—(INS.)—It would be fatal to New England for the proposed four-system plan of grouping eastern railroads to be approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission without forcing the Pennsylvania Railroad to relinquish its present dominant position of control of the major New England railroads, Gov. Joseph B. Ely, of Massachusetts, told the commission today.

He asserted that unless a condition is attached to approval of the four-party plan which will require the Pennsylvania and its holding company, the Pennroad Corporation, to divest themselves of their stock holdings in the New Haven and Boston and Maine systems, it would be better to deny the trunk lines' application outright.

STOCK MARKET MOVES AHEAD CAUTIOUSLY

List Recovers From Jolt Of Southern Pacific's Dividend Postponement

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—(AP.)—The stock market quickly returned to the upward track today, but moved ahead cautiously.

Postponement of action on Southern Pacific's dividend was a surprise, and caused some unsettlement at the start, but the reduction in the Bank of England's discount rate from 6 to 5 per cent, continued strength in U. S. government bonds, and firmness of leading commodities soon encouraged a resumption of bullish activity.

Southern Pacific dropped 8 points to 26, then recovered moderately. Several other rails were dragged down a point or two, but soon came back. Leading industrials refused to follow the decline in carriers, and were soon working higher. Numerous advances of 1 to 3 points were registered during the morning, and while there was a little setback around midday, the advance was resumed during the early afternoon. Issues up 2 or more included American Telephone, American Tobacco "B," American Woolen preferred and Auburn, and gains of a point or more were recorded in United States Steel, Standard of N. J., American Can, Woolworth, Du Pont, National Biscuit, Allied Chemical and several others. The New York tractions were again bid up a point or two.

While tangible signs of business improvement were still lacking, speculative quarters remained fairly cheerful, despite the market's setback yesterday, after the list had found itself unable to break through the upper resistance levels of January. Conservative quarters in Wall street felt that a firm and fairly quiet market was desirable pending real signs of restoration of corporate earning power.

Tobacco shares were helped by rumors that the consumption figures for January, to be announced shortly, would be much more favorable than expected a short time ago.

The Bank of England's cut in its discount rate led to rumors that the New York Federal Reserve Bank might reduce its rate.

Wall street bankers felt that the Bank of England's action might have a good psychological effect, but stressed the view that America should not look for stimulus from abroad at this time. It was forecast in some quarters that the Berlin Boerse would soon be reopened.

S. P. DIVIDEND ACTION HELD UP

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—(AP.)—The Southern Pacific Company, which operates the United States most extensive railroad system, yesterday announced after a meeting of its directors:

Technically, the action did not necessarily mean that the dividend has been finally omitted, it was explained, but represented a postponement of action. The last quarterly payment, which was $1, was paid January 2. The company announced:

"It was decided in view of the continued decline in the revenues of the company resulting from the reduction in the volume of freight and passenger traffic to postpone consideration of further dividend declaration until the regular meeting of the board in May, by which time it is hoped that a better understanding of the trend of traffic for the remainder of the year can be reached."

Railroad Mergers Urged by Experts

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18.—(AP.)—Consolidation would save America's railroads not less than $500,000,000 a year, Dr. Edward S. Mead, professor of corporation finance at the University of Pennsylvania, told the annual Wharton Alumni Institute of Business today.

Thomas W. Woodlock, former member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and F. J. Lisman, of the Lisman Corporation, New York, also informed the institute huge savings could be made by consolidation and co-operation and urged action to that end.

COTTON MILLS TO CURTAIL

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—More than 90 per cent of the print-cloth mills have informed their selling agents that they will carry out recommendations for avoidance of overproduction and for better stabilization of employment, according to a statement by George Walcott, chairman of a committee of print-cloth selling agents. The recommendations were a result of a meeting at Spartansburg, S. C., January 29, attended by selling agents and mill executives.

According to the recommendations which have been accepted by the mills to be put into effect March 1, production will not exceed a rate of 90 per cent of 50 hours a week for day-running mills, a rate of 80 per cent for mills on a 55-hour day and 50-hour night schedule a week and a rate of 75 per cent for mills running in excess of 105 hours a week.

January Output Of Shoes Higher

This is an increase of nearly 6 per cent over December output of 19,556,000 pairs and more than 4 per cent over the January, 1931, output of 19,880,000 pairs.

LONDON BANK RATE CUT

LONDON, Feb. 18.—The Bank of England extended a helping hand to the commercial community and a financial gesture of confidence to the world today by reducing the bank rate from 6 to 5 per cent.

The 6 per cent rate was imposed on September 21, 1931, when the country went off the gold standard.

The improvement in the international outlook and the result of preliminary conversations regarding the Lausanne Conference were taken to be one of the guiding factors in the bank rate reduction, but the chief reason is cheaper money and the fact that market discounts have fallen to such a low level as to make a 6 per cent rate ineffective.

Retaining the higher rate, it was decided, is no longer required as a steadying influence on the pound sterling, and large gold shipments from India in recent weeks were also given as a helping factor.

OSLO, Feb. 18.—(INS.)—The Norwegian bank rate will be lowered from 5½ to 5 per cent, effective tomorrow.

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 18.—(INS.)—The Bank of Sweden today reduced its rate from 6 to 5½ per cent.

Holders Oppose Standard Merger

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—An organized effort to oppose the merger of Standard Oil Companies of New Jersey and California, at least on a share-for-share basis, is being launched here by a group of stockholders headed by J. Barth & Co., of San Francisco.

French Gold Stocks Highest in History

PARIS, Feb. 18.—(INS.)—The Bank of France today had on hand 73,034,074,677 gold francs, the greatest gold reserve in its history. Last week the reserve was 72,563,000,000 gold francs. The coverage was 65.83 per cent.

LOCAL MARKET CONTINUES QUIET

Share Prices Remain in Fractional Range; Blaw Knox Shows Small Gain

Trading was dull and prices were practically unchanged in the early dealings on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today. Only a few scattered trades were recorded at the opening.

Blaw Knox displayed a little improvement on the strength of its report for 1931 showing earnings of 57 cents a share. This amply covers the present dividend rate of 50 cents annually.

Nervousness on the "big board" occasioned by the omission of the Southern Pacific dividend had little effect on the list here other than that it served to keep traders out of the market awaiting another definite swing in New York.

FINANCE CORP. AIDS BANKS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—(AP.)—Millions upon millions of dollars have been poured into the foundations of the American business structure during the past two weeks by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Working quietly day and night, the huge credit organization has devoted its first attention to small banks. These institutions, which might have been forced to close their doors had not credit been extended, have resumed their normal functions according to reports reaching the corporation. The total already distributed is reliably estimated at more than $100,000,000 exclusive of the $50,000,000 turned over to the Department of Agriculture.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—(AP.)—The Railroad Credit Corporation has arranged with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for extension of loans to roads applying for help to the former agency pending accrual of funds in its freight revenue pool, it was announced today.

1931 Loss Reported By Crucible Steel

A net loss of $2,016,517 for the year 1931 is disclosed in the annual report of the Crucible Steel Company of America. This is comparable to net income for 1930 of $4,045,000 or $4.17 a share on the common stock.

Weeping Has Stopped In Wall Street

By B. C. FORBES

YOU CAN NOW safely visit the financial center of the country, in New York, without having both shoulders drenched with tears. Abject fear has passed.

Mr. Forbes

Bankers, financiers and others, who were sure the whole country and the whole world were ready to plunge into the abyss, are taking heart. They now realize that perhaps the sun will again shine. Indeed, many have switched wholeheartedly from pessimism to optimism.

Wall street habitually rails against Washington, and it has been customary for Congress to be perpetually cursed by the capitalistic inhabitants of New York. These same gentlemen when they found themselves being swept helter-skelter toward disaster appealed to Congress—and Congress responded with a readiness beyond all expectation.

The old-time cry "Less government in business!" has been silenced; the clamorous demand has been for more government in business, meaning more assistance, more succor, more money from the government.

The almost perpendicular rise in stocks, the substantial recovery in leading farm products, the betterment in bonds, the legal provision made to meet all imaginable credit demands—all this has transformed sentiment in the highest circles. Confidence is expressed that the highly encouraging happenings of the last week will have an immediate and potent effect upon trade and industry.

THERE ARE A FEW panicky high-ups in the financial world. They indulged in wholesale short selling in 1930 and again in 1931. They made fortunes.

But they are fearful that Congress will publicly uncover their doings. I understand that revealing of the identity of huge-scale short sellers would create a nation-wide sensation. The bear raiders were not confined to professional stock market speculators.

A. P. GIANNINI, the Lochinvar who came out of the West and engaged in a mighty tilt with New York magnates, is on his way to California, to resume active direction of Transamerica, his Napoleonic financial structure which met something of a Waterloo.

Very few times in financial history have "outsiders" scored against "the interests" in Wall street. Giannini, a broad-shouldered, handsome giant, is a born fighter, not at all the conventional banking type.

STANLEY DOLLAR, who has become perhaps the most active shipping leader in America, home from a four-month business trip round the world, tells me that the Dollar liners thus far have encountered no trouble going in or out at Shanghai.

He finds the outlook in this country has improved and that hopefulness now prevails among men of affairs. He regards the co-operation extended by Congress as most helpful.

An influential movement is on foot to build up American shipping by having America's percentage of total world trade carried by American bottoms. Existing shipping pools usually divide business in the ratio of the number of foreign and the number of American lines supplying each route. Thus, if there were nine foreign lines and only one American line in a specific trade, the American owners would be allotted only 10 per cent of the business.

Now that our nation is striving with might and main to protect its commerce, surely it should be made possible for American shipping to carry the equivalent of America's percentage of the world's total imports and exports. At present American lines get the short end of the stick.

"American trade for American ships" surely is not an unreasonable objective, especially now that American shipping has had invaluable fresh life injected into it. It would mean much for the prosperity—and the protection—of this country if American shipping carried the equivalent of America's share of the world's international freight and passenger business.

Will Reopen Berlin Market March 1

BERLIN, Feb. 18.—Reopening of the Berlin Boerse on March 1 without official price-fixing is assured, but publication of quotations will remain forbidden, at least until the presidential election.

Board of Trade Starts 'School' On Trading

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—(AP)—The country's first school in the intricacies of grain marketing opens today in Chicago.

Its inauguration by the Chicago Board of Trade is attributed to non-existence of text books "in competent printed form" to which board employes, grain growers and traders can look for guidance.

The "school" will be in the form of lectures by men recognized as authorities in various phases of grain marketing.

Wall Street Believes Ford Activities Will Aid Business

Belief is growing in the New York financial district and among some industrialists that the Ford Motor Company resumption is likely to prove highly beneficial for business generally. In addition to giving employment to many thousands of workers, the renewal of activities of this important automobile maker will be reflected in the steel industry as well as in motor accessories. Advices regarding the placing of orders by Ford will be awaited with great interest. It is felt there will be considerable activity in the plants at first in connection with stocking the showrooms of the dealers.

Later on the public reception of the product will be the dominating factor in new business for those supplying the Ford Company. One result will be that competitors of Ford will be in a position to judge their future more accurately and formulate their plans for the coming months with a little more confidence than was possible when this important maker was out of production and kept the entire industry and the consuming public waiting.

Speculative buying has been coming into Paramount-Publix on reactions for the account of interests identified with the amusement industry. The company has paid off a good part of its obligation to repurchase its own stock, and most of the remainder of this commitment can be paid in installments, which will keep a satisfactory financial condition. Current earnings are said to be running at the rate of about $2.50 a share on the stock. Considerable importance is attached to the ownership by Paramount of Columbia Broadcasting, which is considered an "ace in the hole" because it will continue to contribute to future earnings in an important way.

The conservative element in the speculative fraternity was disposed to express complete satisfaction with the action of the market in the course of yesterday. In such quarters the early attempt to resume the drive against the short position proved the basis for no little concern. What this element would welcome at this time is a period of comparative quiet and narrow price movement, pointing out that such a phase would give the market a much needed opportunity to consolidate its position around prevailing levels. The spectacle of fresh gyrations in closely held stocks, that is in issues where the floating supply is small and well controlled, is discountenanced with the assertion that an overdoing of things on the constructive side now would seriously impair the market's position and lead to severe reaction with resultant fresh shaking of gradually mounting confidence.

Steel common yesterday encountered unyielding resistance at the same levels where the "steam-roller" tactics in that stock met with relentless opposition Tuesday, namely at the 50 level. It is understood that the group sponsoring the movement in Steel ran into unexpectedly heavy offerings when the stock reached the point Tuesday, estimates placing the volume of such offerings as somewhere around 35,000 shares. After taking a substantial amount of offerings at that point, those piloting Steel backed away presumably to try again yesterday morning. Mid-week trade summaries afforded little in the way of bullish ammunition, however, but in spite of this fact fresh effort was made to penetrate the high of the move. The push, however, was again checked at precisely the high point and this revelation presumably led to the rather liberal run of selling which forced the stock back several points in the afternoon.

Lima Locomotive is one of the low-priced stocks which is the subject of study in some quarters. The company has felt the effects of the low rate of buying by railroads, but the financial position is strong. During 1931, the management purchased 25,000 shares of the stock, leaving only 186,057 outstanding. There are no bonds or preferred stock. At the recent price of $13, the capital was selling for $2,418,741, against which the company held $2,096,733 in cash and $1,523,281 in marketable securities at the end of the year. Net working capital, with treasury stock value eliminated, was $6,775,276.

WHEAT SHOWS GAIN AT END

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—Apparently increasing likelihood that overseas import duties would be slashed in the near future did much to make grain values higher today.

Immediate new export business in wheat from North America, however, was estimated at not to exceed 400,000 bushels, mostly Canadian. An unconfirmed report said France had purchased a cargo of United States wheat.

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

BALDWIN LOCOMOTIVE has started 1932 with the hope that measures taken to relieve the railroads will make it possible for them to resume equipment buying soon. The organization's annual report for 1931 showed a net loss of $4,122,759 after providing for interest and depreciation. This compared with a net profit of $3,036,624 or $1.94 a share in 1930.

Interest in this year's business is increased by the fact that the organization will have a maturity of $12,000,000 of its 5½ per cent notes to meet on March 1, 1933. The maturity on the remaining funded debt, consisting of $10,000,000 of 5 per cent first mortgage bonds will be in 1940.

The past year was the first in which the company has not shown a profit before reserves since the present company was formed in 1911 to take over the business of the old Baldwin Locomotive Works and the Philadelphia Locomotive Works. Gross sales for the year were smaller than in any preceding year with the exception of 1914.

Locomotive Sales Drop Sharply During Year

SALES OF THE company's products other than locomotives tended to maintain the volume of business to some extent last year. Total sales dropped to $20,436,342 in 1931 from $49,872,455 in 1930. Locomotive sales dropped to the almost negligible figure of $6,197,035 as compared with $31,026,055 the year before.

The new year was started with about the same volume of unfilled orders on the books as at the beginning of 1931 with the exception that there was a larger proportion of locomotive orders.

Economies in the operations of several subsidiaries were put into force during the year. Small plants were consolidated with those of the parent organization at Eddystone, Pa., in several cases.

Interest in Stock Largely Speculative

THE COMPANY held the center of public interest at many times during the late bull market, but this interest was on the side of speculation rather than investment. The company has not fully earned its dividend requirements since 1926. Its earnings during this period were far from sensational, but the stock underwent some of the most spectacular market developments of any of the big board issues.

The possibility of selling the company's Philadelphia real estate holdings, comprising an abandoned plant site of 16½ acres at Broad and Spring Garden streets, was made the basis for many of these market moves. But this sale was never completed and the present state of the real estate market makes such action rather remote.

Baldwin was compelled to omit semi-annual common dividends last summer. The dividend on the 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock due last January was also omitted.

The balance sheet of December 31, 1931, showed a strong current financial position, but not enough cash and readily liquid resources to pay off the maturity of $12,000,000 coming next year without recourse to new financing.

COTTON PRICES SOAR 9 TO 11

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Cotton opened steady today, 3 points up to 1 point off, with near months relatively setady on further covering and trade buying while later deliveries were easy on some southern selling. May sold at 6.98.

Trading was rather less active than yesterday, but there was a fair volume of business, with orders about evenly divided.

There was a sufficient trade demand from both foreign and domestic sources to give the market a generally steady undertone.

At the end of the first half hour, May was selling around 6.98 and October 7.38, with the general market 1 to 4 point net higher.

Buying was stimulated later in the morning by the development of a decidedly firmer tone in the late Liverpool market and the improvement in the stock market.

It sent the price of May contracts up to 7.06, making new high ground for the movement on that position, while October sold at 7.47 or even with yesterday's best figure. At these quotations the market showed net advances of 9 to 11 points, and while the demand tapered off somewhat after the close of the English market prices held steady within a point or two of the best at midday.

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 18.—Cotton—spot good business done, prices five points higher; quotations in pence: American strict good middling 6.42; good middling 6.02; strict middling 5.92; middling 5.87; strict low middling 5.77; low middling 5.67; strict good ordinary 5.47; good ordinary 5.17. Receipts 10,300 bales, all American. Futures closed firm: March 5.61; May 5.59; July 5.59; October 5.62; Dec. 5.67; January 5.69.

Exchange to Remain Open on Saturday

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—(INS.)—The New York Stock Exchange will be open for business on Saturday. The board of governors denied the petition of a number of the members to close the board on Saturday, February 20, preceding Washington's Birthday. Only about 200 names were signed.

The stock exchange, the commodity exchanges, the banks and clearing houses will be closed next Monday in observance of Washington's Birthday.

Car & Foundry Unit Outlines Program

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—As a preliminary step to the inauguration of a more aggressive sales policy, the American Car and Foundry Motors Company, subsidiary of the American Car and Foundry Company, has effected a reorganization of its executive branches. William H. Woodin, president of the parent company, has assumed the duties of president of the automotive subsidiary, succeeding C. S. Sale.

EMBERS OF LOVE -:- Story of a Pretty Girl in Whom Burned The Flame of a Great Emotion -:- By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

Ken and Lily Lou Drive Far Away to Obtain Their Marriage License

Synopsis

Lily Lou Lansing, pretty young telephone operator, lives with her married sister in moderate circumstances. She is torn between desire for an operatic career and love for the wealthy Ken Sargent, but, following a party at Ken's home, she realizes they are unsuited socially and decides to give him up. Ken overrules her objections and she accepts his proposal of marriage.

Now Go On

CHAPTER XIII

Ken came for her before 10:30.

"What did you tell your father?"

"But, Ken——"

"Now listen, Lily Lou. We want to avoid family arguments. We'll get married first. Then we'll send them a telegram and they can wire back, 'God bless you my children,—'"

"Well—"

"How would you like to drive over to some other county to be married? If they get my name here in Oakland—well, it will be in all the papers and by Monday we'll be surrounded by reporters and what not—"

"Where could we go?"

"How about Lake County? Would you like that?"

"Today?"

"Why not?"

Looking back at it afterward it seemed the happiest day of her life. Not even her wedding day was happier. The top of the car was down. They drove bareheaded, letting the wind whip through their hair, turning to each other, to laugh just out of sheer joy.

"We ought to make time," Ken said, but he stopped at every orange juice stand, every little sandwich place along the way. They drank the frosty orange juice, nibbled on hot juicy sandwiches. They stopped in fields of wild flowers, to gather great bunches of pale yellow and orchid tinted mariposa lilies . . . exotic, lovely things swaying on their slender stems like butterflies . . .

"But they'll die unless we have some water to put them in!"

HAPPY TOGETHER

Ken wouldn't go down to the river bed without her. He said he wouldn't trust her out of his sight until they had the license. She might change her mind. So they ran down the hill together, Lily Lou slipping and sliding, screaming with helpless laughter.

They soaked the newspapers they had brought in the shallow water, wrapped the lilies carefully. They sat on a boulder in the shade of a stunted oak tree and watched two great gold and green dragonflies whizzing over the water.

They ought to hurry . . . But it was too perfect . . . Lily Lou looked up at the cloudless azure sky, back to the sprawling California hills, already faintly golden under the summer sun. Her eyes met Ken's . . . "Let's not get married. Let's stay here forever," she smiled.

"Wonderful idea!"

But presently he was afraid the license bureau would close before they could get there. He kept looking at his watch, fussing about it. Lily Lou wanted to laugh and cry all at once . . . dear, darling Ken, afraid they'd lose a day . . .

GETS LICENSE

Lily Lou was a little nervous but Ken wasn't. They gave their names and ages, said they hadn't been married before.

"So you're a year older than I am," she said when they came out.

"To tell you the truth, not quite."

"You said 21."

"Sure, a fellow has to be 21 and I will be in two months."

"Oh—"

"Heavens, no!"

They drove over to the lake to look at it. "Let's go over to our cottage and get a boat and some bathing suits," Ken suggested.

"And let's get some things, and cook."

They had a gorgeous time. They put on their bathing suits and chug-chugged in the motor boat, Ken operating the engine, Lily Lou dragging her heels over the side of the boat.

Then they tied it to a little broken-down wharf on an island all overgrown with willows and tall green rushes. The water was deep and clear there. They stood on the wharf and dived into the water, swimming lazily, treading water, climbing back on the boat to lie in the sun. Then back into the water . . .

Six! Lily Lou had thought it was about 4. Such a long trip ahead . . . still, what of it? They laughed, climbed back into the boat, steered for the Sargents' camp.

Lily Lou was dressed before Ken was, had a fire going, was busy frying potatoes, broiling steak when he appeared.

Ken made a salad, mixing the dressing expertly. Together they watched the coffee pot, improvised a strawberry shortcake out of a bakery cake from which Ken prodigally cut the icing, and Lily Lou piled on mashed strawberries and thick, whipped cream.

"Oh, damn the California gin law . . . why couldn't we have been married today and then we wouldn't have to go back—"

"So we could have all this fun over again on Monday! Coming up here again and all . . . Oh, Ken, aren't you happy? I am—"

But for a little moment she wasn't. Ken's passionate impatience frightened her a little . . . Maybe they shouldn't have come here . . . and mother and dad just across the lake, perfectly ignorant of what she was doing . . .

There was a flat tire on the mountain at Calistoga and Ken discovered there was no jack in the car.

He climbed back in, grinning.

"What are you going to do, Ken?"

"What do you suggest?"

They sat there on the mountain at 2 o'clock in the morning and rocked with crazy, happy laughter. "You see," he said, "not even a flat tire can dampen my ardor—"

"But if you don't fix the tire—"

"Will you stop worrying me?"

After a while a tow car came along. Ken hailed it . . . "In a hurry, mister?"

"No, just going home," the mechanic said.

While he changed the tire Ken watched him, hands deep in his pockets, coming over to grin at Lily Lou every few moments . . . . his triumphant grin . . .

"See? See what happens when you don't fuss? The Lord provides—even to tow cars. Are you going to leave everything to me after this?"

When they came home at 4 o'clock and May got up to read her a lecture, Lily Lou didn't even mind.

"And you know as well as I do that this sort of thing can't go on. You may say that you don't care what people think. But what if you lose your voice?"

Even that didn't sober her very much. Suppose she did lose her voice? . . . It might be best if she did . . .

She thought, lying awake long after May had left, that she'd be willing to lose her voice if it would mean keeping Ken's love forever. The singing . . . what was that, compared to love? Just nothing . . . She'd willingly give it all up . . . for Ken.

ALL IN A DAY By MARK HELLINGER

THE NEXT TIME anyone tells you a story about a thrifty person, tell him this one and sense his reaction. You know that actors, as a general rule, are often classed as spendthrifts, yet there are very few of them that do not save. The day since the word actor was synonymous with the word broke has long since passed.

The other night in one of the most successful musical comedies on Broadway, a wardrobe woman fell down a subway entrance and broke her leg. As soon as the girls heard about the accident they immediately started a fund for her. More than $150 was raised among the chorus kids. And they decided that the principals in the company should be asked to chip in.

One girl was asked to have the thankless job of soliciting money from the principals. Merely for the sake of giving her a name I'll call her Mary.

Mary did very well until she reached a dressing room in which two of the minor principles were harbored. Both were well known men on the American stage, and neither is drawing less than $500 a week in this particular show.

The girl explained her mission. One man refused abruptly. But the other actor tried to wriggle out with an explanation.

"I can't see why I should be called upon," he said. "I don't even know the woman."

"What difference does that make?" argued the girl. "She's a woman who is poor and is in a helpless condition. If you don't want to chip in, it's up to you."

Still reluctant, but slightly ashamed of the impression he was creating, the actor yanked out a dollar and handed it to Mary.

When Mary told several other members of the cast about the experience she had been through, they were furious. A number of men were for beating him up. Only prompt work on the part of the stage manager saved him from a walloping that night.

"I'm sure I know you," he said affably. "Weren't you in the 'Annie Dear' company five years ago?"

"That's right," said the woman, "how did you ever remember it?"

"O," returned the actor, "I remember it distinctly. That was the show when that chorus boy had lung trouble and I contributed a dollar to help send him to Saranac!" . . .

"LITTLE WILLIE," writes Billy O'Grady, "was feverishly writing. His fond parents watched their 10-year-old boy as he pushed his pencil across the paper. Pa suggested that Willie go to bed. But ma had other ideas.

"'Let him be,' she said. 'I love to see him writing. I just know that some day he will blossom forth into something noble. He will probably be a great writer—a noble leader whose pen will lighten many hearts and enlighten many minds. Won't you, Willie?'

"'No,' he chirped, 'I'm gonna be a columnist!'" . . .

BROADWAYITES are funny people. Anything for a laugh. A soul will be sold for a gag. Strange people, moving in speedy and hectic circles. But most of them possess, basically, the most sentimental of emotions. When they think you see these emotions, however, they quickly switch. For instance:

Sitting in one of the cabarets the other night, a young comedian turned to tell his troubles. He picked on me, I imagine, because I was the nearest one to him. Which is as good a reason as any.

"Mark," he cried, "my wife's the sweetest girl in the world. I love her. But I do the silliest things.

"Take the other night. I got a little bit stewy and brought a girl home. Home to my very own house! With my very own wife asleep just two rooms away. Of course the minute I got her into the place I sobered up and grew a little remorseful. So I sent the girl away.

"But can you imagine what the consequences would have been if my wife had awakened? Or if somebody had told her about it? I would never have forgiven myself. Because I love my wife. I love her with all my heart."

I nodded wisely. It never hurts to do that. He looked at me.

"So now I'm through, Mark. Absolutely finished with that sort of thing. My wife left for a vacation this morning up in the mountains and I'm home alone. But I've learned my lesson. So I want you to promise that if you ever see me with any other girl again, you'll slap my face right then and there. Will you do that for me, Mark? You'll be a real pal. A true pal."

He extended his hand. I searched his eyes. He seemed on the level. So I clasped the extended palm.

"Certainly," I murmured. "I'll be glad to."

"That's fine," he responded happily. "The promise starts tomorrow night. Do you know a good number I can call for tonight?"

"I STEPPED into a restaurant yesterday," writes Bill R——, "for a quick bite to eat. It was one of those chain places that advertise courtesy, speed and service. My meal came to just 75 cents. Just as I was about to down my coffee, I remembered that I had left my wallet in my office. What a feeling!

"I strode over to the desk and explained the situation to that kindly hearted soul with the courteous smile, who is known as the manager. He took care of me right away. He patted me gently on the back and smiled a kindly smile.

"'That's all right, young man,' he murmured. 'We trust our patrons in this eating establishment. We like them to feel at home. Just leave your watch and chain as security!'"

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS -:- -:- Junior Komic Club

Boy Scouts all over the city are making elaborate preparations for their part in the programs to be given Saturday at the Warner neighborhood theaters by the 17 chapters of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club.

A meeting of scouts was held at the Manor Theater Monday. About 50 boys, representing 10 troops attended. The big Drum and Bugle Corps, which has been assembled, will meet in front of the theater Saturday, march down the aisle in a body and take their places on the stage. The opening ceremony will be the Salute to the Flag, after which a program of patriotic exercises will be presented. Manager Blowitz, of the Manor, has offered a prize for the best original poem or essay on Washington, written and delivered at the meeting. Four girls from Vera Leibau's School of Dancing will do a military routine in costume.

HARRIS CHAPTER

The chapter that has been meeting recently at the Davis Theater will move to the Harris Theater, Diamond street, Saturday. Members of this chapter come from the Hill district, West End, South Side, Mt. Washington and Duquesne Heights. It is one of the largest and most active chapters in the club. Manager Pearce will be on hand to welcome his little friends and Saturday's meeting will be in the nature of a "home coming."

The words for the special program of songs that will be sung at all the meetings Saturday will be published in this column tomorrow. Members are requested to cut them out and take them with them to the meetings so that they may be familiar with the words. The airs are well known. Watch tomorrow's Sun-Telegraph.

Members of Grand (Greensburg) Chapter were entertained at their meeting Saturday by Dom Welty, chairman of the Greensburg Sportsman Association. Mr. Welty took as his subject "Sportsmanship." Prizes were awarded to Betty Brown, Vivian Peters, Thelma Weise, Fred Kent, Bennett Gland, Harold Miller, Jack Weise, Thomas Moxley, William Detest and Anthony Patest.

The program at the Memorial (McKeesport) Chapter Saturday was in charge of Mr. Waldo Robb, chief scout executive of McKeesport. His boys gave exhibitions of Indian dances and sang Scout songs. Among the numbers were "Fire Dance," "Medicine Man Dance," dialogue "The King With a Terrible Temper," and two songs, "When It's Camping Time in Alliquippa" and "Old MacDonald Had a Farm."

To Your Friends in Other Cities

A Troublesome Delay

The discussion in City Council of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's delay in the construction of its new Pittsburgh terminal evoked the statement that the Public Service Commission was partly to blame because of its failure to rule on the protest of public utilities companies against having to relocate their lines.

The last hearing on the question was held "six or seven months ago," Assistant City Solicitor Charles P. Lang told Council, and there has been no indication as to when the decision may be expected.

To the layman it would seem that six months was ample time for the Public Service Commission to study the case and hand down a ruling. The case might well be given precedence in view of the number of persons who are inconvenienced by the holding up of this improvement so urgently needed by a great city and a great railroad.

Soost Sets an Example

Councilman William J. Soost has resigned as Republican chairman of the Eleventh Ward on the ground that he needs all his time for his work in Council.

He is to be congratulated on his appreciation of the importance of his municipal duties. We commend the good example that he sets to other ward chairmen on the city and county payrolls.

The job of Republican ward chairman is a big one and requires a great deal of time. An efficient chairman is on the job throughout the year, keeping his organization in good working order, doing little favors for his henchmen, staying in touch with the voters. In a busy season he cannot do justice to any other full-time position.

The spoils system has brought many evils into the city administration. The appointment of ward chairmen to municipal positions is not the least of the evils.

Gasoline Bootleggers

The Prison Sentence Imposed for Tax Evasion Should Have a Salutary Influence.

One of the principal arguments against the increase in the gasoline tax proposed by Gov. Pinchot as an unemployment relief measure was that it would put a premium on gasoline bootlegging and so prove ineffective. The argument impressed the legislators and was one of the things that contributed to the defeat of the measure.

There is a reminder of this in the case of certain gasoline bootleggers who were up before Judge Elder W. Marshall in Criminal Court for sentence yesterday. One of them was committed to the workhouse for three months.

The prison sentence should have a healthy influence in putting a stop to some at least of the wholesale evasion of gasoline taxes from which the Commonwealth has been suffering.

Pennsylvania, it is estimated, has been defrauded of many hundreds of thousands of dollars by the gasoline bootleggers. Their withholding of the money due the state makes the burden of the other citizens just so much the heavier.

Birds on Women's Hats

Leo A. Luttringer, Jr., an ornithologist connected with the State Game Commission, noticed plumage on his stenographer's hat. He reports that it came from a song sparrow, and that on examining the hats in Harrisburg milliners' shops he found song sparrows, white-throated sparrows and fox sparrows used as ornaments.

It is unlawful to kill or be in possession of these or any other song birds in Pennsylvania.

The use of the feathers, wings and heads of birds for decorative purposes is an undesirable fashion, and it is a pity that it is coming back.

A Cosmopolitan City

Every Pittsburgher is aware that many nationalities are represented among the inhabitants of the city, but the fact was presented anew in a rather striking manner by a picture printed in the Sun-Telegraph yesterday—a photograph of 10 of the foreign consuls stationed here gathered together at dinner.

There were in the group official representatives of the governments of Poland, Italy, Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia, Germany, Hungary, Mexico, Belgium and Spain.

There are substantial colonies of all these nations in the Pittsburgh district, and of a number of others besides. A few years ago there was, and still may be, a Mohammedan mosque in the Hill district: for the newcomers bring their habits and customs with them, and so help to make the city more interesting and picturesque.

The Little Red School

Pleasant memories cling to "the little red schoolhouse" of one room. But it is sadly inefficient in comparison with the large consolidated rural school of many rooms and specialized teaching; so no tears need be shed over its passing.

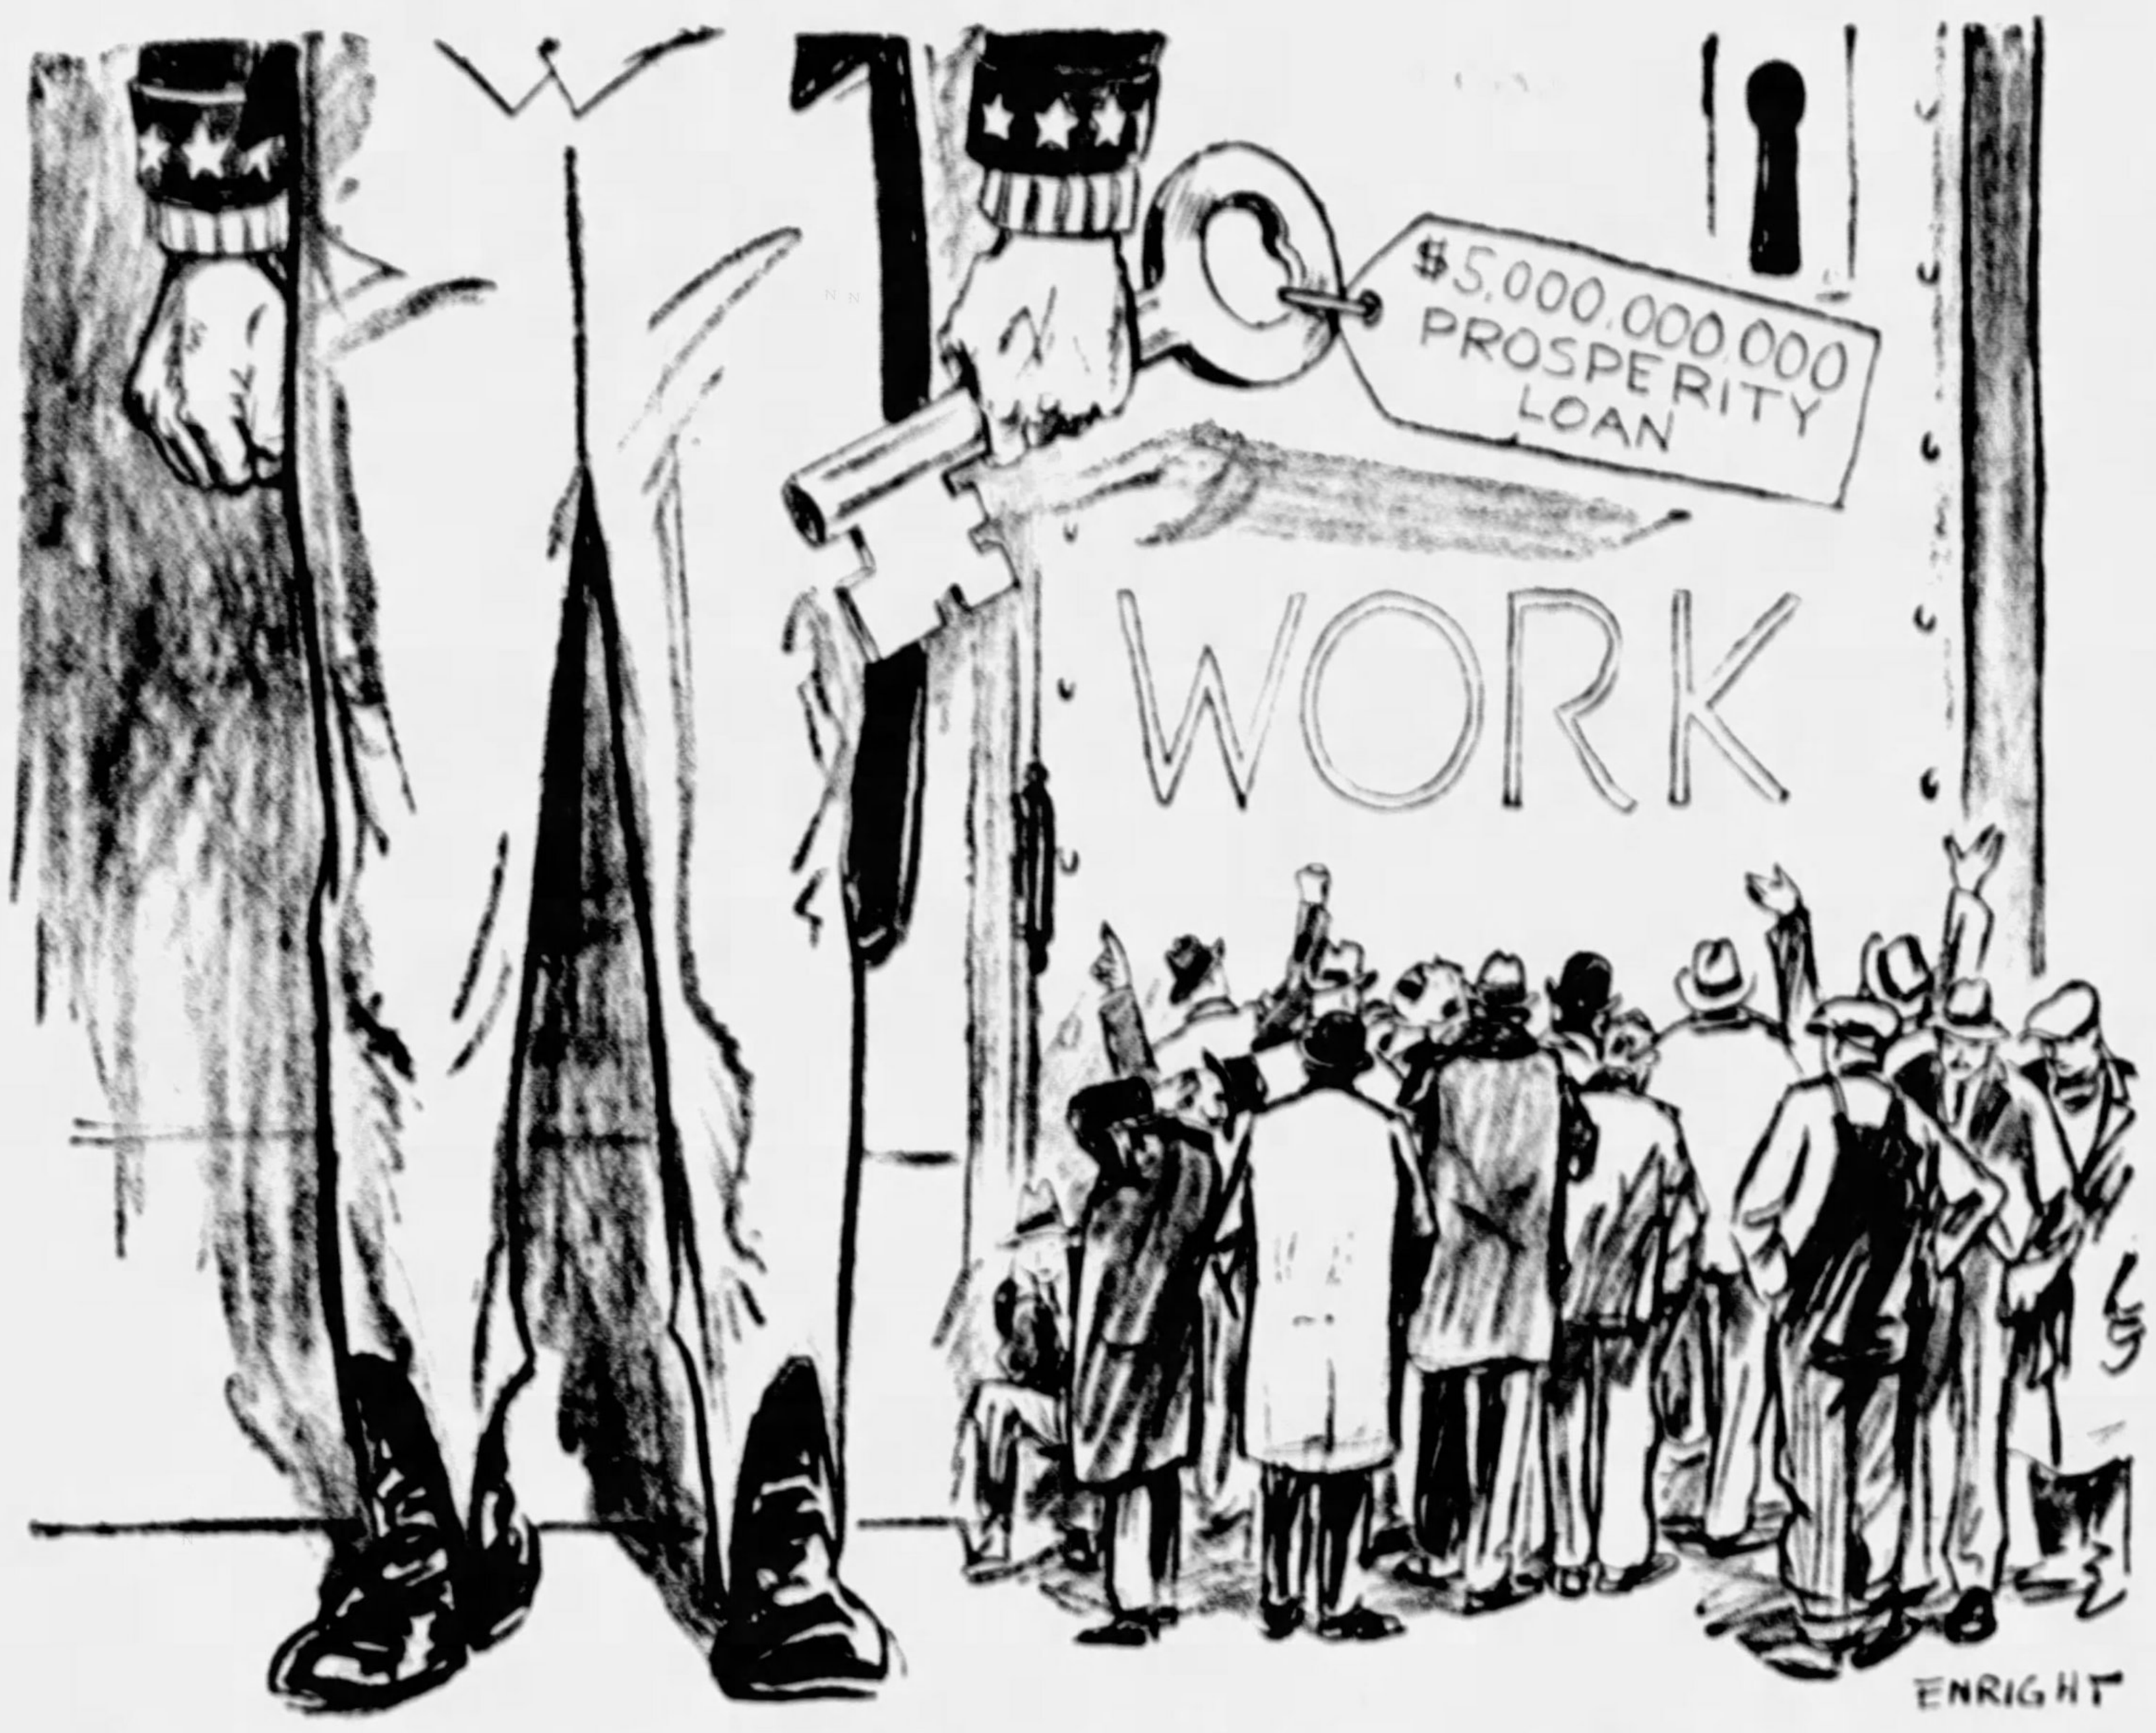
James N. Rule, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, reports that 22 one-room schools were discontinued in Allegheny County during the past year. The children, transferred to larger schools, will have a better opportunity to obtain an education comparable with that to be had in the city schools.

There still remain, however, 66 one-room schools in Allegheny County, 164 in Butler County, 180 in Armstrong County, 120 in Beaver County, 136 in Washington County, 147 in Westmoreland County, and a total of 6,815 in the state.

Speed the day when they will all give way to larger and better schools.

Why Not Unlock the Door?

(Copyright, 1932.)



More than eight million unemployed, suffering, through no fault of their own in a Land of Plenty, daily cry to the Head Servants at Washington for WORK and they are handed WORDS.

After three years of futile waiting for Washington to act, the jobless feel keenly the pinch of poverty, but their pleas, NOT FOR A DOLE, NOT FOR CHARITY, BUT FOR THE RIGHT TO WORK, procure for them only sonorous phrases, and no matter how sonorous, phrases do not appease the pangs of hunger.

A $5,000,000,000 Prosperity Loan to finance a gigantic scheme of essential public works is the key that would unlock the barrier now standing between WILLING WORKERS and WORK. Create jobs for the jobless and the buying power of the masses would be increased, business would steadily improve, all classes would benefit and the cycle would start upward.

Why cannot this Administration for once be American minded and for America?

Lovers—And Others

There is always one romance in a man's life, which he is glad that he did not wreck by marrying the woman.

* * *

There are four times in a man's life when it is useless to offer him philosophy. When he is hungry, when he is broke, when he needs a drink, and when he is in love with a woman that he can't get.

Daring and originality are of no use to a man in these days; some woman always catches him with a breach-of-promise suit, just as he is starting out to make Solomon or Don Juan look like a piker.

* * *

An intelligent woman always admires a brave, strong man who commands her respect—and then, nine times out of ten, goes and marries some charming weakling who demands her sympathy.

* * *

Many a man would be irresistible if he were as fascinating as he thinks the women think he is.

* * *

There are lots of statues and pictures in the art galleries that a woman admires but wouldn't care to have around the house; yet it is impossible for a man to believe that a woman who finds him interesting would not marry him with a glad, sweet cry if he gave her the chance.

Among the newest types of husbands is the one who thinks that his wife should be able to afford smarter clothes and a better car on the salary she makes.

You might fancy from the way in which most people choose their lifemates, and then complain of their bargain, that they had been bluffed or bullied into taking them by a bond-salesman.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Of Joys Most Sweet

How futile life would be
Had it not brought to me
Your hand, your smile;
Had it not given me this
One taste of perfect bliss
A little while.

Joy's self is ever fleet
And this, of joys most sweet
Can not remain.
Like rose that blooms to die,
Like dawning in the sky,
We see it wane.

Yet this rare gift alone
Will for all griefs atone
That years may bring.
Nor can life futile be
Since it has brought to me
This perfect thing!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—George M. Cohan is becoming a less familiar figure in the passing Rialto parade. When I came to town he was seen daily among luncheon crowds in the Astor's Hunting Room or leaning on his bamboo cane in animated discussion on a Times Square corner.

Today he is seen more often strolling the pebbled path circling the Central Park reservoir and within easy distance of the Savoy Plaza where he lives. While a member of both the Lambs and Friars, his sentimental attachment seems more pronounced for the Friars.

Perhaps because he is the Friars' Abbot. Too, there may be twinges in the old wound inflicted when he broke with the Lambs during the actors' strike. Yet wherever Cohan may wander, he suggests the corona of the stage's eclipse, symbolizing the fire and folly of the theater's Golden Age.

Two of his closest companions—pals to Cohan—are Broadwayites. One is Steve Reardon, former policeman, big, bluff, booming. On these increasingly rare occasions when Cohan decides to see the town by gaslight, his escort is the jovial and faithful Reardon.

His other pal is Hap Ward, of the old burlesque duo of Ward and Vokes. Reardon and Ward, along with the late bright-vested Eddie Dunn, Cohan's business manager, are said to be the only persons who had his entire confidence. Cohan, socially, has always been much of a lone wolf.

He once said: "I'm Mick enough to cling to a few superstitions." One of these is to wear a faded, old green silk dressing gown on every opening night. Likely the most intimate of professional cronies is William Collier, now transplanted to Hollywood, although they usually indulge a seesaw of sarcasm.

Cohan's open-pursed generosity to old-timers in discard is a fruity legend of dressing rooms. His "private payroll" is reputedly the biggest along the Rialto. Yet he pooh-poohs it. "I'm a hard boiled mug," he clips out of the side of his mouth. But Broadway winks!

Only 86 horse-drawn public rigs remain in the headlong cascade of midtown vehicular traffic. Greying coachers with glazed cockaded hats are seen so seldom that to hire them for a spin in the park takes on the frothiness of a lark. About a dozen old-fashioned families cling to the "growlers" for afternoon rides.

In today's mail came a yellowed copy of an ad., reminiscent of carriage factories of Brewster and Flandeau heralding: "Elegant Carriages of the Best Class—Suspension Victorias, Cabriolets, Coupes, T. Carts, Mail Phaetons, Stanhopes, Two Wheelers, Landaulets, Rockaway, Surreys, Dos-a-Dos, Buckboards, Vis-a-Vis, Spiders, Depot Wagons and Broughams."

A strip of the Harlem bad lands is known as "Blood Fields." Here on festive occasions the razor flourishes. The bon ton section remains that elevated residential section of Edgecombe avenue called "Sugar Hill." I always thought the most picturesquely named Negro section—in Cincinnati, I believe—was "Banjo Flats."

Lou Holz tells of the Scot who carelessly crashed into a car driven by a Hebrew. The latter was hurled to the road, moaning, with both legs broken, a bleeding head and a wrecked car. The Scotsman rushed to him, pulled out a flask and made him take a long swig, then another and told him to remain quiet while he went for a doctor. Just then a policeman came up. He asked the trouble and who was responsible. "I got nothing to say," said the Scotsman, and pointing to the Hebrew continued: "All I ask is for you to smell his breath."

Out of a thick morning fog on Fifth avenue a blurry limousine in front of Cartier's developed a melting scene that creamed apart like successive scrims in a stage transformation. What first appeared to be the outline of a man stepped from the car. But crossing the sidewalk into the glare of store lights proved to be an actress—Fifi D'Orsay, if eyes did not trick me—in a dark red moire suit cut like a man's tuxedo and sporting a white moire vest and a jade tipped swagger stick.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

This pitiful suffering all around us—not only now, but all the time!

People out of work for months. Children going on half rations. Homes breaking up. Other cruelties and injustices.

Thousands of people drudging through life without ever having a break! Youngsters working in factories and mills! Men being burned to death in electric chairs—hung by the neck—lynched!

Things like that, going on ever since we were born, make us sick when we stop to think of them—make us furious!

Millions of decent American citizens, like you and me getting sick and furious over these terrible conditions, talking, waving our arms, saying something ought to be done—

We could get together. We could hold mass meetings. Decide on a course of action. Contribute money. Cast votes. Get busy and clean up the whole mess.

Something could be done. It would take time, and a lot of energy; but it could be done. And then this earth in which we live, and in which our children are to live after us, would be a decent place—a fair and friendly place—a place we could be proud of.

Then why isn't that something done? Why don't we get busy and do it?

Are we bad? Are we cruel? Do we like to see people suffer?

No, we aren't—and we don't. We're not really wicked, but—we just don't get around to attending to things like that.

Sympathetic? Sure. Hate to see misery, and when it comes right under our nose—then we get excited.

We're so busy with our own affairs. And we're so comfortable.

Of course, we haven't everything we'd like to have; but we're warm; we're fed. Our worst bills are paid, and if little Benny falls sick we can afford to call a doctor.

So, although we're just as warm-hearted as anyone, we somehow can't realize that people are starving—actually starving—or huddled homeless out in the rain, or dying for lack of a warm room and simple nursing.

Yes, we hear about those things; but they don't seem real. They're like something happening in Persia, or Bolivia, or some make-believe, story-book place like that.

And so, we forget.

We'd certainly feel mighty indignant if anyone called us MURDERERS. Yes, we certainly would. And yet—

Does the man dying in the gutter or in the electric chair get our fine distinctions?

Does it help him to know that we are really perfectly lovely people who honestly didn't mean to let him die?

He's dead just the same, isn't he?

AND WHO'S TO BLAME?

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

You are surprised by the ignorance, so far as general knowledge is concerned, of men who are prominent and leaders in their lines.

You boast that you have considerable knowledge of many things.

But what have you that permits you to stand out?

Most of your life you have scattered your efforts—your thought. You have not scratched the surface of any of the subjects studied.

Thus you are far from being an expert and also far from the remuneration and success that an expert enjoys.

The young fellow starting out in life should first decide what he wants to and then aim at the target with a single purpose desire.

Also he must have the grit and courage to face many and bitter disappointments in his struggle for supremacy in his particular line.

To be a great success you will have to center your efforts.

CARDOZO: WHEN IS SOCIALISM?

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

The best thing President Hoover has yet done, and the greatest public service he has yet rendered, is his appointment of Chief Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo to the Supreme Court of the United States to succeed Justice Holmes. There never has been the slightest doubt as to who should be appointed.

The position calls for the very highest type of legal attainments and judicial genius and the American Bar unanimously agrees that no one meets these requirements to a greater degree, if, indeed, there is anyone who measures up so perfectly. His decisions, while handed down from a State tribunal, are read regularly by lawyers everywhere—not only in America but in England. He has the rare gift of so phrasing his opinions that they take on the character of literature.

But there was a more vital point involved in the choice of a successor to such a man as Justice Holmes—and that was his attitude as a liberal toward our social and industrial civilization. Purposely or not, the great majority of the justices of the Supreme Court are very conservative, and some would say reactionary. There have been two exceptions in recent years—Holmes and Brandeis. To have appointed a reactionary to succeed Holmes would have called forth the condemnation of millions.

* * *

President Hoover Deserves Hearty Commendation

Justice Cardozo is a Democrat, but, as we have said in these columns, the politics in the appointment is of minor consideration. Better a million times a liberal Republican than a reactionary Democrat. He is a Hebrew—and thus we have two of that race on the Supreme bench and both liberals. Incidentally he is a New York Democrat—and the idea that New York Democrats are all reactionary is notoriously stupid. The fact that the public owed his elevation to the bench he had adorned to Tammany Hall is not surprising to anyone familiar with the great judges of the higher courts this organization has given to the public service.

President Hoover deserves the hearty commendation of the public for his wisdom in the appointment of Benjamin N. Cardozo. It is the first liberal act of his Presidency.

What Does It All Mean!

Whenever any proposal is made for some sort of readjustment of the social and industrial system in the interest of a more equitable distribution of joint fruits of capital and labor, someone smugly says that really we must keep on in the "American way." Whenever someone speaks of some form of employment insurance through the action of Government we hear that it is "not the American way for Government to inject itself into business."

From the politicians of the type that monopolized the memory of Lincoln the other day, we heard tributes to the President "because in the midst of the crisis he has held fast to the American ideals of individual responsibility and has refused to compromise with socialistic cant."

But what does it all mean?

Does it really mean that the Administration has not broken with traditional American methods?

That it has not put Government in business?

That it is not using the money of the Treasury for the benefit of individuals?

That, of course, is absurd, for it is doing that very thing. The measures for the benefit of banks, corporations, railroads have broken all precedent, detoured around the "American way," and made straight for a kind of socialism. Socialism, State capitalism—whatever the term, that is what we are getting—because there is a "depression."

* * *

Senator Borah Stated a Fact

The other day Senator Borah, referring to the Reconstruction Corporation Act, said the Administration had gone "socialistic or Soviet" to help the banks, railroads, corporations. He did not complain; he stated a fact.

And no one—not even Senator Reed—replied; because there was no reply.

"There never was such an act passed in the history of any nation on the face of the earth in peace time. I challenge contradiction of that statement."

And no one accepted the challenge; it was true.

"Direct action you have taken in your Reconstruction Corporation in behalf of your banks and your railroads," said Johnson. "I quarrel not with it."

"It should be clearly understood that both the program outlined and the frankly inflationary measures that may be later adopted are socialistic."

"Socialism you have embraced in what you have done. I am not frightened of it in the necessity that exists, but since you have made your adventure into socialism in behalf of banks and railroads, let us take a step just over the line in behalf of men and women and children who need governmental aid."

And no one in the Senate explained why it is wise in behalf of the powerful and vicious in behalf of human beings in need of jobs and bread.

As Clear As Mud

For the first time in our history government now goes into the Treasury, into which all pay, and goes to the rescue of private business to the tune of billions.

Never again shall we hear that "government must keep out of business;" or "government must let business alone." Because if government lets business alone some dreadful things may happen to business, and none of us want that.

Eighteen months ago we all understood that artificial inflation had wrought our ruin, and that the administration has helped; and businessmen were saying that deflation would be the thing. We had had too much of it. But perhaps we can have too much artificial inflation again.

But the deflationists, wanting inflation for the benefit of some, still stoutly insist that the deflation of the wages of the multitude must go on, and it is going on.

Just now we are only applying the "American plan" to the 8,000,000 out of jobs and the unknown millions of women and children undernourished, hungry and contracting tuberculosis and rickets—according to the administration's Department of Labor.

From all of which we gather that the determination of the "socialism" of a relief measure rests on who gets the relief. If it's the bank, the railroads and corporation, it is scientific statesmanship; if it's the jobless, the starving and the poor, it's "socialism."
